Sustainability Priorities Identified at Fifth Clackamas County Community Congress

The Clackamas County Board of Commissioners engaged and challenged more than 200 citizens attending the Fifth Clackamas County Community Congress to identify sustainable priorities for the county. The attendees included residents of cities, hamlets and villages.

Clackamas County is the first County in the state to bring together its citizens, uniting urban and rural areas, around the topic. The concept is the latest outgrowth of Complete Communities, an initiative begun in 1999 by the Board of County Commissioners.

The Congress, held May 12 in Oregon City, provided a background through a panel discussion on sustainability issues. Participants identified their priorities for Clackamas County and engaged in discussions about how priorities could best be applied to their individual communities.

Some of the priorities identified by the congress included the environment, economy and jobs and community design and housing.

Commissioner Bill Kennemer, who has attended all the previous congresses, said he was delighted to see the legacy of Complete Communities continuing with this important challenge for the future. Commissioner Lynn Peterson added, "I am pleased to see so many leaders come together to discuss sustainability. Clackamas County is so diverse that it will be essential to have participation by the all the communities to move the vision forward."

According to Carol Yamada, chair of the Stafford hamlet, "I and my friends and neighbors are energized by the variety of committed people who came to work together at the congress. The county should be complimented for creating such a great platform for ideas and actions."

Commissioner Schrader concluded by offering this encouragement to all participants: "We need your commitment to see this effort through. As a community, it will take all of us working together to take this vision to reality."

Young people were represented by a contingent of students from Putnam and Oregon City high schools. Others, who participate in the culinary curriculum of the Sabin-Schellenberg Skills Center, catered the lunch including locally grown produce. All meeting and meal materials were produced on or using reusable, recyclable materials.

From the Desk of Senator

Hello from Salem! We are midway through the legislative session. Most of my time has been consumed by two very controversial issues: The Budget and fixing Measure 37. The hours have been long once again. It seems hard to get home before 9:00 at night. I try to keep the budget hearings going and put out issue "fires" during the day. Leadership, caucus, and fiscal reform meetings consume the lunch hour. I have spent 2-3 hours on Tuesday and Thursday evenings working on fixing and clarifying Measure 37. Later, and on the other weekday evenings I catch up on my snail mail, e-mails and generate correspondence and review bills for the next morning's floor sessions.

The Co-Chairs budget came out in April. That document emphasized K-12 and early childhood intervention. It also prioritized keeping felons behind bars and helping our state police. We made college access affordable for all Oregonians. We recognized that housing is critical for the success of any of our seniors, low-income, mental health patients, and people with addictions. We also prepared a nearly 1 billion dollar savings or "rainy day" account to avoid the disinvestment we faced in our more recent recession.

We just finished our 7 city tour from Oregon City to Bend to Medford, to Coos Bay, and back. It was exciting to see the numbers of Oregonians that showed up. Over 2,500 attended and close to 500 testified. This propriety and compelling testimony impressed us all. The commonality of concerns was ubiquitous regardless of geography or town size. Additionally, education and human services support predominated. If only we had the revenues to meet all of the needs.

The Ways and Means Subcommittee on Human Services will now attempt to rearrange our limited current revenues to meet those human service needs as best they can. A number of revenue concepts envisioned in the Governor's Budget, but not currently available could help higher education, community colleges, and our human services significantly this session. House Republicans will not vote to raise the corporate minimum tax from $10. So without any of the revenue the Governor anticipated we must rob Peter to pay Paul in our budget. However, without fiscal reform for our entire service delivery system we are destined to enter the 21st century as a mediocre state. Being 45th in the nation for tax burden does not buy very good government. I am amazed we get as good service as we do in our education and state agencies given our low state tax burden and current tax structure. I believe we can be better than that. We need to be creative. SB 474 and HB 2530 actually reduce taxes on tax paying Oregonians, gets others to pay their fair share, stimulates the economy, creates jobs, bases spending on outcomes, creates a transparent budget process, reduces revenue ups and downs, and puts $800 million on the table for our higher education, healthcare, and public safety programs to makes us a great state again.

The Joint Special Committee on Land Use Fairness has heard from hundreds of Oregonians. There is no consensus at all about what was intended by those who voted for Measure 37. Our charge has been to see if we can bring fairness, and balance between Oregonians' property rights and our communities quality of life embodied in the Measure 37 chaos. I was privileged to work on a bipartisan workgroup to that end. We tried to help each other reach accommodation. That is the type of dialogue our colleagues expect and so rarely get. We truly tried to understand what our colleagues of different parties and geographies and philosophies needed. I had a great, but exhausting, time working with my Republican and Democratic colleagues. We agreed on much more than we differed. Most of the framework that we are pushing forward embodies that bipartisan, bicameral work.

I don't think we can do much better. I look forward to the public input and probably, ultimately your response to our work. Most of all I am pleased that your Legislature is stepping up to tackle the bigger issues that you elected us to do this session. Win, lose, or draw, we are now talking about the issues that matter most to Oregon.

Saint David's Day has special significance for the Welsh, and is faithfully observed each year. In the early days it, was celebrated both at Beaver Creek and Portland, but with the coming of the automobile, it brings the communities closer together, the Welsh from Beaver Creek go to Portland where most of the congregation now lives, and where most of the support is derived.

It should be noted that Roberts Brothers Department store which bore their name were, during their lifetime staunch supporters of Bryn Seion.

We should mention that Bryn Seion was responsible in those very early days for bringing to this community the highest standard of Male Choral singing an annual musical feast sponsored by the church, the "Portland Philharmonic Male Chorus" consisting mainly of Welshmen under the direction of the very able Mr Trevor Jones, formerly of Vancouver, British Columbia, Canada, and of Angelsey, North Wales.

They presented a combination of voices of excellent quality, beautiful interpretations of such musical numbers as; "Martyr's of the Arena". "The Crusaders". "Who is HE". "The Lost Chord", and "The Sweet by and By". The Rev. John R. Griffith, long time pastor of Bryn Seion and Mr. Thomas Roberts were Honorary members of the chorus.

The church has been favored from time to time with visits of many Welsh Divine's, who have preached in this church, among them being, the Rev's; William Surdival, Archdruid of the America Gorsedd; David Jones, Boise, Idaho; J. Michael Hughes; Seattle, Washington; John Hughes, Liverpool, England; John Lewis, Aberaman, South Wales; Henry Williams and W.E. Williams, San Diego, California; J.L. Jones, Clackamas, Oregon; John Thomas, Ohio; D.E. Richards (Ieuan Fardd) Wales; J.H. Griffith, Newtown, North Wales; Dr Jonathan Edwards and R.D. Williams, Waitsburg, Washington.

The Rev. Paul Hovey of Portland who brought the message for the eleven o'clock service for the Gamanfa Ganu of the year 1982 closed his sermon with these words; "These singing festivals of the Welsh people have been carried abroad wherever a colony settles and the Welsh have not been taunted to sing, as were the ancient Hebrews, to sing the Lord's SONG in a strange land. They know the Lord's song knows no strange land. The songs of Zion are at home wherever God's people gather".

The Psalmist wrote; "Let God's people rejoice in their triumph, and sing joyfully". That is exactly what happens each year when the fourth Sunday of June rolls around at Beavercreek. The sons and daughters of Wales have found

Cardiac Arrest.

The "Adopt for Life" program details the issuance of a CPR Anytime mannequin to each Oregon City High School Junior and a proficiency exam. The CPR Anytime kit contains one CPR mannequin, and one 22 minute instructional DVD. The CPR Anytime program is in contrast to the 4 or 8 hour CPR class we are all familiar with.

The main goal of "Adopt for Life" is to expose our young adults in the community to the importance of citizen CPR, recognition of a problem and the chain of events that lead to surviving cardiac arrest. The remaining ideals are to spread the knowledge of Citizen CPR to family members and use our time in the schools to expose high school age children to the fire service.

Protect Your Pets From the Heat

Clackamas County Dog Services reminds pet owners to be especially careful to keep their pets cool during hot weather.

Dog Services Manager Diana Hallmark notes that the temperature in a parked car, even in the shade or with windows partly open, can increase very rapidly. Within as few as 10 minutes, a dog or cat can be seriously harmed or killed.

Leaving a pet in a parked car may also subject the owner to criminal neglect or abuse charges.

Dogs and cats cool themselves by panting and releasing heat through their paws. The air and upholstery temperature in a car or truck can rise quickly on warm days, eventually making it impossible for pets to cool themselves.

According to the Humane Society of the United States, even with outside temperatures as low as 72 degrees a car's interior temperature can increase an average of 40 degrees within an hour; and 80 percent of that comes in the first 30 minutes. A slightly-open window provides little relief.

Hallmark advises people to help protect pets from overheating by: leaving your pet at home during warm or hot weather; being sure your pet has access to shade or a cool room; giving your pet constant access to cool, potable drinking water, and Never leaving your pet in an unattended parked car.

Vaccination of Horses Recommended to Protect Against West Nile Virus

Horse owners in Oregon are advised to help protect against West Nile Virus by vaccinating their animals and taking steps to control mosquitoes this spring and summer. State Veterinarian Don Hansen of the Oregon Department of Agriculture says it is very likely more cases of the disease will be reported in Oregon this year, and that owners of horses need to be consider taking steps to protect their horses.

"Vaccination against the disease provides good protection against West Nile," says Hansen. "For those who have already vaccinated their horses several months past, a booster shot now will strengthen protection. It is important for horse owners to vaccinate animals before the mosquito season gets into high gear."

The vaccine for horses is available through local veterinarians and many veterinary supply stores.

Oregon became one of the last states to report the presence of West Nile Virus when the disease was confirmed in 2004. The final tally for 2006 showed detections of the virus in 73 humans, 35 horses, 25 birds, and more than 1000 mosquitoes.

Insect control on individual animals remains a good preventative measure against the virus. Insect repellents applied to animals according to label directions, screened housing at night, and controlling exposure to mosquitoes at dusk and dawn can all work to limit the possibility of infection.

Reduction of mosquito breeding sites is also effective in controlling the spread of the disease. Any source of stagnant water is important. Tires, wading pools, wheelbarrows, birdbaths or wherever water can stand for more than four days is a potential breeding site. Local vector control districts can offer advice and assistance.

Infected wild birds are the source of West Nile Virus. Mosquitoes bite infected birds and then can potentially transmit the infection to horses and humans. The disease does not transmit from horse to horse or human to human. A bite by an infected mosquito is the only known route of transmission.

A low percentage of mosquitoes carry the virus and a low percentage of horses bitten by infected mosquitoes become ill. But a horse showing signs is a serious situation. The disease causes inflammation of the brain and about one-third of affected horses die. Symptoms include stumbling, lack of coordination, weakness in the legs, depression, muscle twitching, and death.

In-Kind Donation of $10,000 in Fuel by Albina Fuel Keeps Lions Mobile Health Screening Truck on the Road

The statistics are staggering! In Oregon, 591,000 residents are reportedly without health insurance and others live in rural areas where health care is not easily accessible. The Lions Mobile Health Screening trucks traveled 24,915 miles in the state of Oregon during the last year to provide FREE health screenings to 23,416 residents of Oregon. Among those residents screened, 9,549 potential health problems were identified, possibly saving someone's life.

Thanks to a recent in-kind donation of $10,000 in fuel from Albina Fuel, the MHSU will be able to provide those free services to many more citizens throughout the state of Oregon. As the cost of fuel continues to rise, Albina Fuel's donation allows the Mobile Health Screening Program to continue traversing the state providing FREE health screenings to those who can least afford a doctor's visit.

Individual's stories are sometimes heartbreaking, while others are heartwarming. "When you come across individuals who haven't been tested in years because they simply don't have the funds for a regular doctor visit, it breaks your heart," says Warren Heathman, driver and volunteer tester. "And its heart warming when you can advise someone that they should see their regular doctor because their vision or hearing isn't up to par, and they profusely thank you for helping them with this FREE service."

Residents from 238 communities across the state, stepped into the Oregon Lions Sight & Hearing Foundation's Mobile Health Screening Unit (MHSU) during the past year to re-

Oregonians Urged to Search for Unclaimed Property $41 MILLION Remitted to the State in 2006

More than 150,000 Oregonians had unclaimed property turned in to the Department of State Lands (DSL) last year by businesses and organizations that were unable to locate them.

"Unclaimed property typically includes uncashed payroll checks, state tax refunds, utility deposits, stock proceeds, dormant bank accounts any financial asset that has not been claimed by its owner, or that has not had any owner-generated activity for several years," said DSL's Unclaimed Property Section Manager Cyndi Wickham.

Each November, DSL receives reports from businesses and organizations; in 2006, over 10,000 reports with a value of $41 million were received. This unclaimed property has been added to current unclaimed property holdings of $253 million for more than a million people.

The funds are held in trust forever in the Common School Fund (CSF) until claimed by the rightful owner. Earnings from the fund are distributed twice yearly to Oregon's 198 K-12 public school districts. In 2007, distributions will top $50 million.

The State Treasurer, one of three members of the State Land Board, and the Oregon Investment Council invest the fund. The current market value of the CSF is more

"Currently, over half a million Oregonians live with little or nor health insurance, and that includes 119,000 children under the age of 19," said Amber Kern, Executive Director of Oregon Lions Sight & Hearing Foundation. "The Mobile Health Screening trucks allow people to not have to make the choice to pay the rent or go to the Doctor for a checkup. The audit, which was performed by KEMA-Registered Quality Inc., is the first for WES and the final step in the certification process to become an NBP-certified agency for biosolids.

"We really wanted this audit because we are an innovative organization that constantly seeks ways to be proactive in providing our customers top-notch service," said Mona LaPierre, WES environmental monitoring manager. "Normally, audits only occur if there is a concern or problem. We requested this audit to ensure we are doing everything possible to uphold the standards of the NBP."

"We welcome any advice or suggestion that will improve our already top-notch biosolids management program," added LaPierre. "In fact, we are planning to request a NBP-sponsored audit every two years and conduct internal audits in between so as to not only meet NBP standards but ex-

"The legislation before you...protects important and sensitive areas of Mount Hood, preserving them for generations to come, and it includes measures to promote economic development in villages and communities where development should happen in a well-planned and organized fashion," testified Schrader.

Commissioner Schrader's comments were presented at the invitation of Senator Ron Wyden before the Senate Public Lands and Forests Subcommittee as it considered the Lewis and Clark Mount Hood Wilderness Act of 2007.

Testimony also noted that Clackamas County wanted to insure that local governments would have a voice in the transportation planning process on Mt. Hood. The County specifically requested that a number of Forest Service roads be excluded from the wilderness portion of the bill.

Changes were made to the legislation to accommodate those requests. Commissioner Schrader also noted that a number of communities in Clackamas County count on Mt. Hood's pristine watersheds as their source of drinking water.

The Mount Hood Wilderness Act contains 128,000 acres of new wilderness, 79,000 of which is located within the boundaries of Clackamas County. Forty-seven miles of the new Wild and Scenic River are within the boundaries of Clackamas County.

The County also requested that the Hunchback Mountain land exchange be included in the legislation. The exchange has been included in the current language of the legislation. It would preserve an important view shed and has the support of local community organizations including the Mt. Hood Area Chamber of Commerce and the Hoodland Community Planning Organization.

"Oregon is a growing state, and Mount Hood is so precious and so important to so many Oregonians because of how close it is to so much of our state's population," concluded Commissioner Schrader. "Promoting managed, planned growth in certain areas is essential to allowing Oregonians to continue to enjoy the beauty and the majesty that is Mount Hood."

Grange

Mother's Day Breakfast a Success

The Grange would like to thank all those who came and had breakfast on Mother's Day! The day was a great success. 251 tickets were sold and the food must have been good because they served about 35 second and 2 third helpings of food. The bazaar table almost tripled their normal total on sales.

Ed Schettig would like to thank everyone in the area that stopped by and had breakfast with them. The support that they get through the community is what they rely on to keep their doors open each year so they can continue to have a building that the community can have available for their different events. Be it a birthday party or a wedding or even a memorable service.

Ed would also like to extend a big THANK YOU to the Beavercreek Community Christian Church for all their assistance in helping in the kitchen. Without their help it would have been a very difficult morning.

Just a reminder, they will be doing this again on the second Sunday in September so make sure to mark your calendar. Thanks again to one and all.

The quarterly Town Hall Meeting of the Hamlet of Beavercreek took place on Wednesday, May 23, 2007, in the media room at Beavercreek Elementary School on Yeoman Rd. The meeting began at 7:00 p.m. with 30 members and guests in attendance.

The meeting was called to order and a presentation was given by the eight 6th graders who will be going to Calgary Canada Friday, May 25th as winners of the Smarter Kids Grant from Smart Technologies. The students were accompanied by Jody Bean a 6th grade teacher at Beavercreek Elementary who is one of eight teachers in the U.S who will be going along with the children. Beavercreek Elementary is the only school west of the Mississippi who will be taking part.

The children who are going to Canada are Nolan Muckthaler, Megan Parrish, Kayla Bartholomew, Nikki Ainsworth, Stephanie Merrick, Katie Weisser, Trevor Katzmarek and Stephanie Rodriguez.

In Canada the children will be meeting with children from eight other schools throughout the U.S., Canada and Central America who were also chosen.

At the end of the presentation Bill Merchant, Chair of the Hamlet of Beavercreek, passed out t-shirts with the Hamlet's logo to the students to take with them. He also said there would be more t-shirts to take to give to the other participants at the event.

Debbie Noble brought out a huge chocolate sheet cake with white frosting for all to enjoy. At the end of the meeting I believe the cake was gone. Amazing!

There was discussion of the possible misinterpretation of an annexation of property on Maple Lane. It appears that there might have been a problem with a petition gatherer who was collecting signatures for the ballot measure. It seems that the info that was given to those who signed the paperwork was inaccurate and the measure not fully explained to those who signed. Because of the problem only people who live in Oregon City got to vote on the issue. The people who were affected did not have an opportunity to vote.

John Rosebrook explained to those gathered that he was modifying the plat for the Measure 37 claim he filed for a subdivision he wants to build on Steiner Rd. He was dropping the lots from 37 to 22. There was some discussion and some confusion as to whether an appeal involving this subdivision was still pending.

Committee reports were given for the following committees: Finance, Agenda, Transportation, Public Relations, By-Laws and Rules, and Nominating. Bill Merchant reported that the Boundary Realignment Committee would begin meeting in June.

A proposal to add a new subsection to the County Ordinances to make sure that roads between new subdivisions and the Urban Growth Boundary, aka, UGB are made safe was voted on and passed.

The Beavercreek Road Concept plan was also discussed. At the last meeting regarding the development a petition was circulated asking participants if they were in favor with the changes that have been proposed for the plan. The changes include much higher residential density and the paring back of the industrial/Commercial land in the project. The land was brought into the UGB because of a need for Industrial/Commercial land in the area and now that is not what the land will be used for. 60-70% of those asked said they were not in favor of what was going on, but the City of Oregon City chose not to deal with the citizen input.

It was also announced that due to about 1000 pages of testimony and documents submitted by the Hamlet regarding Measure 37 claims the Hamlet has "standing" in the process. It is too late to appeal, but intervention is still a possibility. A motion was made to intervene which was voted on and passed easily.

It was announced that the Hamlet is going to hold a "Hamlet Hoedown" on September 8th. There will be more info later on as plans solidify.

There was a raffle drawing held throughout the meeting. Every person received one raffle ticket upon signing into the meeting and had an opportunity to buy extras to enhance their chances to win.

The following prizes were won:

- "Forest for a Day" - one day at Hopkins Memorial Tree Farm
- 2 dogwashes
- Locally made coat/hat rack
- 2 hanging planters (two winners, one each)

Round of Golf at Oregon City Golf Club
Gift Certificate from The Still House in Oregon City
Hamlet t-shirt

One hundred dollars was made from the proceeds of selling tickets for the raffle. All the money goes to the Beavercreek Hamlet Signage Fund.

Everyone is encouraged to attend the monthly Hamlet Community meetings and the quarterly Town Hall meetings to participate and share ideas and concerns on the issues pertinent to our community. Members 18 years of age and older who live, own a business, or property within the Hamlet area may vote on Hamlet issues. The Hamlet of Beavercreek Boundary Map is located online at http://www.beavercreekbulletin.org/Misc/Beavercreek\_Hamlet\_Boundary\_map.pdf

The Community meetings take place on the fourth Wednesday of the month at the Beavercreek Grange on Kamrath Rd at 7:00 p.m. The Town Hall Meetings will occur every quarter. For more information, please call the Hamlet Information Line at 503-632-8370.
