First Beavercreek Hamlet Happening A Success

The First Annual Hamlet Happening took place on Saturday, September 8, 2007, at the Hopkins Demonstration Forest, formerly the Hopkins Memorial Tree Farm, in Beavercreek at 4:00 p.m. Almost one year from the date that the Beavercreek Hamlet was formed.

One of the events was a raffle. Proceeds raised went to the "Welcome to the Hamlet of Beavercreek" welcome signs fund. The County will be making the signs to notify motorists and pedestrians that they are entering our Hamlet. These will be placed along the main roads. It is hoped to have three or four of these signs made in the near future. The County has agreed to make the signs so they will be consistent with other signs put along the roadway, but the Hamlet has to come up with the money to pay for them.

Some of the prizes that were raffled off were a day at the Hopkins Demonstration Forest for the winner and 50 of their friends, a pair of handmade metal earrings, donated by Bonnie Merchant, a gift certificate to the Stone Cliff Inn in Carver, a signed Blazer basketball, 18 holes of golf at Oregon City Golf Club and custom wood tea light holders donated by Larry Church,

Also available for sale were the first Beavercreek Hamlet T-shirts. About $290.00 was raised for the sign fund.

All the attendees brought potluck dishes to the event so there was plenty of great food to be enjoyed by those attending. Potlucks have always been a favorite of mine, since you get to try other peoples cooking. And, if the cook is so inclined, you might get some great recipes to try again later.

The Hamlet and those attending the affair would like to thank Shy Ann Meats for their generous donation of hamburger patties and sausages for the event. Also, thank you to those who took time from their busy schedules to participate and show support for the Hamlet. Your support was very much appreciated.

There were a some new faces at the event. Newcomers to the area as well as the spouses and family members of those in attendance.

The event was deemed a success and hopefully this means there will be a second Annual Hamlet Happening next year. The Editor not changed since you filed your 2006 return, you don't need to contact the department.

"If you haven't moved since filing your 2006 tax return, then we have your current address," said Gary Humphrey, Personal Income Tax program manager. "But, if you've moved and haven't notified us or left a forwarding address with the post office, your kicker refund will be delayed."

Humphrey encourages taxpayers to contact the department any time they move. He said the post office returns thousands of checks to the department because of incorrect addresses.

You may call the department with your change-of-address information, 503-378-4988 (Salem or out of state), or toll-free from an Oregon prefix, 1-800-356-4222 (Spanish and English). Salem-area Spanish speakers may call 503-945-8618. For TTY (hearing or speech impaired), call 1-800-886-7204; Salem, 503-945-8617.

You may also fill out a change-of-address form online at www.oregon.gov/DOR/PERTAX/faq-address.shtml. You must print and mail it to the address on the form.

Humphrey discourages people from e-mailing change-of-address information because of the non-secure nature of e-mail.

From the Desk of Senator Kurt Schrader

This is the second installment of information from Senator Kurt Schrader. There was so much information that it needed to be done in two parts. The first installment ran last month. The Editor.

Besides crafting the State budget this session, I had two other big projects that I spent considerable time on. From my vantage point as Co-Chair of Ways and Means during the dark days of the recession, I could see how the high tuition hikes were affecting Oregonians ability to access higher education. Why do only 50% plus of our students graduate from our universities and less than 30% from community colleges? Is it the schools or the cost or both? I worked closely with the governor's office to develop a new state scholarship system for middle and lower income Oregonians so that cost would no longer be an issue. As a result of my SB 334 bill, Oregon is now one of only two states that guarantee all its residents an affordable and totally accessible higher education. It is designed so that a student will pay no more than 50% of his/her education based on a full time minimum wage job during the summer and 10-15 hours a week during the school year. Ideally, community college students should be able to graduate debt free and four year university students with no more than $13,000 worth of debt. All who aspire to go to college can now do so.

My other big project was dealing with Measure 37. The committee met in the evenings since days were full with budget meetings and other policy committees. I had been trying to get Leadership's attention to deal with this hot potato since 2001 when I worked long hours with my Republican friend and colleague Max Williams on the original Measure 37. My real interest dates again from my local planning commission days. I was never allowed to serve on the land use committees before so it was a real treat to be picked to deal with this major issue. Clackamas County is ground zero for the effects of Measure 37. We have the most claims of any county. How do we balance preserving our quality of life and individual property rights? We developed a fair and reasonable solution given the extremes on both sides of the issue. A few home sites for children or retirement, absolute transferability, and no big subdivisions or commercial/industrial development seems reasonable to me. The best part of the process was working with the small bipartisan bicameral workgroup that crafted the basic framework for our fix. It was the type of honest give and take you would expect from a dedicated representative group of Oregonian Legislators. In the end, you will get to judge if we go with the fix or let Measure 37 wend its way slowly through the court system because it will be ballot measure #49 on the November ballot.

There are many other initiatives that I worked on. I was the lead negotiator with the long term care folks, hospitals and managed care organizations as we decided whether or not to re-up our provider taxes that these organizations pay to draw down big federal dollars to help our vulnerable seniors and poor low income Oregonians in our so-called 'standard' population. As we see gang activity increase in our smaller communities it seemed logical to make gang prevention money part of our base budget and not just an add on. We augmented the monies going to victim's assistance programs and our own Clackamas County Children's Center. We got significantly closer to paying our county partners real equity in both our human service areas and community corrections for the work they do that is similar to state employees. And I helped set the stage for reintegrating vocational education in our high schools in the future to replicate across the state the good programs in Canby and Sabin-Schellenberg.

Finally, I am proud that we didn't spend all our state dollars. We saved the largest ending balance in my tenure in the Legislature. We developed and funded a nearly $900 million dollar rainy day fund and reserve. Given the needs of budgeting for results can be done.

JANET LYNN BLACKWOOD

November 13, 1953 to September 7, 2007

Janet lived a full and wonderful life. She was raised by her loving parents, Myrna and Ray Dahlstrom in Tulsa, Oklahoma. Her sister, Beth Ezarik, was one of her best friends.

In college, she met and married Steve Blackwood. Together they moved to the West Coast settling on a farm in Mulino. She loved the land in Mulino and always called it her heaven. It was there at the Blackwood Forest, she raised her three children, Zac, Snow in Magnolia. They were her world and she taught them all the values of love and the importance of giving and sharing with others.

Janet also taught art at the local schools, inspiring kids to create beauty and that anything is possible. Later, she worked just as an artist and created some of the most beautiful pieces ever seen. She passed due to complications from an infection.

Janet will be remembered as the one who gave everything she had to anyone who came by. She was small but mighty and always had a meal to give or an ear to listen.

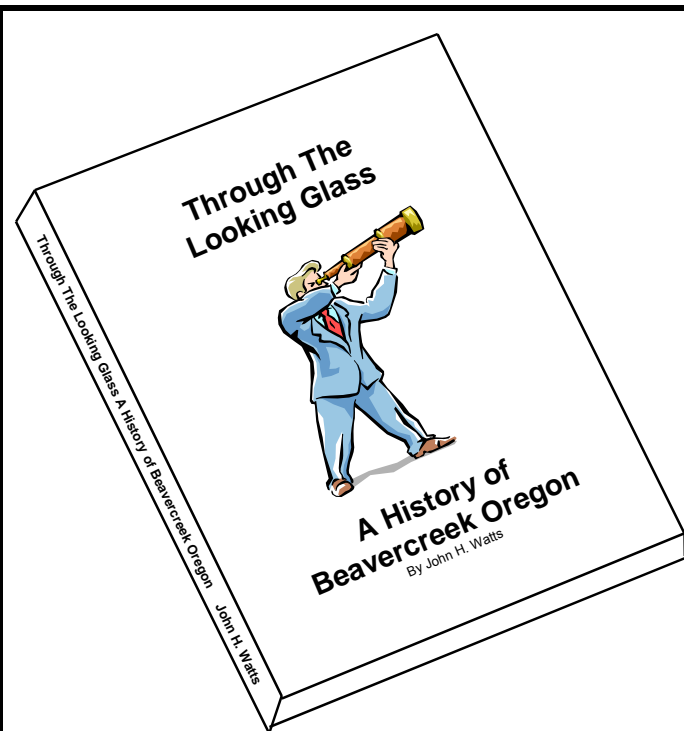

Being beautiful, strong and so kind, Janet was an amazing soul to know. She will be close in our hearts and her lessons will live on and be taught again. Originally appeared in the September 16, 2007, Oregonian.

our citizens, and my colleagues desire to help meet those needs, this was probably the most difficult accomplishment of the session for me. As a businessman it just seemed essential to be prudent—we all know there is always another economic downturn around the corner. We also reined in calls for unsustainable capital investments in new buildings. I believe we have a much more manageable debt service now than was proposed. Our performance based budgeting system seems entrenched now. You and I will be able to see if agencies and educational institutions can meet the outcomes they and the Legislature established for the investments made. If we walk the talk next session, we will be one of a handful of states truly setting the standard for how

Safety Rules for Children

Because sex offenders get their power through secrecy, the single most effective means of protecting your child is communication with them. Open communication between parents and children are vital components of family safety. Talk to your children. They have to feel comfortable discussing sensitive matters with you, then they are more likely to tell you when they have been put in an uncomfortable situation by a sex offender. Be aware of the common lures and don't accept a ride from a stranger.

- If someone follows you on foot or in a car, stay away from him or her. You DO NOT need to go near a car to talk to people inside.
- Grown-ups who need help should not be asking children for help; they should be asking other grown-ups.
- No one should be asking you for directions or to look for a lost puppy or telling you that your mother or father is in

- If someone tries to take you somewhere, quickly get away from them and yell or scream, "This man is trying to take me away!" or, "This person is not my mother (or father)."
- It is safer to be with other people when going places or playing outside, so always use the BUDDY SYSTEM.
- If someone tries to touch you in ways that make you feel uncomfortable, or frightened, tell them "NO" and go tell a grown-up you trust what happened.
- Know it is NOT your fault if someone touches you in a way that is NOT okay. You do not have to keep it secret.

In all cases, only one call could be handled at a time, if multiple calls were received some callers may have gotten a busy signal. Cell phones should have been operational and capable of reaching Clackamas 9-1-1. VOIP/Internet phones (i.e. Comcast Digital Voice, Vonage, Skype) should have been able to reach Clackamas 9-1-1 as long as the resident had power and internet service.

Using a cell phone or VOIP phone is preferable to calling the local fire station to ensure personnel trained in answering 9-1-1 are available.

New Roof

As you may have noticed the school yard has been bustling with workers. Arrow Roofing is in the process of putting a new roof on our school! As with all construction projects, we had to wait for our turn, which ended up being at the beginning of the school year. For the safety of the students, the old roofing material was removed from the roof before school started, and over Labor Day weekend a temporary roof was placed until Clackamas County issues a permit. Installation of the permanent roof will begin Monday and construction will continue for the next few weeks with the safety of our students as top priority.

Talented and Gifted

The Molalla River School District has the capability to identify talented and gifted (TAG) students at all grade levels. Criteria for identification of TAG students include scores on two nationally normed tests at or above the 97th percentile. In addition to the Oregon State test scores (at grades 3-8 and high school), the TAG coordinator administers aptitude tests in the fall and spring. All 4th graders are evaluated in the fall. Other students are tested by referral. If you know a student who you think may qualify as talented or gifted, please use the referral forms available from the secretary in each school. ## History of the Beavercreek Fire District

This is part II in a series about the history of the Beavercreek Fire District that later merged with Clackamas Fire District #1

The District's fire engine was kept in the Heft brothers garage (location of the auctions in downtown Beavercreek in recent years). However, by 1944, it was getting in the way of their operations. In August of that year the District was able to pass a levy. The levy raised the tax rate from 1.4 cents to 3.6 cents per thousand dollars on property assessments and was used to finance the construction of a new fire station.

The station consisted of two bays and a second floor for personnel meetings and training. In addition, pull out beds were built into the walls allowing volunteers to man the station overnight. The building was completed in 1945, and is still in use today as part of the present station.

In November 1949, District voters approved the purchase of the Department's first commercially manufactured fire apparatus. It was a 1950 Ford F-6 Howard Cooper fire engine with a 500 gpm pump supported by a 500 gallon tank. By April 1950, it was doing service along side with the 1940 International engine. The engine would remain in service until 1964, before being sold to Clackamas Fire District 71 (now known as Clackamas Fire District #1), which had been formed just four years earlier. The engine was assigned to their Carver substation in Carver, Oregon.

June 1963, saw the Beavercreek voters approving the purchase of a 1963 Chevrolet cabover engine manufactured by the Pirsch Fire Apparatus Company. It was equipped with a 1000 gpm pump, 1000 gallon tank, and carried a combination of 2-1/2" and 3" fire hose totaling 1200 feet. In addition, there were two 1" x 150' booster hose reels and two 1-1/2" x150' preconnected hose lines on board. It was to remain in service until the spring of 1982. From that point on it was since they first appeared in state parks. In most cases, visitors kept their dogs and other animals in vehicles, kennels and other accommodations, or didn't rent yurts and cabins at all.

Owing to the number of people who travel with their pets, the Oregon Parks and Recreation Department is exploring a change in policy that would permit animals in a limited number of yurts and cabins statewide. The department is asking visitors -- whether they own pets or not -- to take a short survey and share their opinions, for or against permitting pets in some yurts and cabins.

The survey takes about two minutes and is available online:

Oregon State Park System Seeks Visitor Opinions on Pets in Cabins and Yurts

The Oregon Parks and Recreation Department began a revolution in public camping in the 1990s when it introduced the first yurts to state park visitors. Today, there are more than 250 yurts and cabins in the Oregon state park system. Should pets be allowed inside these popular facilities?

Pets have been prohibited from entering yurts and cabins

Open Studios of Beavercreek Host Open House Tour October 27–28

The tour will be held between the hours of 10:00 a.m. and 4:00 p.m.

The studio began with 7 artists and has grown considerably to now include a total of 22.

In October, you will have the opportunity to visit with these artists. With the variety of fused glass, jewelry, metal design, ceramics and sculpture, mosaic, watercolors, oil & acrylic, cards and mixed media, there's something for everyone.

Come by for coffee, cocoa, cookies and take time to talk with the artists in our beautiful country settings. The map and artist's information is available on their new website that is under construction, but for those without Internet access the map is printed below. The website can be found at www.openstudiosofbeavercreek.com.

purchase some real nice fish (13-18 inch average) at a bargain price. We also are planting some more Golden Rainbows. They will be in the 10-12" range. Please practice safe fish handling practices when releasing fish. Leave it in the water, don't touch the fish and use a release tool. Keep an eye on the weather and be prepared to catch a coho if the rain starts falling. There are coho in the Clackamas; so, our site is in play. You might catch a summer steelhead or trout there, too.

The Stillwaters:

The cooler nights are taking over, and we've entered the fall cycle. Bugs will be most active in the afternoons. The last hours of sunny days should provide the best fishing. Trout fishing is outstanding for new fish and holdovers. Twin Oaks & North Santiam Pond are in bad need of fresh water. The dissolved oxygen levels are lower than optimal and the larger fish are suffering. Nothing we can do about it, but to pray for rain. Bass and other warm water fish are aggressive and conditions are good. Warm water fish are found in most of our waters, but a list of good ones to fish are Burdick, Schmadeke, Big/Lil' Tree, Colton, Rainier & Marquam.

Pondweed and algae growth has reached it's maximum potential, but will subside with the return of wet weather.

Burdick was reported to be in a full submerged planktonic bloom by our fish planter. Marquam will be green as well.

The Rivers:

Coho are in the Clackamas. There are a few coho in the Sandy as well. If we get a inch of rain, fish the surge in water level. The Clackamas, Sandy and Eagle Creek should all see coho in good numbers. The lower Clackamas trail has been blazed for an entire mile. Follow the dead brush. It's very pretty down there and looks like great steelhead, coho and trout water. The side channel at the end of the trail looked real interesting for trout. Bring waders; you can fish it without them, but you'll be able to fish a lot more water, if you wade.

Wear traction devices/studs on your boots on the clay shelves upstream. Passage beyond the first couple clay boulders is dangerous due to landslides and not advised... especially in the rain. If you must persist, jump in the river when the cliff above you comes sliding down.

Trask coho are generally a week or so later than the Valley coho; so, figure mid to late September depending upon how much rain we get. The Salmon River should also see some fish in the next couple weeks with rain and good tides. Summer steelhead numbers are low; although, anglers making the effort are being rewarded with the occasional

Help Fill the Oregon Food Bank Network's Empty Warehouse Shelves

The Oregon Food Bank Network needs your help.

"Oregon Food Bank's warehouse shelves are as empty as I've ever seen them," said Rachel Bristol, OFB's CEO. On average, OFB normally has 300,000 pounds of new donations to offer the OFB Network weekly and delivers about 700,000 pounds of food each week from its warehouse to its network of regional food banks and local helping agencies throughout Oregon and Clark County, Wash. But in the last few weeks, weekly offerings have dropped by 25-75% and statewide deliveries are down 200,000 pounds per week.

"The entire statewide Oregon Food Bank Network of regional food banks and the 900 local agencies we serve throughout Oregon and southwest Washington are feeling the impact," Bristol said.

The situation:

OFB is shipping available food to regional food banks and local agencies as quickly as it comes in.

Salvaged product (dented cans from retailers) is disappearing. OFB has depleted its salvaged inventory.

OFB's has depleted its frozen-food inventory, product that in recent history has served as OFB's safety net.

U.S.D.A. commodities: OFB continues to see a severe decline in U.S. Department of Agriculture commodities. During the last two months, U.S.D.A. commodities dropped an additional 300,000 pounds. Overall, during the last four years

USDA commodities have dropped 52 percent or more than six-million pounds.

Food industry: Food-industry donations are down 1.1-million pounds in comparison to the same period last year. The combination of a strong consumer market, high commodity prices, increased biofuel demand, increased efficiency in food manufacturing and international markets mean both national and local sources of food are way down.

Food recall: Last month, due to a major, nationwide recall of products from a food-processing plant, OFB returned two-and-a-half truckloads of product to the manufacturer and has additional two-and-a-half truckloads of product on hold that OFB can't distribute.

"All of this means we have a big gap to fill even before the holiday giving season and need your support more than ever to help people in need," Bristol said.

This situation isn't unique to Oregon," Bristol notes. "Food banks across the country Oklahoma, California, New York report similar shortages." (See New York Times, Sept. 20, 2007)

How to help:

Donate funds.

Donate on line at www.oregonfoodbank.org. OFB will use funds to help acquire, store and move food.

Food industry (farmers, processors, distributors, retailers and wholesalers) OFB welcomes donations from all sectors of the food industry. Please call Mike Moran, OFB's food resource manager, (503) 282-0555, Ext. 209.

Donate part of your harvest. Harvesting your garden? Donate part of your harvest to your local food pantry or soup kitchen. Call OFB, (503) 282-0555, to find out the local hunger-relief agency in your neighborhood.

The Hamlet of BEAVERCREEK Spotlight

The September Quarterly Town Hall Meeting for the Hamlet of Beavercreek took place at the Beavercreek Elementary School on Wednesday, September 26, 2007, at 7:00 p. m. with 27 members and guests in attendance.

There was no guest speaker.

The highlights of the minutes of the August 22, 2007, meeting were read and approved. The full minutes were available for those who wished a copy.

Debbie Noble, a member of the Hamlet and also on the Oregon City School Board, gave a report on Beavercreek Elementary's Test Scores. These scores tell whether or not the "No Child Left Behind" Program is working. The 4th grade is the only elementary grade counted.

Beavercreek Elementary's 4th grade scores were as follows as compared to the rest of the State:

| Beavercreek | State Scores |
|--------------------|---------------------|
| Reading: 85.9%     | 80.2%               |
| Math: 76.6%        | 71.6%               |
| Writing: 68.8%     | 44.7%               |

What this means is that Beavercreek Elementary was at the top of all 9 schools within the school district in writing.

A member asked if there was any way to change the indicator for the High School so that you only had to drive 20 MPH when the light was flashing. This way it would flash when there are children present and also cover evenings when children attend functions and are walking in the dark along the roadways.

There was also discussion of the speeding in Beavercreek and the lack of patrols and ticketing to control the problem.

Christine Kozinsky gave a report on the Maple Lane/Thayer Road/Holly Lane traffic problems and that Oregon City is continuing to allow subdivisions to be built even though the City does not have the money to support them after they are built. There are going to be traffic counts done on these three roads to see how many cars traverse them on a daily basis. The City is planning a 130 home subdivision adjacent to Maple Lane that will divert all of its traffic onto Thayer Road dramatically affecting the traffic in this area.

Forming a design review committee to set standards for our downtown area was discussed. The County cannot enforce our vision if they don't know what that vision is. It was voted and passed that a committee be formed and the committee was populated by four members. The Chair will be Norm Andreen, with Larry Church, Christine Nist and Debbie Noble as committee members.

It was shared with the members that 95% of the money for road improvements go to urban roads not rural.

A report was given regarding the First Annual Hamlet Happening that took place September 8th. The event was deemed a success. Almost $300.00 was raised to go towards the new "Welcome to the Hamlet of Beavercreek" signs. The proposed locations will be Beavercreek Road North of Henrici, Hwy 213 North of Henrici, Henrici Road North of Beaver Lake and Beavercreek Road South of Upper Highland Road. It was announced that the Hopkins Demonstration Forest will again donate their facility for next years event.

The nominating committee gave their report on nominations to run for office of the Hamlet Board. Nominations were also taken from the floor. In addition to board members William Bender, Registrar; Joe Keicher, Board member; and Tammy Stevens, Treasurer, who are up for reelection Ed Schettig, Larry Church and Christine Kosinsky also threw there hats into the ring. The elections will take place at the November Meeting.

The Beavercreek Road Concept Plan, consisting of twelve parcels, includes the airport north to the college on the east side of Beavercreek Road, was going to be approved to be put on the November 6th ballot by Oregon City's Commission for annexation. This land was to be annexed into the City's urban Growth Boundary, but due to strong opposition to the plan, the Commission told the citizenry that they would wait until after the October meeting to make their recommendations. Not so! It has come to the papers attention that Oregon City has moved ahead with the annexation plans with no further citizen input. This does not appear to be a sound financial decision as the City does not have the necessary money to fund the infrastructure for the development.

It is felt that Oregon City is not following their own Comprehensive Plan. There was discussion of an appeal of the annexation if it does move forward.

It was also discussed to negotiate with the County to include Hamlets, Villages and CPOs in the Urban Growth Management Agreement in order to give us representation. At this time we are left out of the process.

This article does not give every item discussed in its entirety at our meetings. If you want to know what is going on you are encouraged to attend the monthly Hamlet Community meetings and the quarterly Town Hall meetings to participate and share ideas and concerns on the issues pertinent to our community. Members 18 years of age and older who live, own a business, or property within the Hamlet area may vote on Hamlet issues.
