Property Tax Increase of 6% for Beavercreek

Property tax statements were mailed to 171,261 real and personal property owners on October 18th and 19th.

Total 2007-2008 property taxes to be collected for all districts in Clackamas County is $522,305,802, an increase of 10.2% over last year's total of $473,731,087.

Taxes generated from new construction, new money measures approved by the voters, and the required 3% increase in taxable assessed value account for most of the $48.5 million increase in property taxes. A little more than half ($24.6 million) of the increase is the result of new voter approved money measures passed in the November 2006 election.

Most property owners will see their taxes increase more than the 3% resulting from the increase in assessed value required on property under the Measure 50 system. The increases are larger because voters approved 11 new money measures including one new permanent rate, 4 new local option levies, and 6 new bonded debt levies that will be seen on this year's property tax statements in the areas they apply.

Beavercreek will see an increase of 6%. This increase is due to the following:

The County Public Safety Local Option Levy passed by the voters last November added 24.8 cents per $1000.00 of assessed value. This levy will be in existence for 5 years.

The County Soil and Conservation Permanent Rate increase adds another 5 cents per $1000.00 of assessed value. The is a permanent increase and will not go away.

Also, the Oregon City School District Bond Levy went up 13 cents per $1000.00 of assessed value from last year.

One bright spot for the residents of Beavercreek is that if you live in the part of Oregon City within the Metro Urban Growth Boundary you will be paying an additional 16 cents per $1000.00 of assessed value. Those living outside the Metro boundary do not have to pay this. I guess you could say that this is another good reason to keep Beavercreek outside the Metro Urban Growth Boundary.

For public convenience and to answer questions, during November and December, the Assessor's office will be

Canby Woman Victim of Deception by Promise of Gold

On Monday September 24th a 29 year old Canby woman reported that she was scammed out of $1000.00 by two Hispanic males. The woman told police she was shopping in the Canby Fred Meyer, when she was approached by an older Hispanic male.

The older male handed the victim an envelope and asked if she could help him locate a person in the Canby area. The victim told the older male that she could not help him because there was no address on the envelope.

At this time, a younger Hispanic male approached them and the older male asked him the same question. The younger male replied that he could not help because there was not enough information on the envelope.

The older male then told a story of how his uncle had been injured in a traffic accident and was in the hospital. The younger male then opened the envelope and took out a letter and read it. The victim told officers the letter mentioned gold.

The older male then told them that he had located a suitcase full of gold bars at the scene of the traffic crash where his uncle was injured. The older male told the victim he was trying to return the suitcase to the owners and then planned to ask them for money for his uncles medical bills.

The younger male then tells the older male he should sell the gold bars himself and give the money to his uncle since there was no way to locate the owners. The younger male tells the older male that he used to work for Fred Meyer and knew someone in the jewelry department.

The older male agreed to give the younger male a piece of gold to show the jeweler. The younger male then returns a short time later with what appeared to be a large amount of cash in a plastic bag.

The younger male then tells the older male and victim that he was given $10,000 to $15,000 for the gold by Fred Meyer jewelers. The younger male told the older male and victim that the jeweler could not buy anymore gold until 7:00 p.m.

The older male told them that he could not wait that long, so the younger male offered to buy gold from the older male and then return to sell it later.

The younger male convinced the victim to take them to the bank so she could withdraw $1000.00 to purchase some of the gold. The victim took both of the suspects to the Canby Wells Fargo Bank.

According to the victim, the older male waited outside while the younger male came into the bank with her. As they entered the bank, the younger male put on a pair of sunglasses.

After withdrawing the money, the victim returned to Fred Meyer with the suspects. The younger male gave her a phone number and the name "Arturo". He told the victim to return to Fred Meyer at 7:00 p.m. to get the gold.

The victim came to Fred Meyer at 7:00 p.m. and the suspects never returned. She called the phone number and found it went back to a business, not the suspect.

The victim, who is Hispanic herself, was embarrassed and did not know what to do and delayed calling the police.

The victim described the suspects as an older Hispanic

The younger male was described by the victim as being Hispanic, about 35 years old and had light skin. She said he was taller and had a medium build with short brown curly hair. He was wearing a white button down shirt and dark slacks. The victim said he appeared clean and well spoken.

History of the Beavercreek Fire District

This is part III in a series about the history of the Beavercreek Fire District that later merged with Clackamas Fire District #1

In the mid-sixties, Beavercreek and the surrounding areas began to see accelerated growth that was to last ten years before leveling off.

At the same time, the fire service began to get involved in Emergency Medical Services (EMS) which the public quickly learned to make use of and rely on. These two events were to bring about some major changes to the Fire District, and they were to come rapidly.

April 12, 1971, brought with it the arrival of a new 1971 Ford L900/Western States triple combination pumper and no place to put it except in a local barn. This did not last long because in June 1971, a 85,000 dollar bond measure was passed for the purpose of remodeling the fire hall by adding three new bays, living quarters, and a training room. The remodeling was completed a year later.

May 1974, saw the District voters approving a 40,000 dollar tax base. The new base was to help support the Department in upgrading equipment resources and to provide for the hiring of two paid full time men. Jack Crescenzi, an Assistant Chief from Chemult, Oregon was hired to be the District's Chief, and Lindell Sandberg, a fourteen year resident of Beavercreek, was assigned to the Assistant Chief position.

By 1976, there were three paid shift personnel working along side with the two Chiefs.

In March 1975, the two Chiefs along with the volunteers repeated history by building the District's first emergency medical rescue unit using a 1971 Ford pickup chassis and a utility box. To support the rescue unit's operation and function, Chief Crescenzi trained everyone in the Department to be an Emergency Medical Technician.

Two years later, in 1977, the District volunteers went on a fund raising campaign to purchase a newly developed and expensive rescue tool known as the "Jaws of Life". As a result of their efforts, Beavercreek became one of the very first departments in Clackamas County to possess the tool.

On November 1, 1978, The Oregon Insurance Services upgraded the District's fire insurance rating classification from Class 7 to Class 4. This effected residential structures within 1000 feet of a fire hydrant. The reclassification was the product of efforts started three years earlier to improve equipment, personnel, and operating procedures.

Those Cooks at the Grange? Well... They Did It Again!

Sunday, October 14th at 8:00 am. was the beginning of another great breakfast at the Beavercreek Grange on Kamrath Road.

The members of the Grange have always done a fabulous job of cooking a great breakfast for all of us to enjoy.

This year, as always, they rose to the occasion and were ready for us when we showed up to eat to our hearts content. This is after all an "all you can eat breakfast." Where else can you go to eat a breakfast and not have to worry about leaving hungry? All for $6.00... the price can't be beat!

There was a new wrinkle this year. In the past, they had scrambled eggs. This year was no exception, but they also added fried eggs cooked just the way you like them. Now, I hate it when I go to breakfast and they put my eggs "over easy" to the side of the hash browns on a cold plate. By the time you get the eggs on top of the hash browns half the yolk doesn't make it. Special requests were taken in stride and the breakfast was wonderful.

The only downside to the whole event was the fog. It was so foggy visibility wasn't very good. I think that it was the reason there was a smaller turnout than usual. Seniors es-share their morning with them. They hope you enjoyed yourself and hope to see you in May for the Mother's Day Breakfast. Your support is very much appreciated. The Editor

We don't know if you've heard, but we have started a new Digital Photography program here at OCHS. It is just one of the new, exciting art electives coming to our student population this year and next.

The Art department is growing... growing too fast for its budget! As a result, we don't have as many digital cameras for students use as we would like to. While students have been encouraged to provide their own cameras for the course, this is simply not feasible for some students and we would not like that to be a limitation to any student who is interested.

Maybe you have upgraded to a 9 megapixel camera and were going to put your old 5 megapixel camera in your closet... Maybe you were at Circuit City and saw a newer model that you might like to buy before the Christmas holiday... Well, please consider making a donation of your old digital camera to Oregon City High School's Art Department. We will provide you with a receipt for the approximate value of the donated item so you can write it off on your taxes.

Simply drop off your camera, with any necessary cords and cards, in the main office ATTN: Digital Photography Instructor. Also, don't forget to include your contact information if you want a receipt for your donation. Thank you for helping to provide our students with recycled resources!!!

The October Community meeting of the Hamlet took place on Wednesday, October 24, 2007, at the Beavercreek Grange on Kamrath Road at 7:00 p.m. with 30 members and guests in attendance.

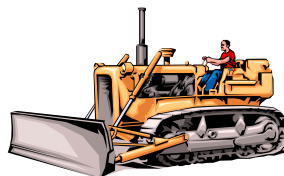

Connie Veenker shared information about the "Open Studios of Beavercreek" tour that was to take place on Saturday and Sunday October 26th and 27th and encouraged all to attend.

The Holiday Craft Bazaar at Beavercreek Elementary school was also announced.

Fill a Stocking, Fill A Heart information was also available.

Christie Kozinski told the members about the traffic count that was done along Holly Lane. It was discovered that Holly Lane has about 3,000 cars per day, Maple Lane 7,000 and Thayer Road 1700.

The traffic study not only counts volume, but is also able to check speed. The speeds were such that it tripped notification to the Clackamas County Sheriff's office who sent out officers. In 6 to 7 hours 25 tickets were given out with speeds as high as 73 MPH!

The treasurer's report was given and then land-use applications were discussed. Following the land-use issues the committee reports were given.

There will be a sub-committee formed under the Transportation committee to look into the speed limits in the Beavercreek area and then will report back to the members. The Chair of this committee will be Ed Schettig. This is being done as the County has not responded to requests made by the Hamlet and the Grange to look into the issue.

The land in the Beavercreek Road Concept Plan came before the members again. This development along Beavercreek Road will drastically add to the traffic and congestion for Beavercreek residents. The land in question was to be used for Industrial, but now Oregon City has approved changing the property to high density residential and some commercial. Residential land does not pay for itself, let alone the infrastructure needed to support it. The development is scheduled to include 3-5 story buildings along Beavercreek Road. There is also plans for 1400 homes. Oregon City High School and other schools in the area are already overcrowded. This means residents of the area are going to have to pay more in taxes to support this development. Not the developers.

It was decided to ask the Beavercreek Lions if "The Hamlet of" could be added to the Beavercreek sign at the Beavercreek Restaurant & Saloon. It then would say "The Hamlet of Beavercreek".

It was agreed to spend $400.00 to hire an attorney to get information in an effort to educate the residence of the Hamlet on what the County and the City of Oregon City should do in regards to the development of the land to the east of Beavercreek Road between Loder Road and just south of

Up to now the community has been able to have their meetings at the Grange free, but the Hamlet members felt it was time that we pay for the use of the building as our meetings cause expenses to the Grange. It was agreed to pay the Beavercreek Grange $30.00/month in months the Hamlet has meetings at the facility. This is to help the Grange pay for oil and other expenses incurred due to the community having the meeting in their building.

The next meeting will be a Town Hall meeting and the election of our Board of Directors for the next year. This meeting will be held in the media room at Beavercreek Elementary School.

The December meeting has also been changed to the third Wednesday due to Christmas.

Fall Attire:

Just in case we have any "warm, sunny days" this fall, a brief review of school guidelines on appropriate dress might be helpful. Shorts must have a hem, which extends to the fingertips when arms are stretched to their maximum. Shirts must cover all of the mid section. Tank tops with large and/or loose armholes, or spaghetti straps are not permitted. Footwear is required at all times (no flip-flops or other footwear that is unsafe). As an overall guideline, clothing may not disrupt the educational process. Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Goin' Fishin'

With the Oregon Fishing Club

More rain on the way is good news for the rivers and the last of the region's early coho runs. Fish are chomping at the bit to get moving. Expect another burst of coho for Eagle Creek, the Clackamas and Sandy rivers. The Tillamook area is in the midst of a drought and area river flows are at or near all time recorded lows. The Trask is in last call mode for it's early hatchery coho. The hatchery received a handful of fish with the first of October storms, but ominously less than they'd expected. If this storm doesn't bring them in, they may never show. They also receive a run of late coho which typically shows in early November...after the season closes...how convenient. Big Creek, which fished incredibly well the first week of October, will also get a last burst of fresh fish; although, the bulk of the run is past its prime. Chinook are scarce in the bays, but expect fish to move into the coastal rivers given enough rain.

The Stillwaters:

The stillwaters have been fishing real good. The rain will help them recharge. Bugs will be most active on sunny afternoons, and warm afternoons should provide the best fishing. Trout fishing is outstanding for new fish and holdovers. Warmwater fish will begin to chill out and not be as aggressive; although, there is a recent report of a 7# bass being caught in Big Tree.

The Rivers:

Go fish...go fish...go fish. The next few days should see fish movement. This may be the last chance for a fresh coho. Eagle Creek was awesome the first four days of October. The lower Clack trail has been blazed for an entire mile. Follow the dead brush. It's very pretty down there and it'd great steelhead and coho water. Bring waders. Wear traction devices/studs on your boots on the clay shelves upstream. Passage beyond the first couple clay boulders is dangerous due to landslides and not advised...especially in the rain. The lower Sandy has filled with sand; so, be cautious of quicksand when wading. The upper end of our site is a good place to flycast to moving fish. Trask coho and even a few chinook may be in by Thursday. Kind of a lackluster set of tides, but with enough rain fish will move. The upriver trail at Trask #1 weeded in again this summer; so, expect it to be a little thick getting to the upper holes in the area of the giant cottonwood tree across the field on the far corner. Nestucca #1, above the Hwy 101 bridge, has new cable stairs leading down to the river in a couple places. Those 25 yards or so above the bridge lead down to the deepest hole on the property. There's another set up the road (Evergreen Dr.) a little bit, around the corner...look for the OFC signs. There's a good drift and tailout and in low water you can wade across and down to another excellent looking drift. The Salmon river should see fish by Thursday ... don't expect a lot of help from the high tide. Go fish cally deposited in your account, don't believe it.

The Oregon Department of Revenue said that a handful of taxpayers have reported getting official-sounding phone calls and e-mails offering to deposit their kicker refund.

"They tell the taxpayer they work for the Department of Revenue. They offer to deposit the taxpayer's kicker refund in their bank account. All the taxpayer has to do is give them their account number," said customer service manager Joan Linn. "Don't do it."

This is the latest twist in a widespread identify-theft scam known as phishing. Linn said the department never e-mails or telephones taxpayers asking for bank account information. "Plus, we aren't able to provide direct deposit as an option for kicker refunds."

If you get a suspicious phone call or e-mail, call the Oregon attorney general's toll-free consumer hotline, 1-877-877-9392, or visit www.doj.state.or.us/finfraud/idtheft.shtml.

Wildlife Enforcement Decoy Helps Oregon State Police Deal with Illegal Hunting Problems

As September 29th marks the opening of most Deer rifle seasons around the state, the Oregon State Police (OSP) Fish & Wildlife Division warns hunters that the deer you try to shoot may not be what you think it is as the Wildlife Enforcement Decoy will be used during the 2007 fall big game seasons in an effort to identify individuals in the unlawful taking of wildlife.

The Wildlife Enforcement Decoy will be utilized this fall in select wildlife management units statewide to address tag compliance, unlawful take and prohibited harvest methods, along with other unlawful hunting issues where deemed appropriate due to recent and/or historical wildlife complaint locations.

"The Wildlife Enforcement Decoy Program has been used in Oregon since 1991 and helps the OSP Fish and Wildlife Division in its mission to assure compliance with laws that protect and enhance the long-term health and equitable utilization of Oregon's fish and wildlife resources," said OSP Lieutenant Dave Cleary.

The benefit of this program is that it allows for the violator, the animal, and the enforcement officer to be in the same area at the same time in a controlled environment. The use of a decoy prevents the loss to actual wildlife to violators. The contact with the violator then can be controlled with a focus on increasing both violator and officer safety.

In 2005 & 2006, the Wildlife Enforcement Decoy was used 499 times, with roughly half of those operations occurring at night. A total of 2,951 vehicles drove by the decoy and 1,343 persons observed the decoy. Those contacts resulted in 200 incidents wherein there was interaction between the violator and the wildlife decoy, resulting in 317 citations and arrests.

Be a Food Pantry Sponsor!

The church could use some help in their growing at the Food Pantry.

Most of the food they stock to give to hungry people coming to the Food Pantry is purchased at the Oregon Food Bank. While this is a cost effective way to replenish the shelves, there are many items that aren't available from the Food Bank. Most of these items, while not technically necessary, are the kinds of things that most of us take for granted—and consider essential to our daily living and to maintaining our dignity.

Here are some of the items that are needed:

Bar soap, toothpaste, toilet paper, dish soap, deodorant, razors, shampoo, tooth brushes, laundry soap.

If you would like to assist the church in providing these items, please call the Food Pantry at 503-724-1095. The Winter months are fast approaching and there are people who will need the food pantry's assistance.

Guardsmen, vets and their families opportunities that they might not otherwise have," said Gen. Mike Caldwell of the ONG. Surveys conducted at Camp Withycombe found that more than 90 percent of the soldiers surveyed want college education and job training that will lead to better jobs for both themselves and their families. The ONG recognizes that about 37 percent of its members are under or unemployed. One big impediment to success is navigating the bureaucracies of the state, federal and local tuition and education processes.

"The process can be very daunting to a young soldier," said ONG SFC Phillip Maas, who leads the ONG's Career Transition Assistance Program in Salem. "Clackamas has made itself the one-stop education source for the Guard. This agreement is unprecedented anywhere in the country."

The agreement with CCC will provide one-on-one support for soldiers every step of the way through a dedicated ONG adviser at the college. In addition, the college has established an online four-credit program to help soldiers identify their career interests and chart an educational course that will get them there. Soldiers can access the support and the online classes from anywhere in the world.

"Unfortunately, many soldiers have not been taking advantage of the educational benefits they receive. We started looking at what we could do change that," said Shelly Parini, dean of college advancement at CCC. "We know that many returning soldiers are underemployed. The whole idea is to give them a hand up so they can get started on the path to a better quality life."

My Name

Adoption!

Hello... my name is "Kodiak" and I'm available for adoption. I'm a Shepherd/Alaskan Malamute mix.

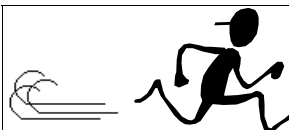

I'm an 11 month old male and I weigh between 30 and 60 lbs. As you can see I'm blonde and white in color.

Here is what my keepers have to say about me!

"Kodiak is a very active pup, his former owner did not have time for him, and as a result he is in need of some training. Kodiak gets along with other dogs and likes children".

For more information on me or other dogs available for adoption, please call the shelter at 503-655-8628 or come by for a visit and a little one-on-one. You can also see us at the Clackamas County Dog Control website at: www.co.clackamas.or.us/dc/adoptdog.jsp

The shelter is located at 2104 Kaen Rd., in Oregon City. I'm available from 12:30 to 4:30 p.m., Thursday thru Monday. I'd sure love to get the chance to meet you. "KODIAK"

See you next month...
