Local Business Shy Ann Meats Closes

Frank and Teresa Luessen have lived in Beavercreek since 1988 on a two-acre parcel on Henrici Road that also houses their business Shy Ann Meats and Sausage. Unfortunately due to a medical issue, the business is closing and they are selling their home and business.

Shy Ann was founded in North Dakota in the 1950s by Frank's father. Frank worked at his father's side from his early teens until he bought the family business in 1974 and moved to Oregon. Shy Ann has been butchering, preparing, and selling wild game and domestic meat in Beavercreek for the past 30 years -- both at their shop, as well as local farmer markets.

Frank's health had been declining for the past couple years and in fall 2018 the family discovered that he has Parkinson's disease, a long-term degenerative disorder that affects the motor system. This made it impossible for Frank to hold a knife, wrap meat, or engage in other activities to run Shy Ann's, so they made the difficult decision to sell the business. But because their home is on the business site, they are being forced to sell that as well.

"Clackamas County won't let us subdivide the home from the business because the parcel size is too small," shared Teresa. So the family made the tough decision to put their house and business on the market. Once it sells, they plan to retire permanently somewhere close by and spend time with their grandkids. March Hamlet Meeting Recap

Five guest speakers were on the agenda for the March meeting, starting with recruiting assistant Pat Moritz from the U.S. Census Bureau. A census of population and housing has been conducted every 10 years -- a decennial -- since 1790. Collected information is used to determine where more than $675 billion per year of federal funds, grants, and support is spent to fund schools, hospitals, roads, public works, and other programs. The information collected is not sold, shared or distributed for any purpose. Pat is recruiting 200-400 people to work this summer doing address canvassing, and in 2020 they will need thousands more. The pay is $18 per hour for approximately 30 hours per week, and health care benefits are included. Learn more at <https://2020census.gov/en/jobs> or 1-855-JOB-2020.

Brad Krem from Embree Asset Group shared that Dollar General would like to build a retail store in Beavercreek and sell pre-packaged goods. They attended the Hamlet meeting to gauge the community's level of interest. The specific site is east of the Chevron station on what is currently a Rural Residential property that would need to be rezoned as Rural Commercial. The store would be 9,100 square feet and include masonry and brick, similar to one in Estacada. It would employ about eight to ten people and their hope is to be under construction by June 2020. Residents asked about impact on traffic, how parking would be handled, why they didn't consider existing Rural Commercial space, whether it would be locally owned, and other questions. Share feedback to board@beavercreek.org and follow progress at future meetings.

Tom Salzer from the Clackamas Soil & Water Conservation District attended the meeting to answer the community's questions after breaking ground on the new Demonstration Farm at 22055 Beavercreek Rd. Residents took notice when idyllic trees were removed and the century farmhouse was demoed. Earlier this year, the house had been offered to anyone who would remove it from the property (see our story at <http://bit.ly/2Ow0Tzj>). One resident had investigated, but it became apparent it would not be worth the $30,000 cost to move due to the building's structural issues. Materials from the demo have been salvaged whenever possible, including the discovery of a big glulam beam. CSWCD expects to occupy the building by Thanksgiving. seeking volunteers that would help provide input on the Community Planning Organization and Hamlet program. They meet on the third Tuesday of each month at the Public Services Building. Apply online: <https://web3.clackamas.us/abc/index.jsp>. The County is also forming a youth outreach team to understand what services they're interested in, how to best reach teens, and to develop a program that would be launched in fall 2019. Meetings will be April 6, May 4, and June 1. Text or call Katie to RSVP at 971-3475723, or email her at kwilson2@clackamas.us.

Katie reminded us that the end of studded tire season was March 31, and shared that the 211 service now has an app that will help you find services such as childcare, food, housing, healthcare, and more. Visit <http://211info.org/> or look up 211 in the app store. With regard to the Hamlet, Katie and the board are discussing ways to best utilize the fall elections postcard mailing, and talks continue on the topic of bringing the Carus -- and possibly Mulino -- CPOs into the Beavercreek CPO.

Clackamas County Commissioner Ken Humberston emphasized the importance of community input and involvement with the County. The Vehicle Registration Fee (VRF) was originally proposed at a $54 per vehicle per year, but because of overwhelming citizen input it was reduced to $30 per year. While many oppose added fees, the money will address failing roads throughout the County. "These are the roads the fire department drive on, you drive on, your kids drive on. It was the single most difficult decision on the board, but a necessary one," Ken said.

He encouraged residents to provide input to the Department of Transportation (DOT) and/or join the soon-to-be-announced Transportation Committee to discuss how the funds should be used. "Paying attention to what we do is the best thing you can do for your personal well being," Ken stated. Meetings are often televised and/or audio-streamed, and are always open to the public. Sign up for Clackamas County newsletters at <https://www.clackamas.us/constantcontact.html>.

Ken shared that the County will be asking the public to support a bond to replace the courthouse in Oregon City due to insufficient size and other needed upgrades. The taxpayer cost would be 13 cents per $1,000 of assessed value, which would cover $135 million while the State covers the other $97 million. The new building would be on the Red Soils campus. Land Use Applications:

a. Z0072-19, Lori Pottratz, 21410 S Levi Road, Beavercreek, zoned FF10, 22.68 acres, requesting the renewal of a home occupation permit for dump truck business. Residents voted 14 in favor, one abstained. Board voted unanimously in favor.

b. Z0077-19, Hayden Buley, 15202 S Thayer Road, Oregon City, zoned RRFF5, 1.4 acres, requesting a stream conservation area permit to install replacement septic system for home. Residents raised questions about building septic across a stream, and the board read a letter from a neighbor who had expressed concern about containment. Discussion ensued. Residents voted 10 in favor, five abstained. Board voted four in favor, one abstained.

c. Z0076-19, applicant Brad Farmer, location -- all areas of Clackamas County zoned rural commercial and rural industrial in unincorporated areas. Requesting an interpretation by the Planning Director to answer 7 specific questions related to uses allowed in the RC & RI zoning districts. Parr Lumber is asking the County for this interpretation, as they'd like to build a retail store on a Rural Commercial (RC) site, but need more space. Typically RC allows for up to a 3,000 square foot building whereas Rural Industrial (RI) allows for 40,000 square feet. A resident noted that if this is allowed in this instance, it sets a precedent for others to do the same and it could be used in ways we can't predict. Another asked whether Parr could provide the specific location they're reviewing. The board will continue to update the Hamlet.

The bond for Clackamas River Water (CRW) Backbone Projects has been overrun by $6 million. This includes the Beaver Lake Pump Station and Beavercreek Reservoir #3 projects slated for 2022 and 2023 (see <http://crwater.com/current-projects/>). A CRW board member in attendance said that the already planned and approved rate hikes, as well as reserves and interest, should be able to cover the shortfall. CRW elections are happening May 21.

Date: March 22, 2019

Mark your calendars! Join us on Tuesday, April 9th, 2019 from 7-8:30 pm at the Oregon City High School Library to participate in the Beavercreek Road Concept Plan (BRCP) Code Update process!

The City of Oregon City has been working on a process to amend the Oregon City Municipal Code and City Zoning Maps and to allow planned housing, employment and mixed-use development within the Beavercreek Road Concept Plan (BRCP).

At the meeting, participants will review proposed changes to the Oregon City code and land use maps that will provide proposed zoning for the plan area. The agenda and meeting details will be posted one week before the meeting.

If you cannot make this meeting, there will be several other opportunities (<http://bit.ly/2OsAOKH>) for you to participate in the Beavercreek Road Code Update process before the formal public hearings begin later this year. An open house is scheduled for June 10, 2019, and public work sessions are tentatively scheduled with the Planning Commission on May 13, 2019, and City Commission on June 11, 2019. You can also send staff your comments via email (crobertson@orc.org) or mail (City of Oregon City c/o Christina Robertson-Gardiner | PO Box 3040 | Oregon City, OR 97045) throughout this process.

Public Comment Tracker
We will share what we have heard to date from public comments and meeting with various organizations through a comment tracker. A copy of the latest version of the comment tracker is available in the documents section of the project website (<http://bit.ly/2TzJmXO>) and will be updated throughout the process. Please let us know if you think we are missing a comment topic.

New Name?

One issue that came up over and over again in public outreach conversations and public comments this winter and spring was a concern that the name of the concept plan area was geographically confusing and was being confused with the Hamlet of Beavercreek. One way to lessen this concern is to potentially begin referring to the area with a new name as part of the code amendment project. Please click on the following link and send us your concept plan renaming ideas (<http://bit.ly/2FE3B1M>). We will have additional opportunities to share naming ideas at the April meeting.

Beavercreek Road Concept Plan Project- Zoning and Code Amendments
The Beavercreek Road Concept Plan (BRCP) is a guide to the creation of a complete and sustainable neighborhood in southeast Oregon City. The acknowledged BRCP provides a framework for urbanization of 453 acres within the urban growth boundary including a diverse mix of uses (an employment campus north of Loder Road, mixed-use districts along Beavercreek Road, and two mixed-use neighborhoods), all woven together by open space, trails, a network of green streets, and sustainable development practices. This spring and summer, the City of Oregon City will embark on a process to amend the Comprehensive Plan Map, Zoning Map and Oregon City Municipal Code (OCMC) to allow planned housing, employment and mixed-use development within the Concept Plan Area.

New Beavercreek.org Website

The new Hamlet of Beavercreek website is live! The Hamlet had been using Meetup.com to store and share information about their activities, but outgrew the platform. Now when you visit <https://beavercreek.org/> you will no longer see the Meetup site, but instead be taken to a brand new website that includes all the content currently on Meetup plus a lot more. The aim is to keep residents informed of key issues affecting our area. Check out the new site and share your feedback with the Hamlet here: <http://bit.ly/2YvxbyY>.

Remove Storm-Toppled Douglas Fir to Avoid Pest Outbreak

This winter's heavy snow and wind have knocked down many trees across the state. This has set up perfect conditions for an outbreak of Douglas-fir beetle unless landowners act quickly to either remove the downed or damaged trees or apply an insect pheromone to drive away the pest.

Forest Entomologist Christine Buhl is with the Oregon Department of Forestry. Buhl said that while the beetle (Dendroctonus pseudotsugae) is native to the Northwest, its population can soar when living large-diameter Douglas-fir trees are thrown to the ground. "Normally this pest is scattered on the landscape wherever Douglas-fir grows," said Buhl. "However, they tend to concentrate in tree stands where there has been a lot of storm damage. The beetles first attack downed Douglas-firs and then move to nearby standing Douglas-fir trees that are stressed, injured or less vigorous," said Buhl. "Attacked trees that cannot drown out infesting beetles with pitch die and turn red the same year as the attack or the next spring."

Tell-tale signs of this beetle's presence include frass. This is sawdust-like material the beetle ejects from their galleries underneath the tree's bark, Buhl explained.

Buhl said landowners can prevent Douglas-fir beetle outbreaks by removing large-diameter downed trees before the insects take flight in the spring looking for new homes.

"Before April remove any downed Douglas-firs greater than 10 inches in diameter at a point about chest height," she advised. "Trees with low vigor should also be removed to reduce stand susceptibility to outbreaks. Large amounts of cull trees created by logging also should not be left on site, particularly in shade." Buhl said the beetles will generally not attack trees that have been dead for over a year. "If removal is delayed or not possible, apply the repellent pheromone called MCH to prevent infestation."

A naturally occurring beetle repellent, MCH (methylcyclohexenone), can be applied to downed logs or standing green trees to prevent Douglas-fir beetle attacks. Buhl said MCH pouches are most often applied in a grid pattern within a stand to effectively deter infestation. Beetles approaching treated areas are fooled by the pheromone into sensing that beetles already occupy the site and will pass it by.

"This technique is useful in parks, camps or habitat conservation areas where salvage is not possible, but there is a desire to preserve the remaining standing trees," said Buhl. "It's also helpful in forestlands where downed wood can't be removed before April for one reason or another. However, it will not make beetles that have already infested a tree leave. Once they are in, they're in."

Stay Alert for Tax Scams

It's never safe to let down your guard, warns the Oregon Department of Revenue. Scam tactics are always evolving and becoming more effective. Scammers try many different methods to trick people into giving them personal information or money.

The best way for taxpayers to make payments directly to the Department of Revenue is through Revenue Online. It's secure and includes all the information necessary to ensure the payment is properly applied to the correct account. Go directly to oregon.gov/dor to find Revenue Online. Payment providers may provide links that appear to take you to the government site, but just end up taking you to another area of the provider's site.

Scams mainly come in the form of a phone call, email, or standard mail. Here are some tips to help you identify scam attempts.

- Scammers make unsolicited calls. Thieves call taxpayers claiming to be representatives of the Oregon Department of Revenue or other tax officials. They demand that the victim pay a bogus tax bill and may use threats or a sense of urgency to con the victim into sending cash, usually through a prepaid debit card or wire transfer. The Department of Revenue never uses methods like these when making calls. Hang up on suspicious phone calls. No matter how urgent a message makes a situation sound, you can always hang up, call the Department of Revenue at their published phone numbers [(503) 378-4988 or (800) 356-4222 (toll-free)], and know that you're dealing with an actual government employee.
- Scammers send letters. Letters often contain legitimate logos, addresses, and phone numbers to fool you. Sometimes, these letters expose themselves as scams through blurry logos, misspellings, and poor grammar. Letters are usually in the form of a fake tax bill or claiming an error with your account. Letters from the Department of Revenue will have information that is verifiable through our website and every letter is printed with an identification number in the upper right corner.

- Scammers set up fake websites. Some scams that start as unsolicited calls or letters may also try to send you to fake websites. These websites are designed to look like an official federal or state agency site. Remember that the Oregon Department of Revenue's web address will always begin with an "https://" designation and be from the ".gov" extension. Sheriff's Office Welcomes New Reserve Deputies

The Clackamas County Sheriff's Office would like to congratulate our newest graduating class of Reserve Deputies. The Clackamas County Sheriff's Office held a ceremony in March to recognize the following volunteers:

- Reserve Deputy Depaepe
- Reserve Deputy Frederiksen
- Reserve Deputy Dalton
- Reserve Deputy Armour
- Reserve Deputy Woodward
- Reserve Deputy Toombs

The Clackamas County Sheriff's Office Reserve Academy includes over 300 hours of training in areas of law, police tactics, firearms and emergency vehicle operations, among many others. Recent graduates will now hit the streets to embark on their field training phase. During field training, they will be partnered with a full-time Patrol deputy.

Reserve deputies are volunteers committed to serving their communities in a law enforcement capacity. Reserve deputies have the ability upon successful completion of training to serve in corrections or patrol functions.

If you are interested in being a reserve deputy with the Clackamas

Public Comment Open: State Forest Management Initiatives

The Oregon Department of Forestry is inviting public comment on planned projects, timber sales and other management activities in state-owned forests in fiscal year 2020. The public comment period ends at 5 p.m. on May 2, 2019.

Oregonians can weigh in on draft Annual Operations Plans (AOPs) for state forests, which lay out on-the-ground activities expected to take place in the coming fiscal year. State forests by law must provide economic, environmental and social benefits to Oregonians, and are managed under long-range Forest Management Plans and Implementation Plans. Annual Operations Plans implement activities towards goals and strategies laid out in these longer-range plans. The draft AOP summary documents can be viewed online at <https://bit.ly/21OuVd8> and are also available at district offices upon request.

Common topics included in an Annual Operations Plan include:

- Timber harvest operations
- Recreation improvement and maintenance projects
- Forest road construction, maintenance, and improvements
- Reforestation/replanting and young stand management activities
- Habitat improvement for native species
- Invasive species management

The most useful input speaks to these specific activities and whether they are consistent with longer-range plans, offers suggestions to improve efficiency or effectiveness, corrects errors, provides additional information, and is solution-oriented, understanding that state forests are working forests and by law must provide a variety of economic, environmental and social benefits. Activities that affect fish and wildlife habitat are reviewed by the Oregon Department of Fish and Wildlife, while operations that may influence threatened and endangered species are shared with the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service. ODF is offering several convenient avenues to comment on AOPs:

- An online survey can be found at <https://www.surveymonkey.com/r/6YVN2RC>
- Online comments are also received through ODF's comments page: <https://bit.ly/2K3QcWf>
- Comments can also be mailed to ODF Public Affairs, 2600 State St., Salem, OR 97310.

Website Helps Oregonians with Gambling Issues

The Oregon Problem Gambling Resources website has undergone a remodel to help connect those who may have gambling problems with services and resources to help them at <https://www.opgr.org/>.

The updated site serves as a platform to highlight resources available for the gambler themselves as well as for others who may be affected by someone else's gambling. The website offers many ways for visitors to access resources in their communities, as well as text or chat online with someone regarding help available or call directly by using the 1-877-MY-LIMIT phone number to talk with a trained professional.

Trained professional staff members are available 24 hours a day, 7 days a week to listen, educate, answer questions and refer people to free and confidential services. To provide multi-cultural support, the website and other materials continue to be supported in Spanish and provide direct access to resources via the Spanish helpline number 1-844-TU VALES or by visiting opgr.org/es.

BLM Offering Incentives for Wild Horse and Burro Adoption

As part of the Bureau of Land Management's effort to find good homes for wild horses and burros removed from public lands, the agency began offering new financial incentives to encourage qualified people to adopt one or more of the animals. The program is part of the BLM's efforts to confront a growing overpopulation of wild horses and burros on fragile rangelands and in off-range holding facilities, which cost taxpayers nearly $50 million every year to maintain.

Through the new incentive program, qualified adopters are eligible to receive $500 within 60 days of the adoption date and an additional $500 within 60 days of titling for each animal, which normally occurs one year from the adoption date. The incentive is available for all animals that are eligible for adoption, including animals at BLM facilities, off-site events or on the agency's Online Corral website. Adopters will just pay a minimum $25 adoption fee per animal.

Potential adopters are required to complete an application proving they can feed and provide humane care to the animals and that they will adhere to the prohibited acts and titling requirements. In addition, potential adopters must authorize the incentive to be deposited via electronic funds transfers to their preferred account at their financial institution. Potential adopters should visit the BLM website at <https://on.doi.gov/2uwMMjZ> or call (866) 468-7826 to learn more about the guidelines and requirements for adopting a wild horse or burro. Read stories from recent wild horse and burro adopters and purchasers on the BLM's Flickr page: <http://bit.ly/2V22IMh>.

Tips for Power Outages

High winds and other extreme weather can result in extended power outages in our area. Consider these tips to keep your family comfortable and safe:

- Open freezers and refrigerators infrequently and for very short periods.
- Only use generators outdoors and away from windows.
- Do not use a gas stove to heat your home.
- Disconnect appliances and electronics to avoid damage from electrical surges.
- Have alternate plans for refrigerating medicines or using power-dependent medical devices.
- Take an inventory of the items you need that rely on electricity.
- Find out how long medication can be stored at higher temperatures and get specific guidance for any medications that are critical for life.
- Plan for batteries and other alternatives to meet your needs when the power goes out.
- Sign up for local alerts and warning systems. Monitor weather reports.
- Install carbon monoxide detectors with battery backup in central locations on every level of your home.
- Review the supplies that are available in case of a power outage. Have flashlights with extra batteries for every household member. Have enough nonperishable food and water.
- Keep mobile phones and other electric equipment charged and gas tanks full.
- Check on neighbors.

Oregon is the First to Monitor Prescription Drug Price Changes

The Department of Consumer and Business Services is ready to hear about prescription drug price increases from consumers, health insurance companies, and drug manufacturers.

The Prescription Drug Price Transparency Act (HB 4005), from the 2018 Legislative Session, established Oregon's drug price transparency program. The new law requires prescription drug manufacturers and health insurance companies to report specific drug price increases to the department's Division of Financial Regulation.

The program staff are ready to hear from consumers as well. All Oregonians are encouraged to report an increase in the cost of their prescription drugs to the division one of three ways:

- Email Rx.prices@oregon.gov
- Call 888-877-4894 (toll free)
- Visit dfr.oregon.gov/drugtransparency

"We are excited to bring one of the nation's first prescription drug price transparency programs to Oregonians," said Andrew Stolfi, insurance commissioner. "It will help people better understand why drug prices increase, and help legislators make informed decisions on how to control rising costs."

Consumer reports and the pricing of new prescription drugs will be made available as soon as information is received and reviewed. Insurer and drug manufacturer price increase reports will be available later this fall.

The division will provide annual reports to Oregon State Legislature based on the information provided by consumers, and the data reported by health insurers and prescription drug manufacturers.

This program is designed to report drug price increases only. If a consumer has a problem with their health insurance or prescription drug coverage they should contact our consumer advocates at 888-877-4894 (toll-free). To learn more about Oregon's Prescription Drug Price Transparency Program, visit dfr.oregon.gov/drugtransparency.

Clackamas County Limits Marijuana Production to One Per Tract

New zoning rules in effect March 1 limit the number of marijuana production sites on a tract of land in the agricultural, farming and timber zoning districts in unincorporated Clackamas County. Each tract – a section of land with common ownership – is limited to either one licensed marijuana production or one medical marijuana grow site.

The amendments are available at www.clackamas.us/planning/marijuana.html.

Land owners with multiple licenses are encouraged to call the county for details. Contact Glen Hamburg at 503-742-4523 or ghamburg@clackamas.us for questions or more information.

Spay/Neuter Cats to Win $1,398

The Feral Cat Coalition of Oregon (FCCO) is kicking off the countdown to its 100,000th spay/neuter surgery! Every cat that comes to the clinic between now and the 100,000th cat (expected in August) will be entered into a drawing to win $1,398. Second place wins $101. This might seem like an odd number, but FCCO chose the prize money on purpose. According to the feral cat equation, one unaltered female and her offspring, can produce 1.398 million cats over the span of 10 years.

This drawing is their way of saying "Thank You" and to bring awareness to how quickly cats can multiply if left unaltered.

Community Grants, Awards & Opportunities

Prize for Excellence in Education (Due 4/8). OnPoint Community Credit Union's 10th annual contest will award up to $85,000 to deserving public and private K-12 teachers and schools, including paying the mortgage of two winning teachers for one full year. AARP Challenge Grants (Due 4/17).

These grants will fund "quick-action" projects that spark change across the country. Grants can range from several hundred dollars for small, short-term activities to several thousand dollars for larger projects. The Community Challenge is open to 501(c)(3), 501(c)(4) and 501(c)(6) nonprofits and government entities. Other types of organizations will be considered on a case-by-case basis. AARP will prioritize projects with permanent or temporary solutions that aim to achieve one or more of the following outcomes:

- Demonstrate the tangible value of "Smart Cities." New in 2019, this category will encourage applicants to develop and implement innovative programs that engage residents in accessing, understanding and using data to increase quality of life for all, as well as engage in decision-making about housing, transportation, economic development, placemaking, infrastructure or other community aspects.
- Deliver a range of transportation and mobility options that increase connectivity, walkability, bikeability, wayfinding, access to transportation options and roadway improvements.
- Create vibrant public places that improve open spaces, parks and access to other amenities.
- Support the availability of a range of housing that increases accessible and affordable housing options.
- Other community improvements. In addition to the four areas of focus, AARP wants to hear about local needs and new, innovative ideas for addressing them.

The 2019 application deadline is 11:59 p.m. ET, April 17, 2019, and all projects must be completed by November 4, 2019. To submit an application or learn more, visit AARP.org/CommunityChallenge.

Oregon Century Farm & Ranch Sesquicentennial Awards (Due 5/1). The Oregon Century Farm & Ranch Program began in 1958 to honor farm and ranch families with century-long connections to the land. To qualify for a century or sesquicentennial award, interested families must follow a formal application process. Families throughout Oregon who have continuously farmed portions of their family acreage for the past 100 or 150 years are invited to apply. The Oregon Century Farm & Ranch application and program guidelines are available at <http://www.centuryfarm.oregonfb.org>, or by contacting Andréa Kuenzi at 503-400-7884 or cfr@oregonfb.org.

Art Johnson Memorial Scholarship (Due 5/3). The Clackamas Emergency Services Foundation sponsors college scholarships to students who have chosen to pursue a course of study related to emergency services professions. Applicants for scholarships must be a high school senior, high school graduate and/or continuing college student. The scholarship fund of up to $5,000 will be distributed at the discretion of the Scholarship Committee to one or multiple applicants. Learn more and apply at <http://www.clackamasfire.com/emergency-services-foundation/> (scroll down the page).

Diamonds in the Rough Grant (Due 5/15). The State Historic Preservation Office is offering grants for work on historic properties and for archaeology projects. The annual grants fund up to $20,000 in matching funds for preservation projects. Work may include non-maintenance preservation like window repair, roof work, foundation projects, plumbing, and electrical needs. To learn more about the grants and workshops visit www.oregonheritage.org or contact Kuri Gill at Kuri.Gill@oregon.gov or 503-986-0685.

Ongoing Opportunities:

Advisory Boards and Commissions. Clackamas County Commissioners are seeking interested residents to serve on county Advisory Boards and Commissions (ABCs). These ABCs offer residents the opportunity to become very involved in specific activities and the goals of Clackamas County. Openings include: Compensation Board for Elected Officials, Design Review

Committee, Emergency Medical Services Council, Historic Review Board, Library Budget Committee, and the Parks Advisory Board. Learn more and apply: <http://bit.ly/2Oydult>

Veteran Volunteer Program. The Oregon Department of Veterans' Affairs is seeking volunteers to work with veterans in Clackamas, Deschutes and Polk counties who may not be aware of the state, county and federal benefits they qualify for or how to access them. It's part of the brand-new Veteran Volunteer Program, the first-ever statewide volunteer program working with the Oregon Department of Veterans' Affairs and its partners to help connect veterans with their earned benefits, which can provide needed financial support, health care and other long-term care needs.

Volunteers will work closely with the state's veteran volunteer coordinator and certified veteran service officers in each county to locate veterans in long-term care facilities who may need assistance accessing their benefits. Veterans over the age of 65 represent approximately half of the state's veteran population. The program is currently being piloted in Clackamas, Deschutes and Polk counties, but will eventually be rolled out statewide. Prospective volunteers do not have to reside in Clackamas, Deschutes or Polk County as long as they have the ability to travel for their volunteer duties and training.

The program is open to anyone 18 years or older. Anyone who enjoys working with veterans and the aging population is encouraged to apply. For more information, please visit oregonvetvolunteer.com or contact Veteran Volunteer Coordinator Mark Newell at 503-373-2057 or veteranvolunteer@odva.state.or.us.

On Our Watch

April 1-26, 9am-5pm, Mon-Fri
CCC Alexander Gallery

Portland artist Melanie Stevens will display a recent body of work in the Clackamas Community College Alexander Gallery April 1 through 26. "On Our Watch" showcases digital printed compositions and a large-scale installation that uses copper etching techniques and fabric. Stevens often incorporates images sourced from mass media and juxtaposes them with new imagined compositions. An artist's reception will be held Wednesday, April 10, noon-1:30 p.m., in the Alexander Gallery. The artist will speak about her work at 1 p.m. Light refreshments will be served. This exhibition is free and open to the public. The Alexander Gallery is located in the Niemeyer Center on the Oregon City campus, 19600 Molalla Ave. For more information, contact Kate Simmons at kates@clackamas.edu or 503-594-3032.

Re-Thinking Health

April 3, 8:30-10:30am
CCC Harmony West

CCPH is seeking to develop and cultivate our working relationship with Chambers of Commerce, the Clackamas Business Alliance, higher education, economic development, housing and community based organizations. With this in mind, we are coordinating this event in which local and national speakers will challenge us to think differently about working together, and building connections that allow us to envision and reimagine healthy communities that are centered on the well-being and the productivity of our citizens, the vibrancy of our communities, and the prosperity of our region. Please follow this link to our registration page to learn more about the event and to sign up: <https://re-thinkinghealth.eventbrite.com>.

Planning Commission Meeting

April 8, 6:30pm
Development Services Building Auditorium
150 Beavercreek Road, Oregon City

Every year we invite the public to review and comment on proposed long-range planning projects for the upcoming fiscal year. If you'd like to weigh in, mark your calendar to attend the Planning Commission meeting at 6:30 p.m., Monday, April 8. All 38 suggested projects can be reviewed at www.clackamas.us/planning. Can't attend? Comments will be accepted by letter, email or in person if provided by 5 p.m., Monday April 8. After public comment is concluded at the April 8 meeting, the Planning Commission will discuss the proposed projects and recommend a final list to the Board of County Commissioners. The board is scheduled to discuss the recommendations and provide direction to staff on the long-range planning work program later this spring.
