5th Annual Hamlet Flea Market & Craft Fair To Be Held July 18

The third Saturday in July has been chosen for the 5th Annual Beavercreek Hamlet Flea Market & Craft Fair.

The event takes place at the "Korner Park" in downtown Beavercreek at the intersection of S. Beavercreek, S. Kamrath and S. Leland Roads. The sale will begin promptly at 9:00 a.m. and not before. It will run till 4:00 p. m. Please, be courteous and allow the venders the opportunity and time to get set up. This is an open air event and vendors need time to be ready to assist you.

If you have items overflowing from areas of your home, that you just don't need or use any longer, and would like to pass them along to someone else to enjoy and cherish this is the event for you.

Ten by ten foot spaces will be available for the cost of $10 each. The spaces will be allotted on a first come first served basis, so be sure to call 503-632-8370 for more information and reserve yours early.

As I the past, "Thelma's Grub Tub," the food truck, will be on location serving breakfast, lunch and drinks to help keep up both the sellers' and buyers' energy. "Thelma's" is known for high quality food that is sold at Hamlet events. You are sure to find whatever you need to keep up your strength... shopping for bargains is hard work after all.

So, bring your family and friends and either sell at the event or shop your heart out or both!

The site is a brownfield redevelopment that is enrolled in the State of Oregon's Voluntary Cleanup Program. The City used clean materials on top of the remains of past industrial activities such as sawmills, ship building and breaking facilities, a concrete plant and various dump sites. More than 32,000 tons of contaminated soil and debris were removed and disposed of in a responsible manner.

Libraries in Clackamas County Collect More Than 12,000 Pounds of Food, Remove $12,000 in Fines

Libraries in Clackamas County (LINCC) collected more than 12,000 pounds of food for local food banks during a Food for Fines drive held in celebration of National Library Week (April 12-18). Libraries waived $1 in overdue fines for every nonperishable nutritious food item that was donated, which resulted in the removal of more than $12,000 in fines from patrons' accounts.

All of the donated food items went to food banks in the communities where they were collected.

"Library patrons were very happy to be able to pay off their fines and help their communities at the same time,"

Back issues available upon request while supplies last

GamTalk is an "online community" that provides an opportunity for people to anonymously discuss their own gambling issues or their concerns about a friend or relative. It also provides an easy way to find out about local services for problem gamblers.

A non-profit organization developed by psychologist Dr. Richard Wood, GamTalk has been operating successfully in Canada since 2008. Partnering with the Oregon Lottery will be the first time a U.S. lottery has adopted this service.

"We are thrilled to be partnering with the Oregon Lottery and through it provide our service to Oregonians," said Dr. Wood. "GamTalk provides a great way to start talking about gambling issues. It can be such a relief to discover that you are not the only person who is going through this. We have a fantastic community of people

It's that time of year again! The Hamlet of Beavercreek is having its 5th Annual Beavercreek Flea Market & Craft Sale. This year the sale will be held on Saturday, July 18, 2015, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Once again the food truck will be on site offering breakfast and lunch options.

A 10' x 10' space is only $10. First come, first served!

To reserve a spot, call 503-632-8370 or email BCFlea@beavercreek.org who share their stories and offer friendly advice and support to others."

Assistant Lottery Director for Marketing and Retail Sales Stacy Shaw said, "The Oregon Lottery is committed to promoting responsible gambling and connecting problem gamblers with free help and treatment. A resource such as Gam-Talk is yet another way for gamblers to find services and support. We are making the service available on the Oregon Problem Gambling Resource website at www.opgr.org that we sponsor along with the Oregon Health Authority and gambling addiction service providers throughout the State."

The anonymous nature of GamTalk makes it easier and less intimidating for people to discuss their gambling. Typically visitors to GamTalk start by reading about other peoples' experiences and then talk about their own situation when they feel they are ready. It is an effective resource for people who can't access support locally. It is also a helpful resource to use together with locally-provided services where available.

"We see that people are much more likely to seek local help when they have an opportunity to talk anonymously on GamTalk first," added Dr. Wood.

CCC Presents Shakespeare's 'Comedy of Errors'

William Shakespeare's "The Comedy of Errors" is the Clackamas Community College Theatre Arts Department's spring term Mainstage Production, opening May 21 in the Osterman Theatre.

"The Comedy of Errors" is one of Shakespeare's earliest plays. It is a farcical comedy that tells the story of two sets of identical twins that were accidentally separated at birth.

Performances of "The Comedy of Errors," directed by Jim Eikrem, are May 21 - 31, Thursdays through Saturdays at 7:30 p.m. and Sundays at 2:30 p.m. in the Osterman Theater. Tickets are $10 for adults, $8 for seniors, and $5 or "pay what you can" for students and children. Seats are assigned. For ticket information and reservations visit www. clackamas.edu/theatre or call Kelly at 503-594-3153.

BPA Says It Is Well Prepared to Meet Dry Year Demands

Planning and preparation throughout the winter and early spring have the marketing agency poised to address power and non-power obligations for the region

The Bonneville Power Administration is positioned to meet the ongoing power needs of its customers, as well as its non-power obligations, including those aimed at protecting fish.

BPA and its Federal partners have been monitoring the downward trend in water supply forecasts throughout the winter and spring and are prepared to manage the system through the remainder of the spring and summer.

BPA, the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers and the Bureau of Reclamation are working closely with input from the Technical Management Team to determine the best way to meet the needs of fish migrating in the Columbia River with a limited amount of water. The TMT is a collaborative group of Federal, State and tribal representatives who make recommendations to the Federal agencies regarding the implementation of the Biological Opinions for the Federal Columbia River Power System.

"We don't have as much water as we would like, but we're well prepared to handle the current situation," said Kieran Connolly, vice president of Generation Asset Management for BPA. "We've been through this before - as recently as 2010. We plan extensively every year, so we don't get caught flat-footed."

Dry year operations are implemented when the May final April-through-August forecast from the Northwest River Forecast Center for total volume runoff at The Dalles Dam is less than 72.2 million acre-feet (maf). One acre-foot is a volume of water equivalent to one acre covered one foot deep with water - it's a little more than 325,000 gallons. The Northwest River Forecast Center's final May forecast released on Thursday is 62.4 maf.

The forecasted low runoff this year is not due to a lack of precipitation but above-normal temperatures that caused much of the precipitation to fall as rain instead of snow, particularly in the U.S. portions of the Columbia Basin.

Federal planners and operators have monitored water supply conditions as the year has progressed and planned accordingly, preparing them to manage the system to meet the multiple purposes of the FCRPS through the remainder of the year.

Typically, when the BiOp dry year operations are triggered, reservoirs are drawn down further than normal to provide more water for fish. One of the significant benefits of reservoirs is the ability to catch water and reduce the chances of flooding, or as is the case this year, release stored water during drier times

The last time the BiOp's dry year criteria were triggered occurred in 2010, although abundant late spring precipitation improved runoff conditions and resulted in a final runoff volume of 77 maf at The Dalles Dam. There is currently no climatological signal indicating such a recovery is in store for this year.

"We're ready and prepared to respond to conditions as they unfold," Connolly reiterated. "This year also serves as a great reminder that it is always good to use energy wisely, both at home and work."

BPA is a nonprofit Federal agency that markets renewable hydropower from federal Columbia Basin dams, operates three-quarters of high-voltage transmission lines in the Northwest and funds one of the largest wildlife protection and restoration programs in the world. Clackamas County Libraries To Offer Summer Reading Programs and Prizes

Starting in June, the Libraries in Clackamas County (LINCC) will offer summer reading programs for children of all ages at all 13 libraries located within the County. Most LINCC libraries also offer summer reading programs for adults.

Last year, more than 17,500 readers signed up for summer reading programs. From adult readers to babies being read to by a parent or sibling, everyone can register to keep track of their reading this summer.

"Reading during the summer break is a great way for kids to improve upon their reading skills," said Anna Bruce, Children's Librarian at Sunnyside Public Library. "In addition to helping kids prepare for success in school, the summer reading programs offer many fun incentives."

When teenagers and younger children reach their reading goals, they can turn in their reading logs to receive a free book, a Portland Trail Blazers ticket, an Oregon State Fair ticket, and a coupon for Oaks Amusement Park. Adult programs vary by library but also include chances to win great prizes.

The libraries will also offer many fun-filled events during the summer including gaming parties for teenagers, movies, and crafts. For younger children and families, magic shows, puppet shows and juggling performances are among the scheduled activities along with weekly storytimes, which provide a wonderful opportunity to sing, listen, and play at the library.

For more information about summer reading programs, contact your local LINCC library. Start dates for the summer reading programs and library hours vary. For library locations and hours, visit lincc.org.

Backyard Debris Burning How To Do It Safely

May was Wildfire Awareness Month, and the ideal time to reduce the excess vegetation around your home that could pose a wildfire threat. As you begin spring clean-up, Keep Oregon Green, the Oregon Department of Forestry, and the Oregon Office of State Fire Marshal urge you to consider chipping or recycling your yard debris. If burning is the only option to dispose of woody material, fire officials urge landowners to follow safe burning practices.

"If you do burn your debris, use common sense and follow safety rules," says State Fire Marshal Jim Walker.

"This can prevent most debris burn-caused wildfires, and keep lives and property safe."

An abnormally dry winter and dismal spring snowpack has set the stage for what is predicted to be a severe wildfire season ahead. Escaped debris burns are the leading humancaused wildfire issue in Oregon, particularly in the shoulder seasons when people think it is safe and permissible to burn. The Oregon Department of Forestry spent over $280,000 in 2014 on fires caused by escaped debris burning.

A burn pile is less likely to escape control by following some simple safety tips:

- Call before you burn Burning regulations are not the same in all areas and can vary with the weather and fuel conditions. If you're planning to burn, check with your local Oregon Department of Forestry district, fire protective association or air protection authority to learn if there are any current burning restrictions or regulations, and whether a permit is required.
- Know the weather forecast Never burn on dry or windy days. These conditions make it easy for open burning to spread out of control.
- Clear a 10-foot radius around your pile also make sure there are no tree branches or power lines above.
- Keep your burn pile small A large burn may cast hot embers long distances. Small piles, 4x4 feet in dimension, are recommended. Add debris in small amounts as existing material is consumed.
- Always have water and fire tools on site When burning, have a charged water hose, bucket of water, and shovel and dirt nearby to extinguish the fire. Drown the pile with water, stir the coals, and drown again, repeating until the fire is DEAD out.
- Stay with the fire until it is completely out Monitoring a debris burn continually from start to finish until dead out is required by state law, to ensure that any escaped sparks or embers can be extinguished quickly. Go back and recheck old burn piles, as they can retain heat for several weeks and rekindle when the weather warms and wind begins to blow.
- NEVER use gasoline or other accelerants (flammable or combustible liquids) to start or increase your open fire. Every year, 55-60 percent of all burns treated at the Oregon Burn Center in Portland are the result of backyard debris burning.
- Burn ONLY yard debris State regulations prohibit the open burning of any material that creates dense smoke or noxious odors.
- Escaped debris burns are costly State law requires the proper clearing, building, attending and extinguishing

Whether you have Welsh heritage or not, you will be very welcome at this authentic Celtic cultural event.

It is indeed a pleasure to listen to four-part hymn singing, which had its origin and early development among the Cymry - or as the English call them - the Welsh. In Wales, the small village chapels nestled in the lovely green valleys were centers of religious and social life. After services, the Welsh would linger in chapel to practice old hymns and learn new ones. This tradition continues at Bryn Seion Welsh Church in Beavercreek, Oregon. This church was built in 1884 by Welsh immigrants and is still active today. Old group photos on the church walls reveal the church's earlier days and may even include images of your ancestors. People come from all over the Northwest for this song festival, so come early to get a seat inside. The chapel will be crowded at the 2:00 PM session, but there is always plenty of room inside at the 6:00 PM session. It will be a full day and you can attend any or all of the activities. Some outdoor seating is provided, but there are no reserved seats.

Everyone is encouraged to participate in the singing.

The mission of Bryn Seion Welsh Church is to serve God and the community in accordance with the gospel of Jesus Christ, while preserving the Welsh heritage of the region.

Church services are held at Bryn Seion every 2nd and 4th Sunday of the month at 11:00 AM, with Bible Study at 9:30 AM. 22132 S. Kamrath Road • Beavercreek, Oregon plants with delicate blossoms, to large plants with sturdy flowers. Some wildflowers have foliage with barely noticeable flowers! Each are beautiful in their own way, but beware, not all wildflowers are native to this area. In fact, wildflowers that are not native to our area can be an invasive species. These plants can take over and crowd out the wildflowers that are actually native to our area. Even wildflower seed mixes may contain seeds for plants that are not native to our area.

How can you tell?

Figuring out what plants are native to our area may not be as difficult as you may imagine. There are resources on the Internet that will guide you to wildflowers that are native to your area, no matter where you live! Check out the Lady Bird Johnson Wildflower Center website. Here you will find information about native plants and a link to the native plant database. Use this database to identify wildflowers or select wildflowers that are native to your area. Once you identify what plants you want to grow, use the Native Seed Network from Corvallis to locate sources for native wildflower seed.

Clackamas County Unveils Proposed FY 2015-16 Budget

Clackamas County Administrator Don Krupp today unveiled a fiscal year 2015-16 proposed budget of approximately $677.4 million and an all-funds proposed budget – encompassing other county agencies and service districts – of approximately $933.5 million.

The proposed budget reflects property tax growth of about $7 million (including the existing Public Safety levy). Property taxes are the largest revenue source for the county's General Fund and provide the largest source of discretionary revenue.

The Administrator's Budget Message indentified several important goals for the coming fiscal year which begins July 1. Those include:

- Continuing development and alignment of departmental strategic business plans to Performance Clackamas, the county's outcome-based strategic plan.
- Continued outreach about the County's road maintenance funding situation.
- Developing and implementing a plan for addressing deferred maintenance of County facilities.
- Ensuring careful oversight and stewardship of General Fund resources even as the financial climate and property tax revenues stabilize and improve.

CCC Students Join All Oregon Academic Team

Clackamas Community College students Matt Elyea and Natalia Meekins were honored at the annual All Oregon Academic Team luncheon in Salem in May. Students from the State's 17 community colleges participated in the annual event sponsored by the Oregon Community College Association.

Each community college nominates two outstanding students for the team, who are recognized for their academic achievements and community involvement. They are students who have earned the respect of fellow students, staff and faculty. Each member of the team receives a scholarship to an Oregon four-year college or university to continue their education.

Students were recognized in an event and luncheon at the Salem Conference Center and then met with Gov. Kate Brown at the Oregon State Capital.

CCC is proud to recognize its All Oregon Academic Team members of 2015.

Matt Elyea of Canby is a returning student who served in the U.S. Air Force and has worked in health care. He is studying exercise science and plans to transfer to Pacific University to earn his bachelor's degree. He maintains a 4.0 grade point average while serving as a tutor and teaching assistant in science courses, coaching youth soccer and participating in the Veterans Club. He has received the Dean's Award for Excellence in Science, is on the Honor Roll and a member of Phi Theta Kappa, the honor society for students at two-year colleges.

Natalia Meekins, 20, of Canby is studying biology at CCC. She plans to transfer to Portland State University where she will study pre-pharmacy with the goal of becoming a pharmacist. She volunteers at her local library. Meekins is a member of Phi Theta Kappa and received the CCC La Salle Foundation Scholarship.

State Revokes License of Salem Investment Advisor

The Oregon Department of Consumer and Business Services, Division of Finance and Corporate Securities has revoked the State investment advisor licenses of Kevin Winder of Salem and his business, Invest Northwest, for unethical business practices. Winder sold unregistered securities, misled investors, and used client funds for personal gain. The division also ordered repayment of approximately $830,000 to investors.

Winder and Invest Northwest have been fined $120,000, $10,000 of which is due within 60 days. If the $830,000 is repaid to investors within three years, the remainder of the fine will be waived.

Beginning in 2012, Winder advised clients who were retired or nearing retirement to withdraw money from their pensions and deposit it into a self-directed individual retirement account that Winder could access. Winder told clients he would use this money to invest in real estate backed securities; instead, investment funds were used to fund RW's Trucking & Hauling, a company that Winder partially owned. Winder then issued unsecured promissory notes.

In addition to issuing unregistered securities and misusing investment funds, Winder misled clients and failed to disclose his outside business activities and potential risks to investors when advising them. He also failed to act in the best interest of his clients by recommending investments that he had no reasonable reason to believe would be appropriate for his clients.

"This case is a perfect example of why it is so important to ask questions when investing," said David Tatman, division administrator. "Don't be afraid to ask questions and to ask for answers and explanations in writing. If something doesn't seem right, or if it sounds too good to be true, don't hesitate to get a second opinion. Investors can easily check and verify information by contacting our office or going online."

Information about licensing, registration, and enforcement history for individuals and companies can be found on the division website at dfcs.oregon.gov/consumer_info/before you invest.html or by calling 866-814-9710.

National Safe Boating Week was held in May and the Marine Board wants to remind everyone who plans to venture out on our gorgeous and pristine waterways to:

- Plan ahead (know where you're going to put in and take out.)

- With low water, keep a sharp lookout for rocks, shoals, stumps, and other objects that are usually submerged.

'White Zombie' Electric Car Presentation is June 5 at CCC

Electrical vehicle expert John Wayland will be showcasing his record-breaking electric 1972 Datsun, "White Zombie," at Clackamas Community College on Friday, June 5. This car is one of the fastest street-legal electric cars in the world and can travel up to 120 miles per hour at freeway speeds.

Wayland will give a one-hour presentation on the history of the "White Zombie" electric car starting at 10 a.m. in CCC's Barlow Hall, room 109. After the presentation, the car will be on display in the Automotive Services Technology shop in Barlow Hall until 2 p.m.

John Wayland "Plasma Boy" is an electric vehicle expert with more than three decades of hands-on experience in designing, building and racing high-performance electric vehicles. He is also the creator of the website "Plasma Boy Racing." In 2007, Wayland and his "White Zombie" electric car were featured in "Car and Driver" magazine. This event is open to the public, and there is no cost to attend.

Inici Group to Manage Bond Projects

The Clackamas Community College Board of Education in May approved hiring the Inici group to provide project coordination/project management services for bond related work. The Inici group was selected following a competitive bid process. Six firms submitted proposals based on the college's Request for Qualifications in February. The college interviewed three firms before selecting the Inici group.

Voters in the college district approved a $90 million bond measure in November that will be used to build four new buildings, update and expand college classrooms and labs and modernize equipment to meet current industry standards.

The Inici group will guide the college through the complex process of building design and construction and will ensure that projects are completed on time and on budget. Inici will also help college staff prioritize the large deferred maintenance list to determine which projects are top priority for this bond cycle. The Inici group has provided project management services for multiple projects in the Northwest including Tri-Met, the Port of Portland and Pacific University.

Prevent Your Campfire From Turning Into A Wildfire

Sitting around a campfire is one of the special times we all enjoy, but campfires are also a major cause of wildfires. May was Wildfire Awareness Month, and Keep Oregon camp stoves.

- Select the right spot Where campfires are allowed, avoid building the fire near your tent, structures, vehicles, shrubs and trees, and be aware of low-hanging branches overhead. Clear the site down to mineral soil, at least five feet on all sides, and circle your campfire site with rocks. Store your unused firewood a good distance from the fire.
- Keep your campfire small A campfire is less likely to escape control if it is kept small. A large fire may cast hot embers long distances. Add firewood in small amounts as existing material is consumed.
- Attend your campfire at all times A campfire left unattended for only a few minutes can grow into a costly, damaging wildfire. Staying with your campfire from start to finish until dead out is required by state law, to ensure that any escaped sparks or embers can be extinguished quickly.
- NEVER use gasoline or other accelerants (flammable or combustible liquids) to start or increase your campfire.

College and Fire District Join in Training Partnership

Clackamas Community College and Clackamas County Fire District #1 have joined in a training partnership. The two entities recently signed an intergovernmental agreement that enables the fire district to use college campuses at Oregon City and Harmony to provide training to firefighters.

CCFD #1 responds to a variety of emergencies in its service districts including emergency medical, fire and disaster, hazardous materials, water rescue, motor vehicle accidents and wildland fire. The district provides ongoing training and skills training to firefighters.

Under the agreement with CCC, the fire district will conduct trainings at either the Harmony Community Campus or at the Oregon City campus near the Environmental Learning Center. Some classroom instruction takes place in modular classrooms at Harmony.

The agreement has benefits for CCC. The fire district recently donated a used ambulance to the college that will be used in the college's Emergency Medical Technical program. "We use a lot of apparatus that needs to be retired at some point. The college had a need for a more modern ambulance. It just seemed like a good fit," said Mark Webster, North Battalion training officer for the fire district.

The partnership will also give students in the EMT program at the college the chance to ride along with the fire district crews, enhancing the learning experience. And the fire district has been turning to the college for classes that can lead to advancement for firefighters.

5-Day-Old Baby Goat Stolen From Pasture

On May 23, 2015 shortly after 12:00 PM, a 5-day-old baby male goat was stolen from a property on S Holly Lane in unincorporated Oregon City. Clackamas County Sheriff's Office (CCSO) Deputies learned the baby goat was with his mother in a front pasture while the homeowner was inside for a short period of time. When the homeowner returned to the pasture, she discovered the baby goat missing and its mother desperately pacing the fence line.

The baby goat was named Harry Truman after the late lodge owner at the time of Mount St. Helens' eruption. Neighbors assisted with searching for Harry Truman on and around the property. Harry Truman's mother, Lola, is currently being supported by her favorite horse while she awaits her son's return. Lola is a pygmy-angora mix goat and the father was a pygmy goat.

Editor's Note: In case you did not hear... Harry's Baaack! He was returned and placed in a shed on the property where his owner heard him bleating loudly (I think he was probably hungry!) After the harrowing experience mom and "kid" are doing nicely thank you very much!.

The Hamlet Needs Your Help!

The Hamlet could use some help in replacing the fence at the Korner Park in downtown Beavercreek.

If you could spare some time to assist, the Hamlet would really appreciate it. For more information, please call 503-632-3552. THANK YOU!!!

The May meeting of the Hamlet of Beavercreek was held at the Beavercreek Grange, located at 22041 S. Kamrath Road on Wednesday, May 27, 2015.

The meeting was called to order at 7:00 p.m.

The guest speaker for the evening was Amy Kim, the State of Oregon Water Resources Department, Watermaster for District 20 (NW Region). Amy provided a PowerPoint presentation explaining water rights and how and when they are needed, exemptions to required rights and code enforcement. Amy welcomed questions and encouraged a telephone call anytime you have a question regarding water above or below ground at 503-722-1410.

The 100th member of The Hamlet of Beavercreek's Meet Up website, Amy Conn, was congratulated and offered a gift from the Hamlet.

Secretary, Joan Martinez, read the highlights of the April 22, 2015, Hamlet meeting minutes.

There were three land use application decisions reviewed and discussed.

Treasurer, Cheryl Boffard, gave the Treasurer's report. Corresponding Secretary, Christine Kosinski, gave a report on local development, transportation and services.

Under old business, it was reported that a letter has been sent to the Principal of the Beavercreek Grade School sharing citizens' concerns regarding the parking of Yeoman road during activities.

Under new business, Vice Chair, Bill Merchant, gave an update on the Korner Park maintenance and requested volunteers to help with the replacement of the split rail fence. Bill also shared a map from the County indicating this year's road maintenance schedule and roads. Bill reported that he is officially a member of the Region 1 ACT Committee.

Under other business, Claire Kellogg provided an update on the construction of the new library building. Cheryl Boffard gave an update on the Flea Market and Craft Sale scheduled for July 18th at the Korner Park. Norm Andreen gave an update on the "Stars in the Park" Concert scheduled for August 14th at the Korner Park.

The next Hamlet meeting is scheduled for Wednesday, June 24th, at 7:00 p.m. at the Grange and the guest speakers are Joe Maresh, Portland Metro Beekeeping Association and the Clackamas Fire District #1 on wildfire prevention.

After the raffle prizes were awarded, the meeting was adjourned at 8:30 p.m.

Everyone is encouraged to attend the monthly Hamlet Community meetings and the quarterly Town Hall meetings to participate and share ideas and concerns on the issues pertinent to our community. Members 18 years of age and older who live, own a business, or property within the Hamlet area may vote on Hamlet issues. The Hamlet of Beavercreek Boundary Map is located online at http://goo.gl/maps/Vr5w1.

The Community meetings take place on the fourth Wednesday of the month at the Beavercreek Grange on Kamrath Rd at 7:00 p.m. The Town Hall Meetings will occur every quarter. For more information, please call the Hamlet Information Line at 503-632-8370 or visit the Hamlet web site at http://HamletOfBeavercreek.org.

Our 4 Legged Friends

My Name is "CASEY" and I'm available for Adoption!

Hello... my name is "Casey" and I'm available for adoption. I'm a Pit Bull.

I'm an 11 year old spayed female and I weigh approximately 60 to 100 lbs. As you can see I'm tan and white in color with folded ears.

Here is what I have to say for myself!

"Casey here. I'm a lovely senior girl with a shy quiet demeanor. I love attention and good pats on the head. I really want to be a lap dog. It's just that I'm a big, big lap dog. I would love a family that would help me get more exercise, so I can trim down a bit. I love playing in a kiddie pool, so maybe swimming could be our thing. I'm a sweetheart and all I need is for you to love me! I will return that love with a lifetime of devotion".

For more information on me or other dogs available for adoption, please call the shelter at 503-655-8628 or come by for a visit and a little one-on-one. You can also see us at the Clackamas County Dog Control website at:

http://www.clackamas.us/k9man/adoptpet.jsp

The shelter is located at 13141 S.E. Hwy 212 in Clackamas, Oregon. I'm available from 11:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., Tuesday thru Saturday. I'd sure love to get the chance to meet you. "CASEY"

See you next month...
The Editor!
