Deadlines Approaching For Property Tax Deferral Application - Recertification

Important filing deadlines are approaching for the State's Property Tax Deferral for Senior and Disabled Citizens program.

Program participants need to recertify their eligibility every two years. Forms were sent in February to those who need to recertify this year, and those forms need to be returned to the department by April 11th, said Jason Brockie, program manager.

"Participants need to recertify by the deadline or the State won't pay their property taxes in November," Brockie said. If they miss the deadline, their account will be placed in inactive status and they'll have to reapply to the program before future property taxes can be deferred, he said.

Those who want to apply for deferral for the first time have until April 15 to file their paperwork with their County Assessor's office. Program participants must meet all of the following criteria:

Be either:

- At least 62 years old, or
- A disabled citizen receiving or eligible to receive Federal Social Security disability benefits.
- Own or be in the process of buying the property.
- Have a recorded deed or sales contract in their name, or have a revocable trust.
- Have lived on the property for at least five years.
- Carry homeowners insurance.
- Have a household income of less than $43,000. This includes all taxable and non-taxable income for the applicant(s) and spouse(s).
- Have a net worth of $500,000 or less, not including the value of the home in the program or personal property.
- Either have no reverse mortgage, or, if they have a reverse mortgage, they need to have been in the deferral program prior to 2011.

Applications are available at www.oregon.gov/dor/deferral.

The deferral program allows eligible senior citizens and people with disabilities to have the State pay property taxes on their behalf until they move, sell their home, or die. A lien is placed on their home, and all taxes, interest, and fees must be repaid before the lien is removed. Ore-

2016 Community Survey Now Open

Every two years Clackamas County invests in seeking feedback from residents about the services it provides, the actions it takes, and the major issues facing the community.

The online component of this official information gathering, the 2016 Community Survey, is now accessible at <http://svy.mk/1RsgxEs>. It is linked from the homepage of the Clackamas County website at www.clackamas.us.

All county residents are encouraged to take the survey, which takes less than 10 minutes to complete.

Survey questions help county officials measure residents' thoughts on many issues, including:

- Whether Clackamas County is headed in the right direction or is on the wrong track.

- High-priority issues facing the County, including road maintenance funding and employment lands.
- The overall value of County services (County parks, law enforcement, responding to disasters).
- How the County can better communicate with its residents.

This online survey is coupled with a scientific phone survey conducted in March. Results of both surveys will be made available in the coming months.

The online survey will be open until April 30. Responses are anonymous.

Clackamas Community College Expands Library Resources

Clackamas Community College will be vastly expanding its library resources by joining the Orbis Cascade Alliance.

The alliance is a consortium of 39 academic institutions in Oregon, Washington and Idaho that serves faculty and the equivalent of more than 275,000 full-time students.

With a vision of shared resource management, the alliance allows students, staff and faculty to easily search and request library materials owned by member libraries. There is also a courier service providing delivery of library materials in Oregon, Washington and Idaho. This year alone, the alliance shared 253,000 books and delivered 305,000 packages.

With enhanced access to archival and manuscript collections, the alliance also offers a print repository, cooperative purchasing of databases, e-journals and demand-driven and licensed e-book collections.

"Clackamas Community College looks forward to working with public and private colleges and universities across the Northwest while strengthening library services to our students, staff and faculty," CCC Dean of Instruction and Student Services Phillip King said. "The library added a new faculty position last year, and we are ready to be an active contributor to the Orbis Cascade Alliance."

CCC has been a participant in the Alliance electronic resources program for several years, applied for full governing membership last year and finalized membership in February 2016. The college is expected to begin a migration project in early 2017 and join the Orbis Cascade Alliance shared integrated library system (ILS) in June of that year.

The alliance helps member libraries advance institutional missions through collaboration and innovation. Members join together their expertise in seeking efficiency and productivity to promote the success of students, faculty, staff and researchers. They bring multiple perspectives together to challenge traditional thinking and elevate the ability to deliver outstanding services, programs and collections.

Many Oregonians Need To File Health Insurance Tax Forms

Oregonians who received financial assistance in 2015 for a health plan they bought through HealthCare.gov must file a form, called a 1095-A, with their taxes this year.

Most Oregonians received one or more IRS Form 1095s. These tax forms verify that consumers had the health care coverage required by the Affordable Care Act during 2015.

There are three types of 1095 form: 1095-A, 1095-B, and 1095-C.

Those who received a 1095-A and enrolled in health insurance through HealthCare.gov will need to file the form with their taxes.

"It is critical to file this tax form if you received tax credits to help you pay for your insurance during 2015," said Patrick Allen, director of the Department of Consumer and Business Services. "Otherwise, you could have to pay back some of those tax credits to the Federal Government."

People who received a 1095-A will need to reconcile the amount of tax credits they qualified for with the amount they received. If they don't file the form, they could have to pay back some of those funds and be found ineligible for financial assistance next year.

Forms 1095-B and 1095-C are for other types of health care coverage, such as through an employer or Medicaid. Consumers do not need to file these forms with their taxes, but should keep them for their records to prove that they are not subject to the penalty for going without insurance.

Those who did not have coverage for three or more months in 2015 could have to pay a penalty when they file their Federal income tax return. The penalty for going without coverage in 2015 is the higher of 2 percent of yearly household income or $325 for every adult in your family plus $162.50 for every child younger than 18 years old.

The penalty could potentially be as much as $2,085 for a family of four, with two parents and two children younger than 18, earning $50,000 a year.

Some Oregonians may qualify for a health coverage exemption to avoid paying the penalty. Exemptions are based on a number of things, such as certain hardships, life events, health coverage or financial status, and membership in some groups. For more information, visit irs.gov.

Department of Revenue Releases Marijuana Tax Collection Numbers

February was the first month for medical marijuana dispensaries to remit the taxes they collected on their previous month's recreational marijuana sales. Dispensaries are responsible for collecting a 25-percent tax at the point of sale and remitting it to the Department of Revenue monthly.

Between February 1 and March 4, we posted 253 estimated marijuana tax payments to our system, totaling $3.48 million. Of those payments, 137 were made by appointment and 116 were made by mail. There were 309 dispensaries selling recreational marijuana products in January, according to the Oregon Health Authority.

Dispensaries should remember the following about marijuana tax payments:

- Taxes collected for February's sales were due to the department by March 31.
- They need to register for a tax account before making their first payment.
- Vouchers need to be included with all payments.
- Cash, check, or money order are the only payment options.
- Cash payments are only accepted at the department's main office in Salem. Appointments are required. Call (503) 945-8050 at least 48 hours in advance to schedule an appointment. Appointment times are limited, so please call early in the month.

Registration forms, payment vouchers, and more information about the marijuana tax program are available at www.oregon.gov/dor/marijuana.

CCC Instructor's Art Featured At Harmony Community Campus

The next art gallery opening at CCC's Harmony Community Campus will feature the work of CCC instructor and local artist Kjirsten Severson.

The gallery opening will be Thursday, April 7, from 4 to 6 p.m. at 7738 S.E. Harmony Road, Milwaukie. The event will include entertainment by a CCC student jazz trio and refreshments. The exhibit runs through May.

Severson's art is composed of writings using canvas and ink that are ambiguous and ambivalent in nature.

"I want the forces within them to tug at you and pull in different directions, to break apart your habitual perceptions and understandings in order to see what else might come out," Severson said.

Severson has been teaching philosophy at Clackamas Community College since 2005. Originally from the Black Hills of South Dakota, she attended graduate school for Ethics and Western Philosophy in Washington, D.C., and Pittsburgh before a road trip with a temperamental van landed her in the Northwest.

She began writing using a Smith Corona typewriter she was given. The result of a 350-page manuscript she titled "an unnarrated memoir." The larger pieces of art she is now creating are taken from the pages of the manuscript. Her ultimate goal is to create a "walking book."

Through her years of teaching and from the responses of students, Severson believes the general public needs more access to the gifts philosophy has to offer.

Personal Property Tax Returns Past Due

The deadline for business owners to submit their personal property tax return has passed. Returns were to be submitted or postmarked by March 15, 2016. Starting this year, extensions were no longer available.

Business owners were required to file a return each year, even if:

- They meet the cancellation threshold.
- They didn't receive a tax return from the County.
- The Assessor previously canceled their tax.
- They sold or closed their business during the year.
- They sold or disposed of their personal property.

Returns were to include a detailed list of all business-related personal property, with equipment purchase or lease dates, and original costs. Personal property includes:

- Office furniture, personal computers, and easily moved machinery.
- Display cases and shelving.
- Leased equipment, including copiers and power washers.

The County Assessor calculates the tax due each year based on the personal property return, and the tax due is included on your annual property tax statement. Property tax payments are due November 15, 2016.

If a business owner doesn't file, penalties vary from 5 percent to 50 percent of the taxes due, depending on when the return is filed.

Return forms are available at www.oregon.gov/dor/forms or through any County Assessor's office.

VA Office Of Inspector General Releases Summary Of Investigation Regarding Wait Times At VA Portland Health Care System

During the first week of March 2016, VA's Office of the Inspector General (OIG) began releasing several administrative report summaries related to a subset of 77 already completed and publicly known investigations into wait times at specified VA facilities to include VA Portland Health Care System.

Although the OIG report summaries do present new information to many Veterans and stakeholders, these investigations that have looked into potential scheduling irregularities only examined a point in time going back to when the Department requested that OIG review the Access Audit findings from early 2014, almost two years ago.

The VA Portland Health Care System has aggressively trained and retrained all of our personnel who schedule patients to ensure that there is no confusion in scheduling procedures. Regular scheduling audits are conducted and staff are able to clearly articulate scheduling procedures. In addition, VA Portland Health Care System has opened weekend clinics, instituted walk-in clinics, and greatly increased the use of telemedicine. We recently expanded our Salem and Fairview outpatient clinics, doubling their Primary Care Space and adding Specialty Care Services to include Eye, Dermatology, and Audiology as well as integrated Mental Health Services. These actions will significantly improve our access to health care and improve care coordination across Primary and Specialty Care.

As part of "MyVA" transformation, VA has worked to improve our employee experience by working to modernize and enhance our scheduling processes in Vista, and leveraging industry to explore other potential commercial solutions. We have also strengthened leader and man-

Cougars Finish Sixth At NJCAA Championships

The Clackamas Community College wrestling team ended a great year with another trophy at the National Junior College Athletic Association National Championships, finishing sixth place with three All-Americans.

Chris Garcia (149), Haszell West (184) and John Morin (197) each finished in the top three of their respective weight class with West earning third while both Garcia and Morin earned national runner-up.

The team sent 10 athletes to the championship and all 10 scored points for the Cougars, who sat in third place heading into Friday night's second session, a mere 1.5 points out of first. That night, the three All-Americans each advanced to the semifinal with a win while four others lost by a total of seven points to miss placing in the round of 12.

"We have had our fair share of breaks at the nationals and this year we had to sit back and take our medicine a bit," Coach Josh Rhoden said. "We felt we had the type of team that could compete but we just left some points out there and you just can't do that at these types of events."

This marks the eighth time in Rhoden and company's 10-year history with the program that Clackamas Community College has earned a team trophy at the National Championships and a decade of finishing eighth or better. The three All-Americans bring the total over that same period to 53 with 14 national finalists.

"Coach Rich Vigorito and I really enjoyed this year's team and the way that they worked hard, prepared and followed our instruction. We both obviously wish things could have finished different but it keeps us hungry and excited for what's to come. We look forward to a very good off season, recruiting and continuing to grow Clackamas Community

We have also ensured that all employees involved in scheduling are retrained, while improving our processes as we update scheduling software.

INCREASING ACCESS TO CARE

We are making lasting improvements in access to VA care by expanding capacity, focusing on staffing, space, productivity and VA Community Care.

The VA Portland Health Care System has hired 131 additional clinical staff with VA Choice Act dollars to assist in meeting Veteran Care. We have doubled our space in both the Salem and East/Fairview outpatient clinics to include specialty care services and robust integrated Mental Health. A project to add an additional 21 exam rooms and additional

As we continue to sustain access to care, more and more Veterans are choosing VA care -- for the quality, for the convenience, or for the cost-savings so even though we're completing millions more appointments, we continue to have more work to do.

The VA Portland Health Care System has increased authorizations for care in the community by over 30 percent in the past two years and this trend continues to rise. Over 14,500 VA Portland Health Care System Veterans have elected to seek care in the community through the Choice Program since it was enacted in the fall of 2014.

On February 27, VA facilities across the nation completed a second Access Stand Down to connect with Veterans that have urgent health care needs, address their needs and reduce the number of Veterans waiting greater than 30-days for urgent care. This event also aimed to im-

15,000 square feet to our Vancouver campus is also underway. These expansions will greatly improve access to care in these areas.

Additionally, we have doubled our delivery of care by telephone, secure messaging and telehealth to better improve access and meet Veteran care needs without their traveling for a schedule appointment. We also implemented a new, non-procedure, colorectal screening option for Veterans in lieu of colonoscopy which has almost eliminated Veterans waiting for screening colonoscopies. The VA Portland Health Care System has weekend clinics in order to bring Veterans in for care in some of our high-demand clinics like Ophthalmology, Audiology and Compensation and Pension.

The VA Portland Health Care System appreciates the work of the independent OIG to provide VA with necessary feedback to help us improve. OIG's investigations give us the opportunity to make necessary changes and better serve Veterans.

Be Smart About Septic Systems

Do you own a property with a septic system? Proper care and maintenance of septic systems can help keep homeowners and their neighbors healthy and protect drinking water and our environment. For homeowners, proper care can also prevent costly repairs or replacement of systems, protect property values, and conserve water.

Check out these useful SepticSmart tips:

- Protect It and Inspect It: In general, homeowners should have their system inspected every three years by a licensed contractor and have their tank pumped when necessary, generally every three to five years.
- Think at the Sink: Avoid pouring fats, grease, and solids down the drain, which can clog a system's pipes and drainfield.
- Don't Overload the Commode: Ask guests to only to put things in the drain or toilet that belong there. For example, coffee grounds, dental floss, disposable diapers and wipes, feminine hygiene products, cigarette butts, and cat litter can all clog and potentially damage septic systems.
- Don't Strain Your Drain: Be water efficient and spread out water use. Consider fixing plumbing leaks and installing faucet aerators and water-efficient products, and spread out laundry and dishwasher loads throughout the day. Too much water at once can overload a system if it hasn't been pumped recently.
- Shield Your Field: Remind guests not to park or drive on a system's drainfield, where the vehicle's weight could damage buried pipes or disrupt underground flow.

Oregon Hospitals Significantly Outperforming National Average

Oregon's hospitals perform significantly better than the national average in preventing health care-acquired infections (HAI), according to the National and State Health-care Associated Infections Progress Report released March 3 by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC).

HAIs are infections that patients can get while receiving medical treatment in a health care facility. The report, based on 2014 national data (most current available), shows infection rates are lower than the national average for every condition that the CDC tracks.

The measure (Senate Bill 1573) was signed today by Gov. Kate Brown after it cleared the House on a 32-28 vote on the final day of the 2016 session. Both parties were split, but 17 Democrats and 15 Republicans voted for it.

This bill will affect cities in Clackamas County: Canby, Estacada, Lake Oswego, Molalla, Oregon City, Sandy and West Linn.

"I'm personally very pleased that it passed," Oregon City Mayor Dan Holladay said of the bill. "I have been very public about saying that I regret what I consider to be an error of my youth that I campaigned for voter-approved annexation in Oregon City," which imposed the requirement in 1999.

Upon approval by the governor, he added, "With voter approved annexations not being the law of the land anymore, we can plan it, zone it and make something happen on the edges of the city."

Editor's Note: This law basically takes away the rights of citizens in the annexation process. What will this mean for Beavercreek? It can't be good.

CCC Hosts Spring Career Fair

The second annual Spring Career Fair, hosted by Clackamas Community College in partnership with WorkSource Clackamas, will be Tuesday, April 19, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m., in the Randall Gym on the Oregon City Campus, 19600 Molalla Ave.

More than 50 employers will be on-site to hire for open positions and internship opportunities. Industries represented include health care, manufacturing, business, education, human services, retail, automotive and more.

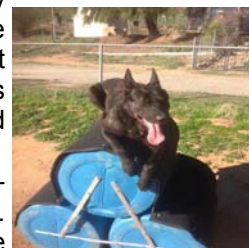

The event is free to attend and open to students and the public. For more information, visit www.clackamas.edu/CareerFair. For questions about the Career Fair, contact Kara Leonard, CCC student success and career coordinator, at 503-594-3096 or kleonard@clackamas.edu.

About Vested Interest in K9s, Inc.

Vested Interest in K9s, Inc. is a 501c (3) charity located in East Taunton, MA. Its mission is to provide bullet-and stab protective vests and other assistance to dogs of law enforcement and related agencies throughout the United States.

The non-profit was established in 2009 to assist law enforcement agencies with this potentially lifesaving body armor for their four-legged K9 officers.

Since its inception, Vested Interest in K9s, Inc. provided over 1,700 protective vests, in 49 states, through private and corporate donations, at a cost of over $1.6 million.

All vests are custom made in the USA by Armor Express in Central Lake, MI.

The program is open to dogs actively employed in the U.S. with law enforcement or related agencies who are certified and at least 20 months of age. New K9 graduates, as well as K9s with expired vests, are eligible to participate.

The donation to provide one protective vest for a law enforcement K9 is $1,050. Each vest has a value between $1,795 -- $2,234 and a five-year warranty, and an average weight of 4-5 lbs.

There are an estimated 30,000 law enforcement K9s throughout the United States.

For more information or to learn about volunteer opportunities, please call 508-824-6978. Vested Interest in K9s, Inc. provides information, lists events, and accepts tax-deductible donations of any denomination at <http://www.vik9s.org> or mailed to P.O. Box 9 East Taunton, MA 02718.

Help Spring Clean at CCC's Environmental Learning Center

Learn how to plantscape, prune and remove invasive species all while working for a good cause.

Clackamas Community College is hosting a series of spring cleanup events at the Environmental Learning Center (ELC) on the Oregon City campus, 19600 Molalla Ave.

Join us April 2, 9, 16 and 30 and May 14, from 9 a.m. to noon, to help prep the grounds of the ELC as the college works to restore the Newell Creek headwaters, which bubbles to life on the campus. Newell Creek flows to the Willamette River through the 1,800-acre Newell Creek watershed, the largest intact greenspace in the South Metro area.

At the 5-acre ELC site, visitors can explore trails, discover native plants and wildlife, or observe the stars at the Haggart Observatory. CCC offers interactive environmental education school programs for elementary-age students, as well as professional development workshops for teachers. The ELC site is open daily from dawn to dusk.

As the capstone of the Education That Works campaign, Newell Creek Headwaters will undergo an ambitious redevelopment project that will transform the site into a regionally important outdoor learning laboratory, demonstration project location and natural area that showcases innovations in stormwater management, native habitat restoration and sustainable living practices through a partnership of local and state agencies and educational institutions.

Metro has provided a significant grant to seed the project and the CCC Foundation is committed to raising $1.7 million in matching funds to complete the work. To learn more about the project and the Foundation's fundraising campaign, visit give.clackamas/headwaters. Groundbreaking is scheduled for the College's 50th birthday party on May 21, with completion of the project set for 2017.

Cleanup volunteers need to bring gloves, wear boots and dress for the weather. Pruners and tools will be provided. To sign up, contact Loni Sanders at 503-594-3017 or loni.sanders@clackamas.edu.

side and rear of the building and went to investigate. As crews arrived smoke was also coming from the two front doors of the business as they made entry. The truck company went to the roof to ventilate the building as the engine companies made entry. The fire was quickly under control at 20:59 and crews continued to look for extension in the building. There were no injuries. Clackamas Fire was assisted by TVF&R, Gladstone Fire and Portland fire along with Oregon City Police.

Maverick Welding is a building that contains many cylinders of both oxygen and acetylene. When fire and heat make contact with this equipment there is the possibility of explosions and cylinders flying hundreds of feet. Fire in these type of businesses are very dangerous to firefighters if not brought under control quickly. First arriving crews were able to locate the fire and extinguish it quickly before fire could reach the cylinders.

Clackamas Repertory Theatre Children's Series Continues April 9

Clackamas Repertory Theatre continues its second season of interactive shows for children with a performance on Saturday, April 9.

As with all episodes of "Wing It," there is a lesson, and this installment will be about not fitting in. The forest creatures have to figure out how Pinocchio feels about being different from everyone. The animals will try to work out what they think happens when you don't fit in. What do you do when you are the only one made of wood? The children in the audience will have fun helping solve this conundrum.

As always, there will be singing, dancing and a chance for children to come up to the stage for a moment in the spotlight.

"Wing It," created for children 2 to 10 years old, is fun for all ages. It is developed and directed by Travis Nodurft, a Clackamas Rep company member, professional clown and Oregon City sixth-grade teacher.

The final show of the season is May 7. All performances begin at 10:30 a.m. and take place in the Niemeyer Center on the campus of Clackamas Community College, 19600

Other types of alarms are also being sold with either a 10-year battery or a standard-life battery.

"Ensuring you have working smoke alarms in your home is the single most important step you can take to increase your family's safety from a home fire," adds Walker. "Also, be sure to replace any smoke alarm that is 10 years old or older."

To test your alarm properly we recommend you:

- 1) Push the test button to be sure the battery is working.
- 2) When replacing batteries, follow the manufacturer's instructions for the correct battery type to use.
- 3) Always retest alarms after installing new batteries.
- 4) Replace any alarm that fails to operate after installing a new battery.
- 5) Inspect your alarms to determine if they are 10 years old or older, and replace any smoke alarm 10 years old or older. Look for a date on the back of the alarm. If there is no date, your alarm is more than 10 years old and should be replaced.

- 6) Follow the manufacturer's instructions for regularly cleaning your alarms of dust and cobwebs.

Working smoke alarms provide a critical early warning to a fire, allowing you vital minutes to escape, which increase your chances of survival. Additional safety tips:

- * Install smoke alarms on every level of your home, in each bedroom, and outside each sleeping area (hallway).
- * Never disconnect or remove batteries from smoke alarms for other uses.
- * Use the smoke alarm's hush feature to silence nuisance alarms such as cooking smoke or shower steam.
- * Make a home fire escape plan and practice it with family members.

For more smoke alarm and fire safety information, contact your local fire department or visit http://www.oregon.gov/osp/SFM/Pages/CommEd_SA_Program.aspx.

Did You Remember To Test Your Smoke Alarms?

Sunday, March 13th marked the beginning of daylight saving time and the Office of State Fire Marshal is hoping you remembered to test your smoke alarms before automatically changing the batteries.

"Smoke alarm technology has advanced and many now come with 10-year batteries and some are tamper-resistant," said State Fire Marshal Jim Walker. "So, I encourage residents to test their alarms before changing the battery."

Oregon law requires ionization-only smoke alarms that are solely battery powered to come equipped with a hush feature and a 10-year battery. Because of this technology, the national slogan "Change Your Clock, Change your battery" may not apply to Oregon residents who have these ionization-only smoke alarms.

CCC Cougar Run Features 20+ Obstacles

Looking for a fun challenge while supporting a good cause? Student leaders at Clackamas Community College are hosting a 5K obstacle-course run on Saturday, May 28, starting at 10 a.m.

The Cougar Run for Mental Health and Wellness event will raise funds for the college's Counseling Department to assist students in promoting healthy minds and bodies.

The Cougar Run course is family-friendly and features more than 20 obstacles, including a seesaw crossing, a rock wall traverse, a cargo net crawl, rope pulls and tire toss. Participants should expect to get wet, get muddy and break a good sweat. Student leaders worked with a local "American Ninja Warrior" trainer for resources and ideas for the course.

After completing the course, participants will get treated to a BBQ lunch. Members from the police and fire community will be present along with local businesses promoting health and well-being.

Registration is $30. Students receive $5 off. Register at www.active.com. All participants receive a T-shirt.

There are still vendor spaces available. For more information, email clackamascougarrun@gmail.com.

Clackamas County Added To Oregon Disaster Declaration

Clackamas County has joined Douglas County, Oregon, as recent eligible entities for Federal disaster assistance as a result of the severe winter storms, straight-line winds, flooding, and landslides and mudslides occurring Dec. 6-23, 2015, the Oregon Office of Emergency Management (OEM) and Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) has announced.

A total of 14 Oregon counties including Clackamas, Clatsop, Columbia, Coos, Curry, Douglas, Lane, Lincoln, Linn, Multnomah, Polk, Tillamook, Washington and Yamhill counties, are covered under the disaster declaration signed by President Obama on Feb. 17, 2016. FEMA's Public Assistance program offers supplemental financial assistance on a cost-sharing basis for emergency work and the repair or replacement of disaster-damaged facilities in designated counties. The program also provides an opportunity for mitigation projects that protect damaged facilities from future events by providing assistance for certain hazard mitigation measures.

"The addition of Clackamas County to the declaration underscores the collaborative effort of the State of Oregon, Clackamas County and FEMA," said Clint Fella, State Coordinating Officer at Oregon's Office of Emergency Management. "The rapid response to the appeal indicates how diligently FEMA is working on our behalf and also points to the level of cooperation and teamwork achieved on this disaster. We are thrilled to see Clackamas County receive this aid, and I attribute it to the hard work and dedication of Clackamas County's staff."

The State of Oregon, which administers the Public Assistance program, conducted briefings with local officials in these counties and affected tribal governments to provide information on the assistance available and how to apply.

"FEMA will assist Clackamas both in its recovery efforts and with its eligible projects to mitigate against future disasters. They are part of statewide efforts to protect people and property against the risks of future disasters," said FEMA Federal Coordinating Officer Dolph Diemont.

FEMA reimburses 75 percent of eligible costs covered in the declaration.

Someone asked about back up power for our telephone service in case of an emergency. Mr. Orr stated that the Company has been working on a complete preparedness program. So far the system has a back up plan that utilizes generators fueled by diesel. Initially, the power is backed up with battery power. Once the battery power gets to a certain level the diesel phase kicks in for at least 2 days of power.

Public Comments -

Judy Andreen talked about a ballot measure that addresses the fact that Oregon corporations pay little or no tax in Oregon. The measure would raise taxes on corporations that make more than 25 million dollars a year from either in or out of State. The funds raised would go to K-12, Healthcare, and senior services.

Land Use Applications - no land use applications for this month.

Land Use Decisions - there were two land use decisions by the County in the last month.

The first was a renewal for a level three Home Occupation Permit on Boone Court for an ornamental ironworks company that was tentatively approved with conditions.

The second was a renewal of a level three Home Occupation Permit for a dump truck business on Levi Road. This was approved subject to conditions.

Reports - the Treasurer's Report was given.

Speaker & Transportation Reports -

Speaker, Christine Kosinski reported that Senate Bill 1573 has passed the Senate and the House. It is awaiting the Governor's signature. If the Governor does not sign it by the deadline it will go into effect anyway. Hmmm! This law will allow cities to approve annexation requests without a vote of the people impacted. An example is the Beavercreek Road Concept Plan on Beavercreek which could be approved without citizen input unless it is appealed. (It has been appealed before). The application has been approved by the Oregon City Planning Commission and has been before the City Commis-

If you live in Beavercreek, Mulino, or Oregon City and want your neighborhood sales report just email me with your address. I will send you the active listings and closed sales near your home.

This is not intended to show the value of your home specifically, it is just for you to get a glance of what is happening in your area.

Real Estate is like the stock market, it goes up and down depending on many factors. It is a good idea to keep up on the market so you can plan for the future.

It was also noted that Dan Fowler made a request to change the zoning of the old bus barn property located at the intersection of S. Beavercreek Road and Hwy 213 from residential to multi use. It was approved. It is believed he wants to develop the property for senior care, rehabilitation and business offices.

New Business -

The Candidates Forum to be held on April 23rd, 9:00 a.m. to noon at Athey Creek Middle School, 2900 S.W. Borland Rd., Tualatin was announced. Candidates for seats on the Clackamas County Board of Commissioners will be present.

There was to be a "Stars in the Park" Concert report, but Norm Andreen was absent.

"Movie in the Park" date has not been set yet.

Brad Charlson gave a Beavercreek Grange report. There will be another play at the Grange beginning April 28th by the students of North Clackamas Christian School. See article elsewhere in this issue.

The next meeting will be Wednesday, April 27, 2016 at 7:00 p.m. at the Beavercreek Grange. The guest speaker is scheduled to be Max Wedding, speaking about the Clackamas Community College Bond Projects.

Everyone is encouraged to attend the monthly Hamlet

North Clackamas Christian School to Hold Performance at the Beavercreek Grange

North Clackamas Christian School will perform "Pants on Fire" which is a comedy/mystery. Directed by Vicki Guthrie.

The "Beacon of Fire" newspaper is hanging by a thread, the reporters may be out of work soon, and the last editor jumped out the window. The newspaper's downward spiral began when the publisher hired Larra, a lazy reporter, who thinks no news is good news and is adept at driving away any editor hired. With no work to do, the staff perfects the art of "working at not working" by making paper airplanes, doing their nails, sitting on the edge of their desks looking like they're deep in thought, taking long lunch breaks, and drinking coffee.

ANIMAL CARE

- * Feed, water, grain, seed all size animals
- * Stalls cleaned if stalls are cleaned upon arrival
- * Water plants
- * Pick up mail out of rural box
- * Check house as owner desires
- * Drive by after dark
- * Sitter holds numbers to Fire Dept, Police Dept and ranchers vet

- * Excellent local references from ranches of on going care
- * Sitter known in the area for the summer Information Center in the Molalla River Corridor and book "Lonely Trails"
- * Over night stays possible
- * Sitter will not go into stalls or pastures without another person present

$30-$45
per 24 hour period

Welcome care of all large pasture animals, hoofs, webbed feet, paws, claws and hair, feathers, wooly and all 'things great and small, the Lord God made them all.'

To save the newspaper, the publisher pulls out all the stops to find editors, including a former marine, a woman who thinks she's a queen, a hippie who carries a baseball bat, and a teenage computer genius. But these new editors prove no match for Larra, who gets rid of every one of them handily. However, the tables turn when the publisher names Larra as editor, and she realizes she can't fire herself! The show will run April 28, 29, 30 at 7:00 p.m. Tickets are sold at the door. $5 for students, $7 for adults. Come support NCCS and enjoy a hysterical night!

The Beavercreek Grange is located at 22041 S. Kamrath Road in Beavercreek.

Adoption!

Hello... my name is "Zack" and I'm available for adoption. I'm a Puggle.

I'm a 10 year old neutered male and I weigh approximately 30 to 60 lbs. As you can see I'm tan and black in color with folded ears.

Here is I have to say for myself!

"Hello there! I'm Zack, a sweet loving puggle looking for my forever home. Are you wondering what a puggle is? It is part pug, part beagle, and all adorable. I'll show you my pretty smile for treats and scratches. I love to be around people and will happily climb into your home and lap. Come by and meet me today!"

Clean teeth, healing ears and lumps removed. Ready for adoption.

For more information on me or other dogs available for adoption, please call the shelter at 503-655-8628 or come by for a visit and a little one-on-one. You can also see us at the Clackamas County Dog Control website at:

<http://www.clackamas.us/k9man/adoptpet.jsp>

The shelter is located at 13141 S.E. Hwy 212 in Clackamas, Oregon. I'm available from 11:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., Tuesday thru Saturday. I'd sure love to get the chance to meet you. "ZACK"
