Hamlet Board Election Results

The Hamlet of Beavercreek held the board of directors election on October 25 at the Grange. A representative from Clackamas County, Katie Wilson, was present to count votes. The new directors serving two-year terms are Cheryl Boffard (re-elected), Jack Hipp (newly elected), and Kenny Sernach (newly elected). Jack and Kenny are taking the place of outgoing directors-at-large Norm Andreen who has served on the CPO and board of the Hamlet for twenty years, and John Burke who has served for six.

Directors continuing their two-year terms include board chair Tammy Stevens, vice-chair Bill Merchant, secretary and registrar William Bender, and speaker/corresponding secretary Christine Kosinski. Please join us in thanking Norm and John for their service, and welcoming the new directors! Notes can be sent to info@beavercreek.org.

The Bulletin will write more in-depth community spotlights with board members in the coming months. If you have questions for them, email editor@beavercreekbulletin.org.

October Hamlet Town Hall Recap

Hamlet meetings typically happen on the fourth Wednesday at 7:00 p.m. in the Beavercreek Grange; however, the November meeting is happening on the 15th so as not to interfere with the Thanksgiving holiday. Meetings include guest speakers from the community, land use applications and activities, and Hamlet business, as well as serving as an open forum for Hamlet residents.

Dick Orr, customer development consultant at Beaver Creek Cooperative Telephone, reminded residents that the annual Craft Bazaar is happening November 11 at the elementary school with over 100 vendors and an expected attendance of 1,200 to 1,600 people throughout the day. A shuttle will be running from NW Contexture Church to the school. There's a free pancake breakfast from 8-10am sponsored by Citizen's Bank, along with other entertainment and food options. Funds from vendors who purchased booth space are being given to the Beavercreek Park project on Leland Road.

Dave McNeel, president of the Clackamas

River Water (CRW) board, shared updates on bonded Backbone Projects that were created to meet current and future water needs for the district, including several affecting the Hamlet of Beavercreek. Twelve projects were designed to improve pumping, distribution, and storage of water from the CRW treatment plant east to a proposed reservoir on 152nd Avenue, and south across the Carver Bridge to the Redland and Beavercreek pressure zones. Improvements should help to reduce fire insurance costs for rural residents who need to be within 1,000 feet of water hydrants, as more water will be readily available to fire fighters.

Dave stressed the importance of domestic water in the event that wells start failing due to drought, growing populations, or other circumstances. Because there is only one water source to service everyone from West Linn to Oregon City to Beavercreek, these projects are crucial to ensuring access to clean water sources long-term. It's unclear which residents would be prioritized in the event of a water shortage. Now is an important time to get involved to ensure the County understands the importance of clean water to rural residents who care for livestock, agriculture, and homesteads. Learn more at <http://www.crwwater.com/> including when and where public meetings are taking place.

Pam Furlan, rental coordinator for the Beavercreek Grange, shared that they have been brainstorming ideas on how to collaborate more with the Hamlet, the Grange, and the community. They discussed the idea of hosting a holiday party with dinner and entertainment on the same day as the annual Hamlet tree lighting ceremony. The board liked this idea and will be discussing in the next planning meeting.

For land use applications, two different residents applied to renew temporary dwelling for care permits - one on Holly Lane and one on Beavercreek Road. Both received community support. Metro made application with the City of Oregon City submitting a site plan for a public nature park project at Newell Creek Canyon Natural Area. If residents would like to give testimony in support or against, they can do so at at the scheduled City of Oregon City meeting.

Every year Clackamas County requests input from residents for land use and transportation projects they would like to see completed in the following two years. They are seeking input from all hamlets and CPOs (including Beavercreek) on projects to be completed in years 2018 and 2019. In the past, residents have suggested projects such as shoulders on the road for pedestrians and bikes, code enforcement, and ditches to be filled. At the meeting, residents suggested better safety for the intersection at Beavercreek, Leland and Kamrath roads; better safety for the intersection at Beavercreek, Yeoman, and Steiner roads near the elementary school; and cutting back the bushes to the right of the post office as you exit. Anyone in Clackamas County can submit a request to the Clackamas County Planning & Transportation Department and/or suggestions can be emailed to info@beavercreek.org.

A final land use application was submitted by the Willamette United Football Club in the Stafford Hamlet, requesting a Planning Director interpretation of the zoning & development ordinance within RRFF-5 zones. The alternative approach would be for the club to apply for a non-conforming use and to get community support. The club wishes to build a sports field, indoor training facility, concessions stand, playground, amphitheater, covered picnic area, offices, storage, and more. This is important for residents to consider, as an ordinance change would mean that anyone with RRFF-5 zoning could use their property in a similar fashion. The majority of Hamlet residents voted against the change, with two abstaining, and one voting in support of the ordinance change.

During the Speaker & Transportation update it was noted that Winco is taking over the former Haggen's store on Highway 213, which may bring more congestion to that area. Residents discussed the congestion that happens near Oregon City High School, in particular after most kids have left for the day around 3:30 p.m., and whether there were alternatives to the 20 mph speed limit that could be implemented to keep traffic flowing better. Debate ensued as to the whether a higher mph would not be as safe for high school drivers coming in and out of that parking lot, and/or what other alternatives

Resident Amy Manning brought up another transportation-related issue for Hamlet input. The lack of parking at Beavercreek Elementary School has created serious safety concerns for parents escorting children to and from school, for emergency services such as ambulance and fire who cannot access all roads beyond Yeoman and Steiner, and residents who experience congestion and delays during school pickup and dropoff times. Insufficient parking, no street shoulders, and location next to the fast-moving Beavercreek Road is creating a number of safety issues and bottlenecks. Amy asked residents for input on how to approach the issue, with many suggesting to create a council comprised of all affected parties to collectively solve the issue. If you'd like to participate, call Amy at 503-632-8785.

Brush Up on Your Septic System

By Cathy McQueeney, Clackamas Soil & Water Conservation District (CSWCD)

Do you own a property with a septic system? If so, revisit good SepticSmart tips to keep your system in excellent working condition. We even have a terrific new Residential Septic System Repair Loan Program (more below) to support landowners in the Clackamas River watershed with the repair or replacement of failed and failing septic systems.

Why Should I Care for My Septic System?

A well maintained and properly functioning septic system can provide landowners with many years of effective service. When working correctly, it allows groundwater to be recharged onsite and makes more clean water available for all of us to use. Septic systems also treat your waste water naturally, allowing water to slowly seep into the ground. This keeps moisture on site to help plants grow and replenish the water supply.

Proper care and maintenance of septic systems can help keep homeowners and their neighbors healthy and protects both our drinking water and our environment. For homeowners, proper care can also prevent costly repairs or replacement of systems, protect property values, and conserve water.

Check out these useful SepticSmart tips:

Protect It and Inspect It: In general, homeowners should have their system inspected every three years by a licensed contractor and have their tank pumped when necessary, generally every three to five years.

Think at the Sink: Avoid pouring fats, grease, and solids down the drain, which can clog a system's pipes and drainfield.

Don't Overload the Commode: Ask guests to only to put things in the drain or toilet that belong there. For example, these are some of the things can clog or potentially damage your septic system: coffee grounds, dental floss, disposable diapers and wipes, feminine hygiene products, cigarette butts, and cat litter.

Don't Strain Your Drain: Be water efficient and spread out water use. Consider fixing plumbing leaks and installing faucet aerators and water-efficient products, and spread out laundry and dishwasher loads throughout the day. Too much water at once can overload a system if it hasn't been pumped recently.

Shield Your Field: Remind guests not to park or drive on a system's drainfield, where the vehicle's weight could damage buried pipes or disrupt underground flow. Additionally, you should never build or pasture animals on your drainfield.

New Residential Septic System Repair Loan Program

Old septic systems that are wearing out or leaking become a public health and water quality concern. This is especially true when the home is along a river or stream that serves as a source of public drinking water. If a septic system fails, and is not repaired or replaced, it may mean that the family may have to vacate the home until the septic system the problem is fixed.

Here in Clackamas County, the Clackamas River supplies high-quality drinking water for nearly 300,000 people. Many of the landowners in the Clackamas River watershed use septic systems to treat their waste water, and many of these systems are old and beginning to fail. This is why we are so excited to get this loan program underway. It is a great opportunity to assist homeowners with the cost of repairs that they might not otherwise be able to afford while also protecting water quality in the Clackamas River watershed.

The Clackamas River Water Providers (CRWP), a coalition of drinking water providers who get their drinking water from the Clackamas River, have two programs available to septic system owners that live within the Clackamas River watershed. They include:

$200 Existing System Evaluation/Inspection Rebate:
Inspecting your septic system is a good way to make sure your system is working correctly and to identify any problems before they get too big.

Septic System Repair Cost Share:
The CRWP will reimburse 50% of the cost of up to $1,000 of necessary septic system repairs. This is not intended for routine maintenance or pumping.

Clackamas County Domestic Violence SWEEP in October

On Thursday, Oct. 19, 2017, the Clackamas County Sheriff's Office Domestic Violence Enhanced Response Team (DVERT) worked with agencies throughout Oregon and the country to arrest 22 persons with outstanding family-violence warrants.

This collaborative effort, commonly known as the SWEEP, helps raise awareness of the problem of family and domestic violence in our communities. It also demonstrates to offenders that they will be held accountable for their violence.

According to the Oregon Department of Health and Human Services, a survey of more than 85,000 Oregon women showed that 1 in 10 women experienced intimate-partner violence in the five years preceding the survey. Also, the estimated costs of intimate partner violence in Oregon exceed $50 million each year.

Seasons Feedings for Feral Cats

As part of its Season's Feedings cat food drive, the Feral Cat Coalition of Oregon (FCCO) is offering free cat food to caregivers who bring in their feral and stray cats to FCCO's spay/neuter clinic in December.

Dry cat food has been generously donated by individuals and local pet stores. If you are feeding feral or stray cats, call FCCO at 503-797-2606 to schedule a spay/neuter appointment. All surgeries are performed by licensed veterinarians at FCCO's SW Portland clinic. Services are donation-based and include a spay/neuter; vaccinations; flea and ear mite treatment; and an ear-tip. Throughout December you will also receive a bag of dry cat food for each cat brought in. Call today! For more information about FCCO's spay/neuter services, visit feralcats.com.

New Subaru Technician Program at CCC

Students at Clackamas Community College (CCC) are now training to be Subaru technicians thanks to a new program. The CCC Automotive Department partnered with the car manufacturer to bring the Subaru University (Subaru-U) training program to the college.

Subaru donated three cars to the college -- a 2017 STI, a 2017 Outback and a 2016 Forester -- to provide students with hands-on experience. Students work with Subaru factory tools and software along with stand-alone engines and other Subaru car parts. This hands-on experience, coupled with an infusion of Subaru's online training into CCC's existing curriculum, gives students the ability to earn the entry-level training that is required of all Subaru technicians. This program also partners with local Subaru service centers to create paid internships and job opportunities for CCC students.

To enroll in the Subaru-U program at CCC, email jared.green@clackamas.edu or call 503-594-1453. To learn more about programs at CCC, visit www.clackamas.edu.

New Interactive Lidar Map for Oregonians

From mountain peaks to city skylines, Oregon's dramatic landscapes are revealed with the state's new interactive lidar map. Lidar technology offers precise, high-resolution images of the surface of the earth, vegetation, and the built environment. The Lidar Data Viewer interactive map features layers for bare earth, which shows everything above the surface of the earth stripped away; highest hit, which shows a bird's eye view of trees and buildings; and bare earth slope, which shows steepness of slopes.

Lidar has not only revolutionized geologic and natural hazard mapping, says State Geologist Brad Avy, but has become an essential tool for communities.

"By making lidar easy and free to download with the new viewer, the data is more widely accessible for many practical uses, from prioritizing road repairs to identifying dangers like mine shafts when fighting fires," Avy says.

The viewer also expands the lidar data available for download. Since the Oregon Lidar Consortium (OLC) was formed in 2007, DOGAMI has partnered on collection of lidar data with more than 80 state and federal agencies, Tribes, city and county governments, watershed councils, non-profit organizations, and businesses. The viewer includes lidar data from 18 recent OLC projects covering 15,087 square miles of Oregon, including areas in 31 of Oregon's 36 counties.

Ninety-five percent of the newly released lidar coverage is for areas where there was no previous lidar data. As more uses for lidar emerge, we're working with partners to identify areas where having lidar data could meet a critical need.
