PUBLIC'S HELP NEEDED IN FINDING WANTED OREGON CITY MAN REWARD OFFERED

Clackamas County Sheriff's Office is offering a $1000 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of an Oregon City man who led deputies on a chase this afternoon, Oct 20th, in three stolen cars south of Oregon City. At about 2:00 p.m., NATHAN ALLEN OLNEY 20, was driving a stolen 1994 white Honda and fled on foot after he eluded a deputy in the area of S. Schubel School Road and S. Beaver Creek Road, Beaver Creek. After tracking Mr. Olney on foot for two hours, deputies discovered that he had stolen a red 1986 Ford F250 pickup at 18047 S. Red Fir Road, Beaver Creek.

At 4:17 p.m., deputies located the stolen Ford pickup abandoned in a field near S. Spangler Road and S. Beaver Creek Road, Beaver Creek. A nearby neighbor then reported his black 1984 GMC Jimmy stolen. It was later found abandoned in the 24000 block of S. Eldorado Road, Mulino.

NATHAN ALLEN OLNEY currently has Clackamas County warrants out for his arrest for Unlawful Use of a Motor Vehicle (Felony) and Contempt of Court (Misdemeanor.) Charges from today's incidents will be pending.

We are encouraging anyone with information on Mr. Olney to call the Sheriff's Office at 503-655-8218.

MESSAGE FROM THE PRINCIPAL:

Clarkes School Open House was another great success. We had approximately 160 families attend. The dinner was enjoyable and our teachers did a great job dishing it up. Thank you, teachers! It was nice to have an opportunity to visit with so many members of our community. I also want to thank the many people who signed up to volunteer to help out our PTA, to help plant our Vinca plants. We had a volunteer come forward to host the Japanese teacher who will join our staff for several weeks this fall. I am overwhelmed at the generosity of this community to help with these very worthwhile projects.

MOLALLA RIVER MIDDLE STUDENTS... are still collecting donations for the New York Fire Department to be used for supplies, aid, etc. For the Heroes of New York. Thank You

Beaver Creek Cooperative Telephone Company History

In last months issue I presented Part I of the Beaver Creek Cooperative Telephone Company History. Here then is part II. (The original transcript done by O.F. Dickson) The Editor

In June of 1934, "Beaver Creek Mutual Telephone Association" filed its Articles of Incorporation. From that date forward the company has been referred to as "Beaver Creek Cooperative Telephone Company."

A decision was made in 1939, at a special meeting of the membership, to establish a 5 cent toll on calls to and from Oregon City. Each company would retain the monies.

1940 saw the end of the old division (line routes) system of line maintenance. Maintenance costs were now assessed on a member basis.

In 1950, Arlene Graham became manager just in time to have to cope with the telephone plant that was seriously damaged in 1949 and 1950 due to numerous storms. In 1951, the Rural Electrification Association (REA) was contacted regarding a loan to repair and rebuild the damaged telephone lines. This was the company's first loan with REA.

In 1953, after much discussion concerning additional toll trunks to Oregon City, a vote of the members was taken and carried 43 to 22 to sell the toll lines to Portland Telephone & Telegraph (PT&T), a Bell operated company. The sale was completed in November for $2,000.00.

March 12, 1956, Beaver Creek Cooperative Telephone Company joined the Oregon Independent Telephone Association.

Pregnancy Prevention Group Looking for Teen Leaders and Volunteers

As schoolrooms across the County fill with children again, Oregon's abstinence-only, pregnancy-prevention education program, STARS, kicks off its sixth year by reaching out to several local districts for teen leaders and volunteers.

"Students Today Aren't Ready for Sex" (STARS) is the nation's most widely implemented, abstinence-only curriculum. Oregon's teen pregnancy rate has dropped from 19.2% in 1995, when the program started, to 13.9% in 2000. In Clackamas County, STARS is funded by Providence Health Systems, and operates today in Oregon City, Estacada, Colton and North Clackamas School Districts.

STARS uses a peer-led model, with volunteer facilitators assisting teen leaders, to present an abstinence-only curriculum to 6th graders. The program tears down myths about pregnancy, presenting clear information about the consequences of sexual involvement and teaching students refusal skills that empower them to resist peer pressure and make positive decisions. The program is currently accepting applications for both teen leaders and volunteer classroom facilitators for the following schools in our area:

Beavercreek Elementary, Colton High School, Colton Middle School, Oregon City High School and Redland Elementary.

Teen leaders and facilitators all receive STARS training before working in classrooms. Teen leaders need to be in 10th, 11th or 12th grade, show strong academic achievement, maintain the belief that it is best for 6th graders to abstain from sex and demonstrate an interest in working with youth.

Classroom facilitators support and coach the teen leaders in their preparation and delivery of the curriculum, and need to be high school graduates with a strong interest in helping youth. For more information on the STARS program and for applications call Clackamas County STARS at 503-534-5500. For more information call Victoria Clevenger at 503-534-5488. From Donna Lugibihl, Milwaukie Center, 503-653-8100.

Beavercreek Charitable Trust

Well, I finally found the time to attend a Board meeting for the Beavercreek Charitable Trust.

There are all sorts of things that will be happening in the next few months, including a way for the residents of our community to get involved and be a part of making YOUR Community Park a reality.

What the park really needs right now are people in the community who are willing to pitch in on projects in order to get the ball rolling.

Now that it is burning season the Beavercreek Charitable Trust needs us to volunteer to help with some of the projects that have had to wait for cooler, wetter weather. One of the first things that needs to be done is the burning of the debris from earlier clearing projects.

The Beavercreek Charitable Trust will be adding more options to their voice mail system so that it will be a clearing house for information on what type of volunteers are needed and when they are needed.

If you are interested in helping with the burning or any other volunteer work you can call the Beavercreek Charitable Trust at 503-632-0228, to get the latest information which will be updated as volunteers are needed.

The Beavercreek Charitable Trust would also like to hear from individuals in the community who have experience in working with heavy equipment that could be put to use in the grading and construction of the various sections of the park. This would be on a volunteer basis as the Beavercreek Charitable Trust is a non-profit organization and has a limited budget.

If you live in the area and are an experienced heavy equipment operator who has his or her own equipment or could operate equipment if it were available, they would sure like to talk to you! Please call 503-632-0228 and leave a message for Bruce, Duff or Tom and let them know how you can help.

If you can't help with your time or expertise, perhaps you might make a tax deductible contribution to the effort.

Fall Enrollment Jumps
Nearly 8 Percent

OREGON CITY - Early fall enrollment figures at Clackamas Community College indicate a 7.4 percent increase in full-time equivalent (FTE) students over the same period in 2000.

Within the second week of the term, FTE students at the college totaled 1,799. FTE represents the combination of full and part-time students added to make one full-time student. A total of 7,166 students are attending CCC this fall. In addition, more than 5,000 non-credit students are expected to take fall classes.

"During the last legislative session, additional resources were provided for the state's community colleges to meet growing needs," said Clackamas Community College President Dr. Earl P. "Joe"

Certain programs at the college are at peak capacity, including the manufacturing department where all classes are full. "As the unemployment rate goes up so does our activity," said Scott Giltz, Chairman of the manufacturing department. Traditionally, enrollment at community colleges increases in times of economic downturn.

Milwaukie's Harmony Campus extension has also seen an increase in student activity. Enrollment at the CCC campus located off Sunnyside Road is up nearly 10 percent from a year ago. More classes have been added at the campus, and existing classes are growing to capacity.

"Our instructors are getting a good reputation, and our location is convenient for working students," said Debbie Baker-Antcliffe, director of Community Education.

Thank you to those attending the meeting on October 9th. We had a good turnout.

Thank you to all those who participated in the "Gold C" and the Innesbrook fund-raisers. To date we have received $3,450.00 from the "Gold C" books. We will have exact totals for you next month... or better yet, come and find out the totals at the next meeting, November 11th at 7:00 p.m. in the library

There has been quite a discussion surrounding the issue of direct dollar contributions vs. fund-raising for the PTO budget. In determining the cost per student, we first removed the costs of the fund-raisers and concluded that the PTO spends approximately $26,395 for the programs and activities, this breaks down to a cost of approximately $55.00 per student. The $55.00 is the cost per student to continue the same level of support we are currently providing without doing any fund-
