Oregon City Children's Theatre Production of Madeline & the Gypsies Held at the Beavercreek Grange

The month of February was a busy one at the Beavercreek Grange. The Oregon City Children's Theatre (OCCT) performed their production of "Madeline & the Gypsies" with five evening shows and two Saturday matinees.

The turnout from the community was heart warming and the performances were well received.

The Grange has entered into an agreement with the theatre to allow the group to use their facilities until such time as they can acquire a new permanent location.

In addition to the play, the group also had a Murder Mystery Dinner in the month of February which was a fundraiser for the group. This event was also well attended. Since the event was well received, there may be more Murder Mystery dinners in the future.

During the play, members of the Beavercreek Grange served a polish dog meal complete with choice of drink, home-baked peanut butter or chocolate chip cookie and chips. Attendees could also order items a la carte if they wished.

The next production of the organization will be "Fairy Tale Rock: Briar Rose." An original adaptation written by Michelle Leigh and Beth Dodge. Fairytale Rock is to be the first of a planned annual series of outdoor performances at the Beaver Creek Cooperative Telephone Company located at 15223 S. Henrici Rd., Oregon City, OR. "Fairy Tale Rock: Briar Rose" is scheduled to be performed June 16, 17, 18, 23, and 24 at 7:00 p.m. with matinees on the 18th and 25th at 1:00 p.m. More information will be available in future publications.

to submit their application. Do not miss this great opportunity!

The goal is to assist college students majoring in the field of agriculture (including horticulture), natural resource science or a related discipline. With the cost of education skyrocketing, the Clackamas Soil and Water Conservation District board feels strongly about supporting future conservation professionals.

Students may apply the scholarship money toward receiving an associates, bachelor or graduate degree. To be eligible, students must have graduated from a Clackamas County high school or currently reside in Clackamas County. Applicants must have completed their freshman year and will be considered a sophomore or higher in fall 2016 to be eligible for the award!

How Can You Help Prevent Carbon Monoxide (CO) Poisoning?

First, install a CO alarm that meets the requirements of the current UL 2034 safety standard. A CO alarm can provide some added protection, but it is no substitute for proper use and upkeep of appliances that can produce CO. Install a CO alarm in the hallway near every separate sleeping area of the home. Make sure the alarm cannot be covered up by furniture or draperies.

If the alarm signal sounds on your CO alarm do not try to find the source of the CO:

- Immediately move outside to fresh air.
- Call your emergency services, fire department, or 911.
- Do not go back inside until the emergency services responders have given you permission.

DO'S and DON'T'S

- Do have your heating system, water heater and any other gas, oil, or coal burning appliances serviced by a qualified technician every year.
- Do install a battery operated or battery back-up CO detector in your home and check or replace the battery when you change the time on your clocks each spring and fall. If the detector sounds leave your home immediately and call 911.
- Do seek prompt medical attention if you suspect CO poisoning and are feeling dizzy, light headed, or nauseous.
- Don't use a generator charcoal grill, comp stove, or other gasoline or charcoal burning device inside your home, basement, or garage or near a window.
- Don't run a car or truck inside a garage attached to your house, even if you leave the door open.
- Don't burn anything in a stove or fireplace that isn't vented.
- Don't heat your house with a gas oven

State Places Oregon Health Insurer Under Supervision

The Oregon Department of Consumer and Business Services, Division of Financial Regulation has announced that it has issued an order of supervision to Moda Health Plan, Inc., because of concerns over its financial condition. At the same time, the department will begin working with Moda to transfer its individual market plans to another carrier.

An order of supervision allows the department to have a representative on site and in control of all financial decisions to ensure that consumers are protected. The order prohibits Moda from issuing new policies or renewing current policies in the individual market, and from adding new groups. The order also requires the company to obtain sufficient capital and present a business plan to DCBS that clearly demonstrates that it can operate in sound financial condition going forward. The supervision order is available at http://www.cbs.state.or.us/external/ins/admin_actions/actions_2016/insurer_2016/financial_2016/other_2016/16-13-001.pdf.

The department took this action because of Moda's excessive operating losses and inadequate capital and surplus. Capital and surplus is the amount a company's assets exceed its liabilities. The required minimum increases as the company assumes more insurance risk.

"Our primary goal is to ensure consumers are protected," said Patrick Allen, director of the Department of Consumer and Business Services. "We will continue to work closely with the company to find a sustainable path going forward while minimizing risk to consumers."

DCBS advises consumers still shopping for plans to choose a carrier other than Moda. In the event that Oregonians already enrolled with Moda need to switch plans, there will be a special enrollment period. In the meantime, Moda policyholders can continue to access medical services and get their claims paid.

DCBS, which also runs the Oregon Health Insurance Marketplace, will keep Moda customers apprised of new developments and actions they may need to take.

As of Sept. 30, 2015, Moda enrolled a total of about 244,000 Oregonians in the commercial market, including 95,000 in the individual market, 16,000 in the small group market, and 129,000 in the large group market. Moda also has members in the associations and trusts market.

Eastern Oregon CCO, which serves Oregon Medicaid members and is owned by Moda, serves 48,000 Medicaid members. No one on Medicaid is losing coverage.

The Oregon Health Authority is also working with the Public Employees' Benefit Board and Oregon Educators Benefit Board partners to minimize any potential impacts to their members. There are 1,100 PEBB members and 42,000 OEBB members enrolled in Moda health plans.

Consumers with questions should call the DCBS Division of Financial Regulation's consumer advocates at 1-888-877-4894 (toll-free). Staff will be available to answer calls until 8 p.m. More information can be found on the division's website at <http://www.oregon.gov/DCBS/Insurance/insurers/regulation/Pages/moda-faqs.aspx>.

Oregonians Reminded to Claim Their Kickers

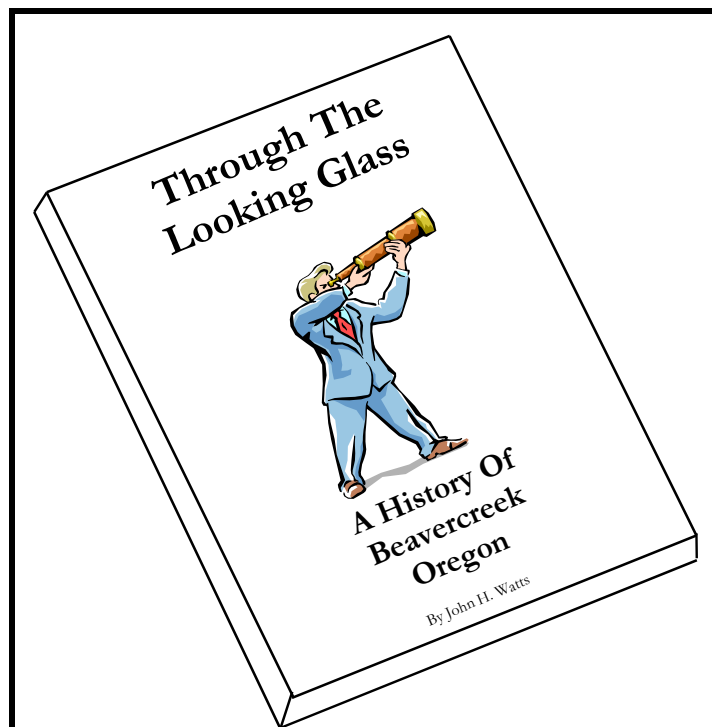

Tax return filing season is open and the Oregon Department of Revenue wants to remind you to claim your tax surplus credit, or "kicker," on your 2015 personal income tax returns.

The credit is how the State is returning a more than $402 million tax surplus to eligible Oregon taxpayers. There won't be any kicker checks issued as there have been in the past.

We've launched What's My Kicker, a new online tool that calculates your credit amount based on information from the 2014 Oregon tax return you filed. All you need to enter is your Social Security number or individual taxpayer identification number (ITIN), last name, and filing statuses for 2014 and 2015. Visit www.oregon.gov/dor and click on the "What's My Kicker" link. You can only use this tool if your 2014 and 2015 filing statuses are the same.

If your filing statuses are different, you can calculate the amount of your credit by multiplying your 2014 tax liability before any credits, except credits for taxes paid to other States, by 5.6 percent.

You're eligible to claim the credit if you filed a 2014 Oregon tax return and had tax due before credits. Even if you don't have a filing obligation for 2015, you still have to file a 2015 Oregon tax return to claim your credit. The State

More Than 147,000 Sign Up For Health Insurance in Oregon

More than 147,000 Oregonians signed up for health insurance through HealthCare.gov during the open enrollment period that ended Jan. 31.

Enrollment for 2016 is about 31 percent higher than last year, when about 112,000 people signed up. Oregon had the largest rate of increase in enrollment of any State that uses HealthCare.gov. Seven out of 10 of those who enrolled this year are receiving tax credits averaging $256 per month to help pay for premiums.

"We are encouraged that so many Oregonians were able to sign up and take advantage of financial help. Signing up is an important first step toward getting the care you need," said Patrick Allen, director of the Department of Consumer and Business Services (DCBS). "As a next step, consumers should familiarize themselves with their plans. If you have questions about what doctors, services, and drugs are covered, you can always call your insurer."

It's also important to report any life changes to HealthCare.gov as soon as possible. Changes in income, number of family members covered, or getting other coverage can affect the coverage or financial help you're eligible for.

Those who missed open enrollment may still be able to get covered. If they experience a qualifying life event, such as getting married, having a baby, or losing health coverage, they can apply for a special enrollment period through HealthCare.gov.

Many low-income Oregonians are also eligible for free or low-cost coverage through the Oregon Health Plan, Oregon's Medicaid program. You can apply for the Oregon Health Plan at any time.

If you're not sure if you qualify for a special enrollment period or the Oregon Health Plan, you can find out by answering a few questions online at <https://www.healthcare.gov/screener/>.

Those without coverage could have to pay a penalty when they file their federal income tax return. The penalty for going without coverage in 2016 is the higher of 2.5 percent of yearly household income or $695 for every adult in your family plus $347.50 for every child under 18.

In early 2016, most Oregonians will receive one or more tax forms -- IRS Form 1095 -- about the health care coverage they had in 2015. These tax forms verify that consumers had the coverage required by the Affordable Care Act.

"If you received tax credits to help you pay for your insurance during 2015, you will need to file a Federal income tax return," Allen said. "You need to reconcile the amount of tax credits you qualified for with what you received. Otherwise you could have to pay back those tax credits back to the federal government."

Some Oregonians may qualify for a health coverage exemption to avoid paying the fee for not having coverage. Exemptions are based on a number of things, such as certain hardships, life events, health coverage or financial

FBI Phone Scam Warning

The FBI is warning Oregonians to be on alert for a phone scam that spoofs the FBI's telephone number on the victim's caller ID. In at least a couple of recent incidents, a caller has claimed that the targeted person has an unpaid ticket or otherwise owes money. The caller claims the person will be arrested if a fine is not paid.

The originating telephone number used by the scammer is "spoofed" -- meaning that it appears as if the call is being made from one of the FBI's Oregon offices.

The FBI reminds the public that the FBI does not call private citizens requesting money. There are a number of ways people with criminal intentions can obtain your name, phone number, or e-mail address. The FBI reminds you to limit the information you freely provide online, including on social media sites. Phone scammers typically use fear, intimidation, and threats to get a victim to send money.

To protect against fraud:

- Never give out personal information to someone you did not initiate contact with.
- Before signing up for a contest or e-mail distribution list, make sure the business has a policy not to share your information or sell it to a third party.
- Be leery of anyone you did not initiate contact with who asks for payment using a third party such as MoneyGram or GreenDot prepaid cards.
- Scammers count on your lack of knowledge, so take the time to educate yourself about any offer you receive.

Clackamas County Board Sets Road Funding Advisory Vote in May

In response to the continuing road funding crisis in Clackamas County, on Feb. 9 the Board of County Commissioners approved placing up to three advisory votes on the May 17 ballot.

The public was invited to comment to Commissioners on the advisory votes at the Feb. 18 weekly Business Meeting at 6 p.m. at the county Public Services Building, fourth floor, 2051 Kaen Road in Oregon City.

The board is proposing advisory votes related to the following options for future possible requests to establish a local source of funding for maintenance of the County's 1,400 miles of roads:

- A countywide $25/vehicle/year, seven-year vehicle registration fee (VRF)

- The combination of a countywide 3-cent gas tax and a $5/vehicle/year VRF for five years; and
- A more general question about voters' understanding on how roads are funded and/or willingness to support a local funding source for roads.

The board is agreed that any options put forward would be for a limited time and would include a list of the specific maintenance and safety projects that would be accomplished with the funds generated.

In order to have one or more measures placed on the May ballot, the ballot questions had to be submitted to the Clackamas County Clerk no later than February 26, 2016. After hearing from the public on February 18, 2016, the board was expected to discuss the advisory questions further at a policy session February 23rd and then take final action at the business meeting on February 25th.

More information about the need for additional funding for road maintenance is available at www.TheRoadAhead.us.

Development Director for the City of Oregon City over the last 6 years and has been with the City for nearly 15 years. During the last six months, Mr. Konkol has served as Oregon City's City Manager Pro-tem, where he was responsible for overseeing the day-to-day operations of all municipal departments and managing personnel.

The City conducted a national search for the City Manager position and received 34 applications for the position, which was narrowed down to 4 by the City Commission. After an extensive three-panel interview process and a public meet and greet where the community was able to ask questions and provide the City Commission their feedback, the candidates were interviewed by the City Commission in a public meeting on Tuesday, January 26, 2016.

"Mr. Konkol has nearly 15 years of governmental experi-performance needed for the position," said Oregon City's Mayor Dan Holladay. "Tony's appointment will provide continuity for major projects like the Willamette Falls Legacy Project and completion of the Cove."

Mr. Konkol states, "I am so excited for the opportunity to work with the City Commission, the dedicated and talented staff and our community to continue to make Oregon City an amazing place to live, work and play. I have had the pleasure to work with many Oregon City residents, committees and organizations over the years and I look forward to continuing these relationships. There are many exciting projects occurring, such as the Carnegie Library addition, the Willamette Falls Legacy Project and Riverwalk and the opportunity to build a new Public Safety Building, that will provide wonderful benefits to the citizens of Oregon City and that I am proud to have the opportunity to be a part of completing."

Hiring an Unlicensed Tax Preparer Can Be Risky

The income tax filing deadline, April 18 this year, is quickly approaching and you may be like many Oregonians: looking for someone to prepare your tax return. If so, make sure that person is properly licensed in Oregon. It's not only a legal requirement for filing returns, but it helps ensure the accuracy of your return and avoid errors that could end up costing you money.

nue's Personal Tax and Compliance Division, recommends checking the credentials of anyone you're considering hiring to do your taxes. In Oregon, anyone you pay to prepare your tax returns must be licensed as a tax practitioner or certified public accountant (CPA).

"If you hire an unlicensed preparer, there's a real risk that they'll make potentially costly mistakes on your return," Martin said.

No matter who does your taxes, even if they're a properly licensed tax professional, you should check your return thoroughly before it's submitted.

"Ultimately, you're responsible for the accuracy of your return. It's up to you to check what's on it before it's sent." Martin said.

In Oregon, anyone getting paid to prepare and file tax returns must have an active tax preparer or CPA license. Visit these websites to find out if the person you want to hire has an active license:

- * www.oregon.gov/OBTP for tax preparers.
- * www.oregon.gov/BOA for Oregon CPAs.
- * www.cpaverify.org for out-of-state CPAs.

You can report unlicensed tax preparers to the Board of Tax Practitioners.

Visit www.oregon.gov/dor to get tax information, check the status of your refund, or make payments. You can also email questions.dor@oregon.gov; call 503-378-4988 in Salem and outside Oregon; or call, toll-free, 800-356-4222. The department receives a lot of phone calls during tax season so you may experience long wait times.

CCC Wins Third Straight

For the third consecutive year, the Clackamas Community College wrestling team won one of the toughest regions in wrestling.

The final tally for the Cougars of 149.5 meant a 40-point margin between themselves and second place Southwestern Oregon. The team had all 10 of its wrestlers enter the semifinal round with eight of those advancing to the finals. The other two, Michael Knoblauch (133) and Brendan Harkey (165), both fought back to take third place. In total, the Cougars' record was 25-4 on the tournament as they qualified all 10 entries for the NJCAA National Championships at the end of the month in Council Bluffs, Iowa.

The eight wrestlers reaching the West Region final is a Clackamas team record. Wrestlers reaching the finals were Devaughn Sapien (125), Zech Bresser (141), Chris Garcia (149), John Leal (157), Tommy Brewster (174), Haszell West (184), John Morin (197) and Brandon Johnson (285). Sapien, Leal, Brewster, West and Morin took individual titles. For his dominant efforts on the mats at 125 lb. weight class, Sapien earned the West Region Outstanding Wrestler award, which is elected by coaches.

"This was a spectacular effort by our team as a whole. We have challenged them all year to continue to get better and they have done exactly that," CCC Wrestling Coach Josh Roden said. "Each week we have improved and these guys are getting what they have earned. As we all know, there is one last test this year and it will be a tough one in a very good environment. We will continue to prepare and ready ourselves to go out and fight until the end. This is a great group of guys and I am excited to watch them compete for a national championship."

Anniversary of Cascadia Earthquake Serves As Reminder To Prepare

316 years ago, more than 100 years before the United States would begin colonizing the area that eventually became Oregon and Washington, a powerful earthquake occurred along the Cascadia subduction zone, a plate that stretches from Vancouver Island, B.C., all the way to California.

The earthquake, which has been estimated to have had a moment magnitude of 8.7 - 9.2, is classified as a "megathrust earthquake" - our planet's most powerful caliber of quake.

Local geologist Scott Burns, Ph.D., is a Red Cross Cascades Region board member who is often called on to discuss the effects of earth-shifting events. "Oregonians are more prepared today than they have been in the past," says Dr. Burns. "But we are far from ready for the effects of shaking, landslides, liquefaction and tsunamis that are sure to occur in the event the Cascadia subduction zone shifts."

Over the past 10,000 years, at least 19 earthquakes have been found on the whole margin from northern California to British Columbia which means a recurrence interval of approximately 500 years. The southern margin of Cascadia south of Newport is more active with a recurrence interval of about 250 years, but quakes are of a lower magnitude in the 7.8 - 8.4 range, according to Dr. Burns. "While we can't predict the precise time and date of the region's next large earthquake, we can take some important precautionary risks of various disasters. The presentation also provides attendees a first-hand look on how to put together a disaster kit and make a plan. To request a presentation, visit www.redcross.org/local/or/preparedness.

steps to prepare for an emergency. It could be another 600 years, or an earthquake could strike tomorrow."

The Red Cross recommends people take the following steps to prepare for an earthquake:

- Practice "drop, cover and hold on" in each safe place. If you do not have sturdy furniture to hold on to, sit on the floor next to an interior wall and cover your head and neck with your arms.
- Keep a flashlight and sturdy shoes by each person's bed in case the earthquake strikes in the middle of the night.
- Bolt and brace water heaters and gas appliances, bookcases, china cabinets and tall furniture to wall studs.
- Learn how to shut off the gas valves in your home and keep a wrench handy for that purpose.
- Keep and maintain an emergency supply kit in an easy-to-access location.

In addition to following these steps, downloading the free Red Cross Emergency App provides a host of information about what to do before, during and after a disaster. The app also provides alerts and notifications regarding natural disasters, information on how to prepare your family and home, and how to find help and let others know you are safe even if the power is out. You can download the app directly from the iTunes or Google Play app stores.

For more information on disaster preparedness, visit <http://rdcrss.org/1Pi6rZl>.

In addition, the Cascades Region offers free emergency preparedness presentations that can be scheduled for any type of organization including schools, faith-based organizations, businesses, government entities, neighborhood associations and nonprofits. Consumers Alerted To Potential Scams

The Oregon Department of Consumer and Business Services (DCBS) urges consumers to protect themselves from potential scams in light of the uncertainty caused by the financial troubles of Moda Health Plan Inc.

DCBS is aware of multiple incidents in which consumers worried about the status of their insurance with Moda receive calls from people who claim to be able to help them. The incidents involve callers who ask for personal information, including Social Security numbers, and who threaten to cut off consumers' coverage if they do not act immediately.

Consumers who receive any such calls about Moda should not provide any of their personal information. It likely is a scam. Decisions have not been made about whether Moda customers will need to find new plans. Communications about such decisions will come from either Moda or the State of Oregon.

To protect consumers and ensure claims are paid, DCBS has assumed control of Moda's financial decisions. The department is working with Moda on a plan to improve its financial condition. Once the plan is finalized, more information will be released.

In the meantime, Moda customers can continue to access services and get their claims paid.

Oregonians who believe they have been a victim of a scam about Moda should contact the Oregon Department of Justice's Consumer Protection Hotline at 503-378-4320 or <http://www.doj.state.or.us/consumer/Pages/hotline.aspx>, or visit OregonConsumer.gov.

Frequently asked questions about Moda health plans are available on the DCBS, Division of Financial Regulation's website at <http://www.oregon.gov/DCBS/Insurance/insurers/regulation/Pages/moda-faqs.aspx>. Consumers are encouraged to regularly check for updates. Consumers may also contact the department's consumer advocates by phone at 888-877-4894 (toll-free) or email at cp.ins@oregon.gov.

Clackamas County Announces Hiring of New Juvenile Department Director

Christina L. McMahan has been hired as Clackamas County Juvenile Department Director.

McMahan brings extensive experience to the position, having led juvenile services programs for Multnomah County since 2011, and for Douglas County prior to that since 2005. She has also worked as a Deputy District Attorney for Marion County and Deschutes County. She holds a law degree from Willamette University College of Law.

The Juvenile Department strives to keep communities safe through restorative services for youth offenders, victims and communities. Using interventions to hold youth meaningfully accountable, department staff teach youth new skills while addressing the harm done to victims and the community.

McMahan also has a strong track record of developing key partnerships with other agencies and groups. Engagement with community partners is central to the success of the Juvenile Department.

"I am excited and honored to have the opportunity to work with the dedicated professionals of the Juvenile Department and the many community partners who contribute to the progress, innovation and success of the juvenile justice system in Clackamas County," said McMahan.

"Christina brings extensive leadership experience and an outstanding track record for developing key partnerships with stakeholders and within the community," said County Administrator Donald Krupp. "I'm confident that she is the ideal choice to expand upon the tradition of excellence and innovation that has been established in our Juvenile Department."

McMahan will succeed director Ellen Crawford, who retired last October after serving the county for 24 years.

McMahan will begin her new role Wednesday, March 9. More on the Juvenile Department can be found on its webpage.

Protect Your Important Documents From Disaster

Keep original documents & copies safe. Preparing your valuables for disaster is less about organizing them, and more about gathering them and deciding where to store them.

You can start by making paper and electronic copies of your important paperwork.

Consider storing copies in a home strong safe deposit box and in your 72 hour kit. An alternative is cloud storage, which makes the digital backup of personal documents. More feasible than ever for the average person.

Popular services, like Dropbox, Amazon Cloud Drive, and Google Drive let you store documents on a remote server network.

Of course, cloud services have their own vulnerabilities. If you do go this route, read the terms and services of the cloud service you choose carefully. Get your year off to a good start and resolve to be ready by making sure that a disaster never takes the papers and mementos that are most important to you.

One of the easiest and most valuable steps you can take now to prepare for disaster is to store copies of important documents and information. Having easy access to copies can help streamline the recovery process. You should consider storing the following:

State Warns Against Using Company Engaged in Mortgage Fraud

The Oregon Department of Consumer and Business Services is warning consumers not to seek loan modification services from Liberty One Mortgage, a California-based unlicensed and unregistered company that has engaged in mortgage fraud.

The department, through its Division of Financial Regulation, has issued two orders requiring Liberty One Mortgage to stop all unlawful activity in Oregon and assessed $30,000 in civil penalties against the company. Liberty One Mortgage induced consumers to send money to the company for loan modification services without providing the services.

"We urge people not to use Liberty One Mortgage for a loan modification because the company will take your money and do nothing for you," said Laura Cali, division administrator. "Loan modification companies must be licensed to offer those services in Oregon. Check with the Division of Financial Regulation first before choosing a company from which to get loan modification help."

On Aug. 20, 2014, the division issued a final order by default against the California-based company for unlicensed activity with a civil penalty of $5,000. Oregon homeowners worked with Justin Williams of Liberty for loan modification services. After the homeowners sent the company $1,500, they had a difficult time reaching the company. Eventually, Liberty stopped all communication with the homeowners, who never received the loan modification.

During the ensuing investigation, the division reached out to its California counterpart, the California Bureau of Real Estate. The California bureau discovered the Studio City, Calif., address the company provided on documentation to the Oregon homeowners was the location of an Indian restaurant. Restaurant employees said they had no knowledge of Liberty. Liberty One Mortgage did not respond to repeated inquiries from the Division of Financial Regulation.

On April 17, 2015, the division received a second complaint involving Liberty. The Oregon homeowners received a solicitation phone call from Liberty in December 2014 and worked with Williams to get a loan modification. After the couple sent more than $8,000 to Liberty, the company stopped all communications. The homeowners contacted the holders of their first and second mortgages, who said Liberty or Williams never contacted them.

Liberty One maintains an active website at www.LibertyOneMortgage.com. The website asks for consumer information, yet provides no contact information for the company.

To check if a company or individual is licensed to do business in Oregon, call the Division of Financial Regulation at 866-814-9710 (toll-free) or 503-378-4140. You can also look up a license at www.dfcs.oregon.gov.

eWIC Makes it Easier For Families to Get Healthful Food

The Women, Infants and Children (WIC) programs of Clackamas, Multnomah and Washington counties are launching a new method for families to get WIC foods. "eWIC" provides families with EBT (electronic benefit transaction) cards, replacing the paper vouchers currently used to get WIC-approved foods such as milk, eggs, produce and baby food.

WIC programs in Linn and Benton counties were the first to pilot this new card, which they started using in September 2015. By the end of 2016, all Oregon counties will use the eWIC cards.

"eWIC will be great because it will make shopping for WIC food benefits more convenient and easier for WIC participants and cashiers," said Julie Aalbers, Clackamas County WIC Manager. "It will also simplify enrollment and participation in the WIC program. The Clackamas County WIC program is really excited to bring eWIC to our community."

Participants can also download a new WICShopper smart phone app that allows them to scan an item's bar code to determine if it is a WIC-allowed food.

In 2014, approximately 200 participating grocery stores across the three counties took in more than $21 million from WIC shoppers.

WIC is one of the most successful, cost-effective and important nutrition intervention programs. In addition to helping families get healthful food, WIC also offers nutrition education classes and breastfeeding support, including peer support groups for moms and their babies.

WIC provides services at 14 locations throughout the tri-county area, serving more than 55,000 low-income pregnant, postpartum and breastfeeding women and their infants and children up to five years old.

Clackamas, Multnomah and Washington County WIC programs all have openings for participants. For eligibility requirements or other information, contact your WIC office directly:

Clackamas County WIC (six locations) started using eWIC on February 1. For more information go to <http://www.clackamas.us/publichealth/wic.html>, e-mail to wic@clackamas.us, or call 503-655-8476.

The February meeting of the Hamlet of Beavercreek was held at the Beavercreek Grange, located at 22041 S. Kamrath Road on Wednesday, February 24, 2016, with 24 guests and members in attendance.

The first guest speaker was Dick Orr, from Beaver Creek Cooperative Telephone Company, who shared events and information for the month of March which includes: Scratch-It tickets - tickets will be available in the front office. Come scratch a ticket to see if you've won. Clear View Security - is also being offered. Clear view provides energy management, home automation, video monitoring and interactive security. TDAP - helps residents who are hearing, vision, speech, or mobility impaired at no cost or income restrictions. Also being offered is the addition of a tablet or hotspot to your wireless plan for $10 per month. Also in March, Store Fronts: mini basketballs and refer a friend to win Trailblazer tickets.

It was also announced that the focus for this year will be developing the community park on Leland Road. It is hoped that by year end the park grounds will have been leveled and the walking path will be improved.

BCT is having a fundraiser at the Oregon City Burgerville between 4:00 p.m. and 7:00 p.m. on March 10th. A percentage of all purchases will be donated to BCT.

Dick also announced that the Annual Backyard Bash will become the "Summer Fest." The focus of the event will change. More information will be available in the near future. Also announced was that there will be an increase in cable rates. More information coming.

The second and third speakers were Kim Swan, Resource Manager and Aaron Dennis, Senior Soil Scientist for Clackamas County who discussed septic systems, their care and function (Septic 101).

There is a concern about the failures of systems and the County is working with customers in the watershed. They made available hand outs on "Water Conservation" and "The Clackamas County Guide to Septic Systems."

Mr. Dennis told those present that 98% of the water that goes into the drain field comes from the bathroom. Even with the newer water efficient products consumption is about the same as 30 years ago because houses have on average 4 bathrooms, larger tubs and bigger showers.

Septic systems typically cost $8,000 to $15,000. It pays to take care of them so that they will last a long time (up to 50 years) the average is 30 years.

Warnings were given about flushing medications and other items down the toilet. They eventually end up in our drinking water as do nitrates and other chemicals including the antibacterial element of antibacterial shampoo. It was suggested to put food scraps in the compost unless you plan to pump your tank more often. Once the solids and soap scum in the tank get to a certain point the liquids cannot remain in the tank for the required two days and start to go into the drain field too soon which causes hyper saturation. The drain field becomes soggy and the liquids are not absorbed as needed. This can lead to backups.

Also, do not drive or put weight on the drain field as this can compact the soil around the leach lines which cause the system not to drain properly.

Leaky toilets are the worst culprit for over saturating the drain field. Sometimes you cannot hear your toilet running as it leaks. Put food coloring in your tank and wait 15 minutes. If the food coloring shows up in the bowl you have a leak. A toilet can easily leak 200 gallons/day. Not only is this bad for the drain field, but it doesn't do you wallet any good either.

For technical assistance with your septic system go to the Clackamas County Water Environment Services located at 150 S. Beavercreek Road next to the Planning Department from 7:30 a.m. - 5:30 p.m. Their phone number is 503-742-4567.

There were two land use applications before those present. Both were forwarded to the County with no comment. The first was renewal for a level 3 Home Occupation Permit for a Dump Truck business on Levi Road the other was for a Temporary Dwelling for Care on Henrici Road.

There were also three land use decisions which all came back from the County approved with conditions.

Various reports were given including the Treasurer's report and a report by Norm Andreen regarding the code enforcement process that the County Planning Commission will be visiting in the near future.

Get Essential Gardening Tips at Garden Discovery Day!

In Clackamas County, OSU Extension Master Gardeners™ offer free gardening advice year-round by phone, over the Internet, and in person during the summer at area farmers' markets. Among all the educational offerings, the crowd-favorite continues to be Garden Discovery Day. In its seventh year, Garden Discovery Day will take place from 9 am to noon on March 5, 2016 at the Milwaukie Center, 5440 Kellogg Creek Drive, Milwaukie.

Garden Discovery Day is designed to help home gardeners jumpstart the growing season! At this event, Clackamas County Master Gardener services will be available in one place. Want to learn something new? Choose from 12 short classes (25-minutes each), packed full of practical, proven gardening tips. Have other gardening questions? Visit the Master Gardener clinic for help. Educational displays and free handouts offer information about common gardening practices, such as how to amend and improve soil, how to manage moles and gophers, and how to identify common bugs in the garden. For a full schedule of this event, visit www.cmastergardeners.org

This year's classes will appeal to new gardeners as well as those with more experience. For example, new gardeners interested in edible plants will likely find "Starting Your Vegetable Garden," "Raised Bed Gardening," "Growing Blueberries" and "Growing Tomatoes" helpful. Seasoned gardeners may glean new ideas from "Pruning Ornamental Plants," "Landscaping with Edible Plants" and "Lawn Care." No space? No problem! "Container Gardening" shows how to create a healthy and attractive mini-garden! Or try "Attracting Pollinators and Mason Bees" for strategies to garden in harmony with nature and wildlife. Of course, all gardeners will benefit from a review of "Top Ten Weeds to Know" and "Managing Slugs and Snails" before venturing out.

Class content focuses on what has been proven by research and each class ends with a short list of actions this spring. Participants take home a handout which succinctly captures key points shared in the class.

In addition to dispensing gardening tips, Master Gardeners will also test your soil pH that morning. Why? Soil pH tells us the acidity (sourness) or alkalinity (sweetness) of our soil which determines if nutrients are available to our plants. In Western Oregon, rain tends to leach out minerals and results in soils that become more acidic.

Be sure to follow step-by-step instructions on how to collect soil sample under the "10-Minute University™" tab at www.cmastergardeners.org. Because plant requirements vary, submit separate samples for your lawn, vegetable garden, rose garden, and perennial bed. Each client may submit up to four soil samples. Even if the weather is cold and wet, don't wait! The sophisticated instruments used by Master Gardeners are not affected by these conditions.

Master Gardeners™ are volunteers trained by Oregon State University in the science of gardening. This free event is offered by OSU Master Gardeners™ of Clackamas County who also put on the annual Spring Garden Fair at the Canby fairground, bringing together 8,000 gardeners and 180 plant and garden-art vendors. Log on to www.cmastergardeners.org for more information about the 32nd Spring Garden Fair, to be held on April 30 and May 1, 2016.

Garden Discovery Day is offered in partnership with the Oregon State University Extension Master Gardener™

Program, North Clackamas Parks and Recreation District and the Milwaukie Center.

Accommodation requests related to a disability should be made by February 20th to Jean Bremer, 503-655-8631, jean.bremer@oregonstate.edu. Our 4 Legged Friends

This will be only the second time in the many years that the Bulletin has been sharing available dogs for adoption that we do not have one.

This is a good thing. It means that the County Dog Shelter does not have any dogs for me to list. Yeah!

Stay tuned for next month. Perhaps we will have a dog in desperate need of a home and some love.

For more information, please call the shelter at 503-655-8628 or come by for a visit. Or go to the website at <http://www.clackamas.us/k9man/adoptpet.jsp>.

The shelter is located at 13141 S.E. Hwy 212 in Clackamas, Oregon.

See you next month...
