Deported Felon Arrested Following Menacing Incident Near Oregon City

Oregon State Police (OSP), with the assistance of Clackamas County Sheriff's Office (CCSO), arrested a 28-year old man on numerous charges related to an investigation that the suspect shot at another vehicle while traveling on Highway 213 off Interstate 205. Subsequent investigation determined a BB gun was used and the suspect was in possession of heroin. Troopers also confirmed the suspect was a deported offender on felony probation out of Multnomah County following a conviction on heroin-related crimes.

On April 9, 2014, at approximately 10:40 p.m., a 21-year old female called OSP Northern Command Center dispatch reporting that ten minutes earlier a man in a silver Ford pickup fired a BB gun, striking the side of her car after she exited southbound Interstate 205 onto Highway 213 in the Oregon City area. For an unknown reason, the Ford pickup almost rear-ended her car as she exited the freeway and pulled along the passenger side. The male passenger in her car yelled "Gun" when he saw the Hispanic male driver in the Ford pickup pointing it at the car. The car's two occupants both said they heard something hit the side of the car after the man shot a BB gun at them.

As an OSP trooper contacted the complainant in a convenience store parking lot off Interstate 205 to obtain information, CCSO called OSP advising they stopped the Ford pickup on Highway 213 near Molalla.

The trooper responded to the CCSO stop location. The detained driver provided a Mexico driver license that was later determined to be fake with a false name and date of birth. Subsequent investigation also led to the discovery of a BB gun in the pickup, approximately 5 grams of suspected heroin, and over $6,600 cash.

The driver was taken into custody and initially transported to the OSP Portland Area Command office. Upon arrival, he admitted the license was fraudulent and purchased to be used as false identification. The suspect provided another name and date of birth that also proved to be false. He said he was deported over 2 years ago and had illegally returned about a month ago.

After lodging the suspect in Clackamas County Jail, fingerprints were taken and run through the Automated Fingerprint Identification System (AFIS). As a result, the suspect was positively identified as DANIEL JIMENEZ-

Oregon State Fair Council Takes Significant Step Forward

Oregon State Fair Council President Gene Derfler and Oregon State Parks Director Lisa Van Laanen have announced the signing of an agreement to initiate the transfer of management and control of the Oregon State Fairgrounds and Exposition Center from the Oregon Parks and Recreation Department to the Oregon State Fair Council. The Parks Department will continue to support the Council as the transition continues.

The Oregon State Fair Council is a public corporation that was created by legislation approved by the Oregon State Legislature and signed into law by Governor Kitzhaber in 2013. Governor Kitzhaber then appointed eleven members to the Council, which held its first meeting in January 2014, and will meet for the fourth time on April 17.

"With the signing of this agreement, the State Fair Council can now officially move forward to fulfill our mission of creating a new sustainable business model for a vibrant and financially stable Oregon State Fair and Exposition Center," said Derfler, a former President of the Oregon State Senate, who was unanimously elected by other Council members to serve as Council President.

The Council is focused on continuing the strong tradition of the Oregon State Fair and creating a business plan for the operation of the Exposition Center. The 149th annual Oregon State Fair will be held at the Oregon State Fairgrounds and Exposition Center from August 22-September 1, 2014.

The Council will continue to work with stakeholders and the community to seek input and participation in shaping the future of the Oregon State Fair and Exposition Center.

Motorcycle Involved Crash Hwy 213 South of Oregon City

A Molalla man was injured Sunday afternoon, April 13th when his motorcycle was involved in a collision with a sport utility vehicle on Highway 213 at the intersection with S. Spangler Road eight miles south of Oregon City. Oregon State Police (OSP) investigation led to a citation being issued to the sport utility vehicle's driver.

On April 13, 2014 at approximately 5:35 p.m., a 1984 Yamaha motorcycle operated by GREGG A. DIX, age 59, from Molalla, was traveling southbound on Highway 213 approaching S. Spangler Road. A 2011 Ford sport utility vehicle driven by BERNARD WRIGHT, age 93, from Beavercreek, was eastbound on S. Spangler Road and pulled across Highway 213 in the motorcyclist's path. The motorcycle crashed into the left side of the sport utility vehicle, ejecting DIX from the motorcycle.

DIX was transported by ambulance to Oregon Health & Science University for treatment of moderate, non-life threatening injuries. He was wearing a protective helmet.

WRIGHT was checked at the scene by paramedics and was not injured. He was cited by OSP for Failure to Obey a Traffic Control Device - Stop Sign.

OSP was assisted at the scene by Clackamas County Sheriff's Office, Canby Fire Department, and ODOT. Recruit Trooper Matthew Schmidt is the lead investigator.

OSP urges motorists and motorcyclists alike to share the road in order to help prevent motorcycle crashes, deaths and injuries. As the weather gets warmer, we all need to be aware that more motorcycles and other vulnerable users (bicycles and pedestrians) will be on or near our roads. Share the responsibility of keeping the roadways safe. Obey and follow traffic control devices, obey speed limits, avoid distractions and stay focused on the road.

battling Oregon wildfires. Timber losses totaled about $370 million, and the fires decimated key fish and wildlife habitats. Homes and outbuildings were destroyed as well.

Wildfires Can Start At Home

Wildfires that occur in the wildland-urban interface often are started by human activity and then spread to the forest. Once underway a fire follows the fuel, whether it is trees or houses.

"Simple prevention strategies will make the strongest impact in keeping your home, family and community safe," said Kristin Babbs, president of the Keep Oregon Green Association.

Spring is the perfect time, she said, to remove dead flammable vegetation and limb up trees around the backyard.

To get an early start on Wildfire Awareness Month, join your neighbors and reduce your community wildfire risk by taking part in National Wildfire Community Preparedness Day on Saturday, May 3. The National Fire Protection Association has teamed up with State Farm Insurance to encourage residents to commit a couple of hours, or the entire day, to help raise wildfire awareness and work together on projects that can help protect homes and entire communities from the threat of wildfire.

"Thousands of Oregonian's lives and homes can be put at risk when a wildfire strikes," reminds Interim Oregon State Fire Marshal Jim Walker. "I encourage everyone to prepare their home and the area around their home before wildfire season begins by checking the websites for Keep Oregon Green and the Oregon Dept. of Forestry."

Wildfire Knows No Season

May is Oregon Wildfire Awareness Month! Please be mindful of the growing potential for wildfires and follow basic fire safety rules and precautions. The heaviest activity is in the summer, but fires occur all seasons of the year including spring. During May, State, local and Federal fire agencies will be spreading the word about wildfire prevention and the steps Oregonians can take to stop most fires before they start.

At Stake: Lives, Property, Forests

When it comes to preventing wildfires, there's a lot at stake - lives, personal property, and the many values provided by Oregon's forests. In 2013, three firefighters died

A Very Good Friday For Clackamas Ducks

Firefighters from Clackamas County Fire District #1 rescued two ducklings from an Oregon City storm drain in the Berry Hill Mall located at the intersection of Beavercreek Road and Highway 213.

A local couple noticed the two ducklings struggle to follow their mother up a parking lot curb, and tumble into the drain. The single fire engine from station 16 was dispatched using a non-emergent line at 9:30 a.m. and used the simple compassion and care located in every Clackamas tool box for the safe recovery of the two wandering ducks.

Clackamas Offers Fitness Technology Certificate Program

With the growing awareness of the nation's obesity epidemic, the fitness industry is a rapidly growing career field. Clackamas Community College is meeting the demand in the field, offering a new Fitness Technology certificate program.

The Fitness Technology certificate will give students the core skills and experience to enter the fitness industry in an entry-level position. Students will gain the knowledge and skills to work toward careers including personal training, nutrition, physical therapy and related positions.

The three-term program includes coursework in health and physical education, as well as math and communication. The program includes cooperative work experience

(CWE) at area health and fitness clubs, providing students with "hands-on" work in the field.

Tracy Nelson, the CCC instructor who developed the Fitness Technology certificate, is working on additional classes that will lead to work as a certified personal trainer, certification as a sports nutritionist through the National Council for Strength and Fitness, and as a certified health coach through the American Council on Exercise.

"This is the first certificate program in the Health and Physical Education program at Clackamas," Nelson said. "We are also working on a two-year degree (in Exercise, Health and Wellness) that will articulate to programs at Concordia and Portland State.

The survey of 400 Clackamas County residents was conducted by random phone sampling between February 27 and March 2.

A community survey has been conducted every two or four years since 2000. Major findings include:

- Respondents indicated higher levels of satisfaction with the County's service delivery, with 54 percent saying the County is on the "right track." That represents an increase from 46 percent in 2012.

- More than three-quarters of residents rate Clackamas County excellent or good in its performance rating.

- Clear majorities believe that roads in their area of the County are in excellent or good condition and do not support paying more for maintenance.

- Top priorities include public safety and in particular the County's readiness to respond to natural disasters, economic development and providing assistance to vulnerable residents.

- Three in four residents (76 percent) have not been limited in their access to County services by the four-day work schedule. In general, those who were limited were unable to obtain needed services and reported having to

Blue Heron Future Topic of College Forum

Oregon City is re-imagining the site of the former Blue Heron Paper Mill for the future. Thousands of area residents have taken part in discussions and surveys about the future of the site, which served for many years as the industrial center of the region.

Clackamas Community College, a key resource for education and training in the community, is an important voice in shaping the future of the college district. CCC and the mill have been linked through decades of history and will continue as the site is re-imagined for future generations.

CCC presented a forum and discussion on the Willamette Falls Legacy Project (WFLP) on Tuesday, April 22, 2014, from 3:00 to 5:00 p.m. in the McLoughlin Auditorium. The WFLP was the featured topic in the college's spring In service gathering. The presentation was originally scheduled for February, but was canceled due to a snowstorm.

CCC President Joanne Truesdell made opening remarks, followed by an overview of the WFLP by Tony Konkol of the city of Oregon City. Mark Garber, president of by the Portland Tribune and Community Newspapers, facilitated a panel discussion about the project.

Participants in the panel included Oregon City Mayor Doug Neeley, Jim Desmond of Metro, Clackamas County Commissioner Martha Schrader, Executive Director Amber Holveck of the Oregon City Chamber of Commerce, and Sandy Carter of the Willamette Falls Heritage Foundation. CCC instructors Jackie Flowers and Andy Mingo will talk about their work documenting the stories of the Blue Heron Paper Mill.

When Blue Heron closed in 2011, CCC played a prominent role in assisting the mill workers who lost their jobs, many of whom spent their entire working lives at the mill.

CCC Plans Community Forums For Bond Input

Clackamas Community College has scheduled three public bond forums in May to share information about a potential $90 million bond measure and seek input on the final proposal. Six forums are planned, two at each of the college's campuses. The events will have morning and evening schedules. The forum schedule follows:

Oregon City Campus, Community Center - 19600 Molalla Avenue, Oregon City
May 1, 5:00 - 7:00 p.m. and May 2, 7:30 - 9:30 a.m.

Harmony Community Campus – lobby -

7738 S.E. Harmony Road, Milwaukie

May 15, 5:00 - 7:00 p.m. and May 16, 7:30 - 9:30 a.m.

Wilsonville Campus – lobby - 29353 SW Town Center Loop E, Wilsonville

May 22, 5:00 - 7:00 p.m. and May 23, 7:30 - 9:30 a.m.

The CCC Board of Education is currently developing the bond proposal. They are expected to finalize the measure and vote to send it to the Nov. 4, 2014, ballot at the July 30 board meeting.

The bond proposal would include projects that were identified as priorities in the college's Imagine Clackamas community engagement process. More than 2,000 students, community members and staff participated in forums and surveys. Their input showed a high level of support for projects that would update and modernize CCC facilities and increase local access to affordable education and job training programs.

The goals of a bond proposal are to expand training and educational opportunities for students to allow them to transfer to four-year programs or obtain family-wage jobs and to contribute to the local economy by offering more programs that fill workforce needs in high-demand fields.

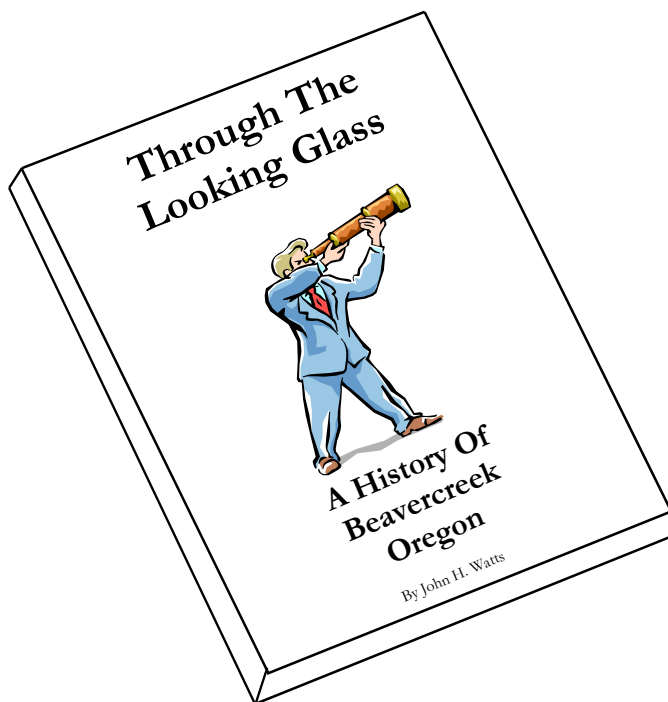

The proposed bond projects would likely include constructing an industrial technical learning center for fields such as electronics, automotive, manufacturing and welding; modernizing equipment for training in high-demand healthcare, science and engineering careers; making improvements to existing facilities; and replacing the aging building at the Harmony Community Campus.

The estimated tax rate of the $90 million bond is expected to maintain the current $.19 per $1,000 currently paid by taxpayers.

Oregon City Police Department Works to Improve Pedestrian Safety

The Oregon City Police Department conducted a Pedestrian Safety Operation on April 29, 2014. This operation was held on Washington St. near 12th St. in Oregon City.

The primary focus of the operation was to raise pedestrian safety awareness. Through the use of a decoy pedestrian, the Oregon City Police Department hoped to raise awareness of the drivers and pedestrians through education and enforcement of the pedestrian right away laws. The operation was conducted between 11:00 a.m. and 3:00 p.m. Warning signs were posted prior to entering the pedestrian safety operation zone.

As a reminder, motorists must stop and yield to pedestrians who are waiting to cross, or are crossing the roadway. Motorists are required to stop at all crosswalks when there is a vehicle already stopped in a lane adjacent to the lane they are traveling in.

are dedicated to enhancing the safety of both the citizens and guests of the city. Funding for the pedestrian safety operation is made possible through a grant from Oregon Impact.

The Hamlet of BEAVERCREEK Spotlight

The April Town Hall Meeting of the Hamlet of Beavercreek took place at the Beavercreek Grange, 22041 S. Kamrath Road, on Wednesday, April 23, 2014, with 24 residents and guests in attendance.

The guest speaker for the evening was Elerina Aldamar from Graves Matter. Graves Matter is a cemetery mapping and consulting service. Ms. Aldamar gave a very interesting presentation regarding our area's historic cemeteries and their history. She discussed the importance of mapping and conserving our cemeteries for the future which includes the preservation of the marble and sandstone monuments that have beautiful hand carved motifs and lettering that is not available today, except in very limited circumstances.

She explained that cemeteries hold our community and cultural history. Graves Matter is available to help communities by helping them to protect and restore their historic cemeteries for future generations. They will come in and assess the cemetery's current condition. They also assist in assessing monument condition and give advice as to how best to preserve them. They also can help with plotting burials of both marked and unmarked graves on maps.

Those in the audience were very interested in this subject and had a lot of questions. There seemed to be a lot of interest in what the company does.

Claire Kellogg, local resident and member of the Oregon City Library Board, gave a presentation and answered questions about the bond measure that will be on the May 20, 2014 ballot to finance the expansion of the Carnegie Library in Oregon City. Although Beavercreek is in the Library's service district, only residents of Oregon City will be voting on the bond measure. This is because the bond debt will be taken on by City of Oregon City and because the Oregon City charter requires voter approval for any indebtedness incurred by the City of Oregon City.

Passage of the bond measure will add no new taxes for Oregon City or Clackamas County residents. The Oregon City Library has been saving the annual payments from the County Library District so it has $3 million put aside which will be added to a $1 million grant that the County has designated for capital improvements to the library building. The library will be built with these funds plus the $6 million from the bonds and an additional $1 million from grants and donations raised by the independent Oregon City Library Foundation. Because of the need for long-term financial stability, the library expansion plans will be modest and will offer efficient services without increasing staff. The March 26, 2014, meeting highlights were read by Secretary, Joan Martinez, and approved by acclamation.

There were no new land use issues this month.

It was shared that two land use decisions have been approved in the last month with conditions. The first, a cell tower on the Trinity Lutheran Church property on Henrici Road. The second, was for the installation of a culvert and stream restoration on Kamrath Road.

It was announced that an Estacada couple is taking their land-use to LUBA. I have written about this application in previous issues.

The Treasurer's report was given and accepted.

Christine Kosinski, Speaker of the Hamlet, gave a report on the ongoing talks between the residents of Holly Lane and the City of Oregon City. They were to meet again the last week of April. After years of Christine's support and education Clackamas County is going to write and enforce landslide and steep slope guidelines. Christine will continue to encourage the City of Oregon City to do the same.

There was no old business.

Hamlets and Villages in Clackamas County May Now Proceed With Elections

The Molalla Prairie Hamlet, an unincorporated community outside the city of Molalla, must pay the county $600 back, because members improperly used the county-provided money to fund litigation with Molalla.

The county commissioners halted in March all elections for the hamlets and villages while the commissioners figured out rules to guide the elections process for the quasi-governmental bodies.

Tuesday, the commissioners lifted the stay. A few communities scheduled elections for the next few months, and are allowed to proceed. During that time, the commissioners are supposed to discuss regulations to ensure the bodies represent the people in the community and they all have access to voting.

"I think we have a responsibility to make sure the elections or the folks there are truly representative of the community which encompass their boundaries," Commissioner Paul Savas said.

He said that because the hamlets and villages receive $2,000 each year from the county, the bodies should be held to high standards of community access and involvement.

The unincorporated parts of Clackamas County are divided into town-like sections, based on geography. The idea behind unifying certain sections of county is to empower residents there to provide feedback to the county commissioners and promote the culture.

Some have grown into robust groups that act closer to city councils than advisory groups, as they were imagined. Often, the commissioners take seriously the suggestions of leaders from these groups, and try to weight their opinions while making decisions.

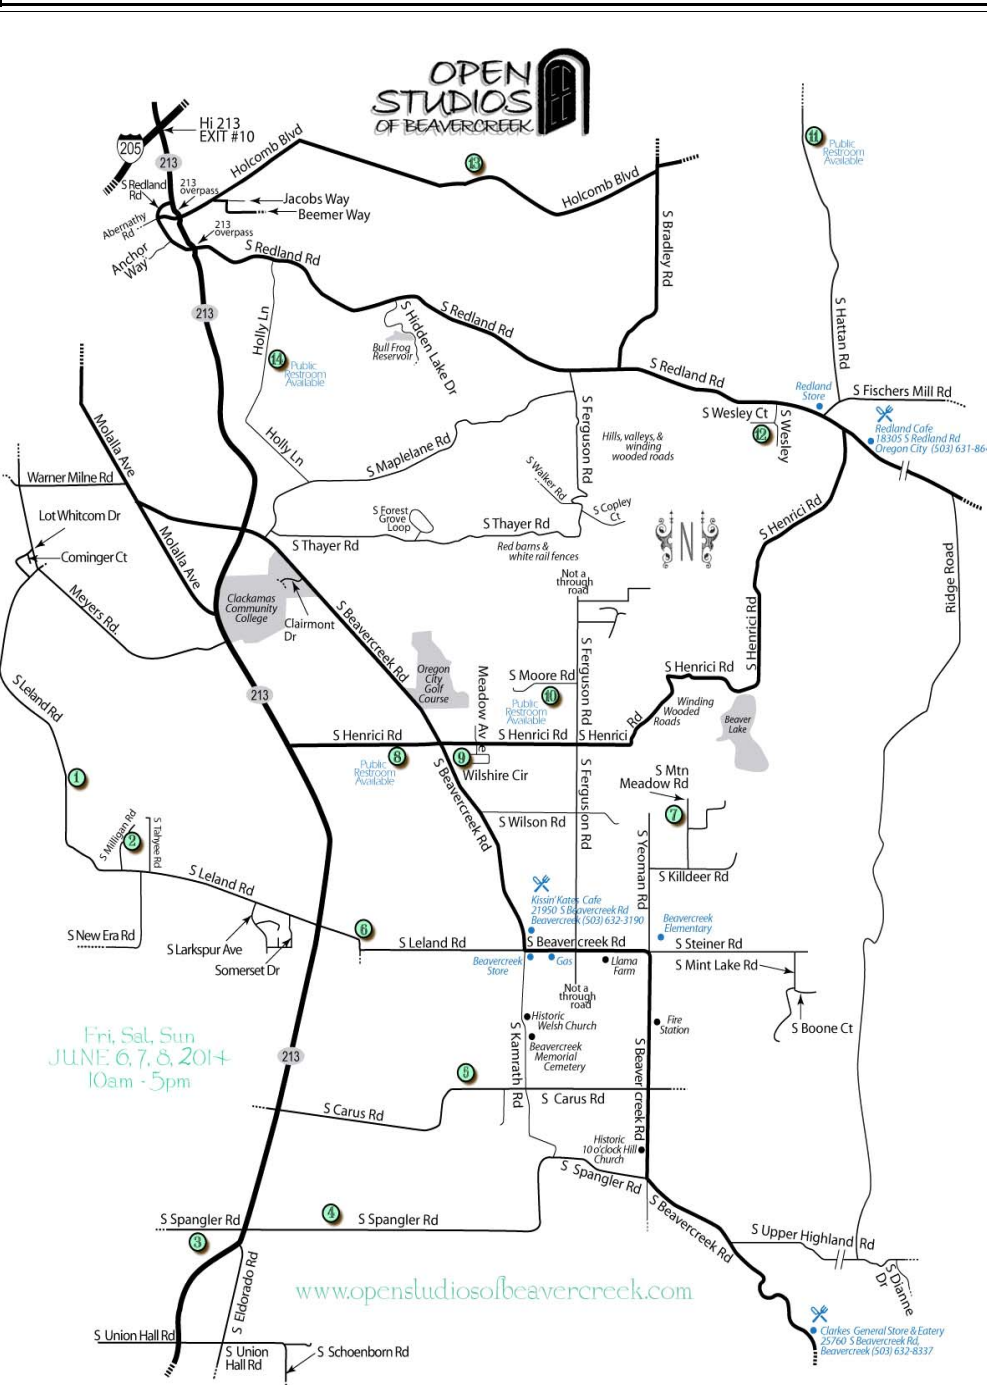

However, the hamlet and village officials do not have any legislative power.

Many of the groups also tend to suffer from low participation. Many operate with just a few loyal members.

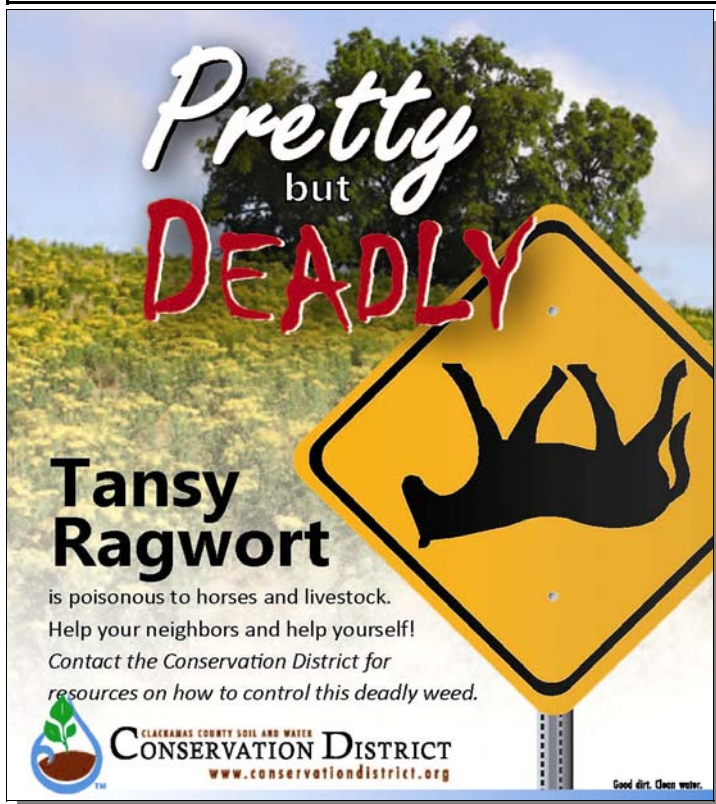

County bylaws do not require a certain number of people to participate, nor formal elections practices. The Clackamas County Elections Office follows strict rules of when notifications of upcoming elections are, and who the candidates are. Hamlet and village elections are not required to follow those rules.

While some have created their own guidelines, the rules are not standard for all the groups.

The issue arose when Commissioner Tootie Smith attempted to keep one woman from being on the ballot for the Molalla Prairie hamlet. The commissioners traditionally approve the nominations, which then go on the ballots for hamlets and villages for election within the community's boundaries. Smith, though, wanted to exclude one woman, saying that many people in Molalla do not like her, she has gotten involved in legal disputes with the city and badmouths both Smith and Ludlow in public.

The hamlet and village leaders rallied behind the woman, Susan Hansen, and denounced Smith's stance, saying elections are part of free speech.

That caused Smith to chastise all the leaders, many of whom attended Tuesday's meeting.

"For the rest of the hamlets to come together in a letter that was extremely defiant in respect to this board, it makes me wonder," said Smith, adding that the leaders are approving Hansen's behavior by saying it is her right to be on the ballot. "You have all bunched yourselves into one category. And if you want to be one category, you can be looked at in one category."

Ludlow also said he would rather Hansen not be allowed to run for a hamlet office, but is willing to approve the slate -- "even with the vile Ms. Hansen," as he called her because of her giving Ludlow and Smith insulting nicknames in OregonLive comments. However, he stipulated that Molalla Prairie should return the $600 used for a lawsuit first.

Gary Schmidt, who oversees the hamlets and villages program, said the hamlet agreed to pay it back and is working on a plan to do so.

The county board has never excluded someone from being a candidate from a hamlet or village board since the groups were created in 2007.

Our 4 Legged Friends

My Name is
 and I'm available for Adoption!

Hello... my name is "Danny" and I'm available for adoption. I'm a Chihuahua/Terrier Mix.

I'm a 10+ year old neutered male and I weigh approximately 10 to 30 lbs. As you can see I'm cream/tan in color with erect ears and a long tail.

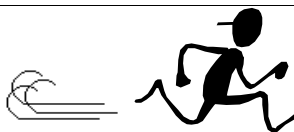

Here is what I have to say for myself!

"Oh, Danny Boy..." I'm so special a song was named after me! Or maybe it's the other way around. No matter what, I am a delightful older gentleman. It's true that I am a senior citizen who needs a little extra loving care. My eyes and ears aren't what they used to be. My funny scruffy coat will be easy to maintain with a quick brushing and occasional bath. I may be a little shy at first, so give me time to get to know you. Soon we will be best friends. Come see me today!"

For more information on me or other dogs available for adoption, please call the shelter at 503-655-8628 or come by for a visit and a little one-on-one. You can also see us at the Clackamas County Dog Control website at:

<http://www.clackamas.us/k9man/adoptpet.jsp>

The shelter is located at 13141 S.E. Hwy 212 in Clackamas, Oregon. I'm available from 12:30 to 4:30 p.m., Thursday thru Monday. I'd sure love to get the chance to meet you. "DANNY"

See you next month...
 The Editor!
