August Hamlet Meeting Recap

The August meeting included guest speaker Sarah Bushore from the Census Bureau. The census helps communities get their fair share of hundreds of billions spent on schools, hospitals, roads, public works and other vital programs. Now through mid-October, Census workers will be walking through some neighborhoods to verify addresses that need to be counted. They will knock on doors and ask a few simple questions to verify the address and any additional living quarters on the property. They will have badges and briefcases indicating their affiliation with the bureau, and explain the purpose of their visit. The public is free to also ask for a picture ID from another source to confirm their identity. The bureau was able to verify 65% of addresses using satellite imagery nationwide. To find out if your address is in the remaining 35%, check out <http://bit.ly/2yV9jci>.

Annual Stars at the Park Event

The annual Stars in the Park event was held in August, a one-night concert featuring local musical talent including The Saggy Bottom Band plus local food and beverages. The following photos are available online in the Hamlet of Beavercreek's Community Photo Album on Flickr along with photos from past events. If you have more to add, email editor@beavercreekbulletin.org.

September is National Preparedness Month

Oregon's Office of Emergency Management urges individuals, families, businesses and local organizations to take time during this timeframe – and throughout the year – to be "2 Weeks Ready."

For many years, a 72-hour preparedness kit was the standard for disaster planning. This is a good start, and helpful in the event of short-term power outages or temporary evacuation. But as OEM Director Andrew Phelps points out, a large earthquake and tsunami will leave much of the area's transportation routes destroyed and leave large areas of Oregon without resources for days or weeks.

"Having 2 weeks of food, water and other emergency supplies is critical for individuals and families who may need to take care of themselves until formal response resources can reach them," says Phelps.

There is no one correct way to put together two weeks' worth of supplies since everyone has individual dietary and medical needs. If your family includes children, seniors or pets, you will have additional needs. Everyone's kit will look different but for a basic starting point, visit the OEM website, Ready.gov, The American Red Cross and more. These sites offer a wide range of preparedness perspectives on the specific essentials to include in a kit.

Other 2 Weeks Ready resources include a series of animated one-minute videos, along with easy-to-read graphics and brochures. Each brochure offers helpful tips on what to do 2 minutes, 2 hours, 2 days and 2 weeks after a disaster.

In the aftermath of the September 11 event in 2001, steps have been taken by emergency management organizations across the country to encourage citizens to prepare for disasters and emergencies – natural or human caused. National Preparedness Month was launched in 2004; program messages include make a plan, build a kit, be informed.

Oregon Governor Kate Brown issued a proclamation in support of National Preparedness Month and the 2 Weeks Ready concept.

Another local Oregon emergency services agency has put together their tenth annual online social challenge called: 30 Days, 30 Ways Preparedness Challenge. The challenge and game rules can be found at www.30days30ways.com, on Twitter at @30Days30Ways or on Facebook. Players are given a daily challenge at 7:00 a.m. PDT each morning and may submit replies to each of the tasks involved throughout the month to either Facebook, Twitter, or by email. Submissions will be reviewed for their creativity, relativity to the task and its evident popularity online, and winners will be selected and rewarded with gift cards to Amazon in October.

New Shed at Korner Park

The Hamlet of Beavercreek would like to thank volunteers for the new shed at Korner Park—the local park at the intersection of Beavercreek, Kamrath, and Leland roads. Joe Matteo, Jessica Sernach, Kenny Sernach, and Bill Merchant acquired and painted the shed that holds maintenance equipment for the park, as the old shed was in disrepair.

Teen Drivers Can ‘Drive with a Cop’ Oct. 5

The annual event brings together teen drivers and Clackamas County Sheriff’s Office deputies for a day of driver training at Portland International Raceway. This year's "Drive with a Cop" is set for Saturday, Oct. 5 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. This year's event will be bigger than ever before and will include new technology to help teens stay safe on the road. Teen drivers will get driving training from deputies on the racetrack and rotate through various stations outside the car to learn about the dangers of driving too fast, distracted, or impaired.

“Teen car crashes are the leading killer of young people nationwide,” said Sheriff Craig Roberts. “Drive with a Cop is a way for us to offer free driving training to kids in our community. Research shows the more training a teen has the less likely they are to die in a car accident.”

“Drive with a Cop” is sponsored by the Oregon Dept. of Transportation, Swift Transportation, Oregon Impact, and Les Schwab. At this year's "Drive with a Cop" Les Schwab will host a station to teach teen drivers about how to change a tire, put on chains, and what to do if your car breaks down. Parents are also invited to attend. Register today at www.drivewithacop.com. Spaces are limited to the first 100 people to register.

Oregon’s Top 25 Most Expensive and Most Prescribed Drugs

The Oregon Division of Financial Regulation has released the lists of Oregon’s most expensive and most prescribed drugs, as well as the prescription drugs that cause the greatest increase to health insurance plan spending.

Brand-name drugs such as Humira and Enbrel, prescriptions commonly prescribed for rheumatoid arthritis, topped the lists of most expensive and greatest increase to plan spending. Hydrocodone-Acetaminophen, a pain reliever, was the most prescribed, along with several generic drugs treating conditions such as high blood pressure and cholesterol.

“These lists highlight the goal of the drug price transparency program,” said Andrew

Plan Ahead for Fall Pasture Management!

Fall activities are critical for good forage next spring. Follow these steps to improve your pasture

1. Leave 3-4 inches of stubble in the fall! This allows grasses to store food for next spring.
2. Take a soil sample. September is the best time to look at soil nutrient levels.
3. Apply fertilizer based on the results of your soil test.
4. Scout for weeds. Fall is a good time to pull or spray annual weeds.

Stolfi, insurance commissioner. "They provide a first step to transparency for Oregonians, and help all of us better understand which prescription drugs affect health care costs."

Each of Oregon's nine insurance companies submitted the drug lists to the division, which reviewed and aggregated them to provide consumers a look at the common prescription drugs that have the biggest effect on health insurance costs. The Prescription Drug Price Transparency Act (House Bill 4005), from the 2018 Legislative Session, established Oregon's drug price transparency program. The new law requires prescription drug manufacturers and health insurance companies to report specific drug price information to the division.

Another key component to the program is consumer reporting of price increases. All Oregonians are encouraged to report an increase in the cost of their prescription drugs one of three ways:

- Email Rx.prices@oregon.gov
- Call 833-210-4560 (toll-free)
- Visit dfr.oregon.gov/drugtransparency

The division is excited to bring one of the nation's first prescription drug price transparency programs to Oregon. Top 25 lists and drug price information from manufacturers is now available by visiting dfr.oregon.gov/drugtransparency and clicking the Data box. Later this year, the division will also hold a public hearing and begin providing annual reports to the legislature based on all the information received from manufacturers, health insurers, and consumers.

Expansion of Tuition Assistance for Oregon National Guard Members

Members of the Oregon National Guard will be able to receive Tuition Assistance at Oregon Health and Science University (OHSU) and private institutions in addition to community colleges and public higher education institutions following the signing of House Bill 2817. This benefit will be available for the 2020-21 academic year.

This law will expand higher education grants to qualified members of the Oregon National Guard by permitting grants to be used for undergraduate degree programs at OHSU or qualifying private post-secondary institutions or for program or curricula designed to lead to certificates of completion at community colleges, public universities, OHSU or qualifying private post-secondary institutions. It requires student to be in "Good standing" with a cumulative grade point average of 2.0 or higher at OHSU or qualifying private and public institutions at which they are enrolled.

Watch Out for Check Cashing Scams

There are lots of new apps these days that allow you to instantaneously pay friends and family for your share of dinner, a movie or the upcoming summer vacation. With all of this technology, checks might seem like an ancient form of payment. However, checks are still popular with consumers and, of course, scammers. In fact, the FBI's Internet Crime Complaint Center – or IC3.gov – is reporting a rise in the number of Oregonians who say they've been hit by a check cashing scam.

Here is how the fraud works: Imagine you have a stereo that you have been needing to get off your hands for months. Garage sales can be so much work that you decide to try selling the stereo online. A few hours after posting it, you get an offer from a potential buyer. The buyer says that they will send you a check as payment for the stereo. At this point, the scam can go one of two ways:

1. After receiving the check from the 'buyer', you send the stereo, only to discover later that the check you received was fraudulent.
2. After receiving the check from the 'buyer', the 'buyer' claims that they changed their mind about the purchase and asks for a refund. The victim then sends legitimate funds as refund before discovering that the initial check had been fraudulent.

While both versions of this scam are prevalent, it is the second option that Oregonians are reporting more frequently. The Federal Trade Commission has tips on how to avoid becoming a victim:

- Never take a check for more than your selling price.
- Never send money back to someone who sent you a check.
- The law requires banks to make deposited funds available quickly. However, just because the check has cleared does not mean that it is good. It will sometimes take the bank days to learn that a check is bad.
- If you are selling online, consider using a secure online payment service.

If you have been victimized by this online scam or any other cyber fraud, be sure to report it to the FBI's Internet Crime Complaint Center at www.ic3.gov or call your local FBI office.

Remember to Check the CCB License

The Oregon Construction Contractors Board (CCB) reminds homeowners to check the license before hiring a contractor. A recent CCB sweep in August revealed contractor violations including 15 instances of working without a license, 15 workers' compensation-related violations, 10 lead-based paint violations and a variety of other violations. Altogether, 56 violations were discovered and 186 active job sites were checked.

By law, nearly everyone who builds a home or alters a structure must be licensed by the Construction Contractors Board. Contractors who bid and perform work on homes built before 1978 must also have a lead-based paint renovation license. Licensed contractors carry insurance and a surety bond to protect homeowners when construction projects go wrong. For homeowners in dispute with licensed contractors, the Construction Contractors Board

Oregon ShakeAlert Project

Recent earthquakes have many Oregonians wondering what is being done to develop a system that would predict or at least warn the public of an impending earthquake. ShakeAlert is an earthquake early warning system that detects against significant earthquakes so quickly that alerts can reach many people before shaking arrives. ShakeAlert is not earthquake prediction; rather a ShakeAlert indicates that an earthquake has begun and shaking is imminent.

Leland O'Driscoll with the University of Oregon is the manager of the Oregon ShakeAlert project. O'Driscoll is aiming to make the ShakeAlert app available to Oregon residents by 2022. The app will give residents as much as a two minute warning. For more information, visit <https://www.shakealert.org>.

Join Oregonians on October 17 at 10:17 a.m. for the Great Shakeout and be ready to Drop, Cover, and Hold. Register: <https://www.shakeout.org/oregon/register>.

Ferguson Road Mailbox Break-in

A resident on NextDoor.com posted that her neighbor saw a woman going through the resident's mail box at 3 a.m. the morning on August 14 — near Ferguson and Henrici roads. The neighbor confronted the woman going through the mail box, and the woman drove away. Similar posts have appeared in NextDoor in recent months, though largely from Oregon City. One resident suggested getting a locking mail box to deter theft.

Scammers Impersonating Social Security Administration

The Oregon Department of Revenue has recently seen a spike in concerned taxpayers reporting fishy phone calls. The callers fraudulently identify themselves as Social Security representatives and threaten the taxpayer with deactivating their Social Security number or account because of suspicious activity. The scammers may ask for personal information and bank account information. In addition, your caller ID may even show the real Social Security Administration number (1-800-772-1213) when the scammers call—but they're faking the number.

The Social Security Administration advises that if you suspect the call is a scam, hang up and call the SSA at 1-800-772-1213 to speak to a real SSA representative. Never give any part of your Social Security number to anyone who contacts you, or your bank account or credit card number. If you get one of these calls, notify the Federal Trade Commission at ftc.gov/complaint. You can also report scams to the Office of Inspector General on their hotline at 1-800-269-0271 or online at <https://oig.ssa.gov/report>.

BRCP: Preferred Street Cross Section

On August 13, the City Commission discussed the recently completed traffic study and analysis by DKS Associates that looks at intersection control and the optimal cross-section for Beavercreek Road as part of the Beavercreek Road Concept Plan (BRCP).

The study area comprises the adopted 2008 Beavercreek Road Concept Plan area. The objective of this study is to compare future development and infrastructure recommendations in the Beavercreek Road Concept Plan to that of the 2013 Transportation System Plan (TSP) and Municipal Code; ensure Transportation Planning Rule (TPR) consistency; and provide responses to the following three questions identified by the public during the public engagement phase of this project to implement the Beavercreek Road Concept Plan:

Holly Lane Connection. How important is the Holly Lane connection to the transportation model? What if it does not connect for a very long time, or is removed?

Intersection Control Analysis. What is the optimal design for intersection control along the Beavercreek Road Concept Plan boundary- traffic signals or roundabouts?

Road Network Evaluation. What is the optimal cross section for Beavercreek Road?

No formal decisions were made, as the purpose of a work session is to allow staff to ask the City Commission for policy direction on this issue. Any needed amendments to the Transportation System Plan will occur during the Legislative hearings process to approve the code and zoning amendments (LEG 19-0003). A video of the sessions is available at <https://bit.ly/2HDvSqP>.

Short-Term Vacation Regulations Drafted

After seven community meetings in the spring, Clackamas County staff drafted regulations for short-term rental properties and presented them to the Board of County Commissioners for a first review on August 6. The public will have opportunities to comment on the draft regulations in coming weeks. Review the draft regulations and share your feedback:

New 'Library of Things' at Oregon City Library

What do cake pans, board games and snowshoes have in common? You may not immediately think of a library, but that's exactly the case because you may soon be able to check out each item and more at your local library. This fall, eight Clackamas County libraries are opening their own Library of Things, a collection of non-standard, but useful items available for checkout that can range from a violin to a soil-testing kit.

Oregon City Library is inviting residents for a sneak peak at the new Library of Things collection on September 17 from 1:00 to 3:00 p.m. It's an opportunity to learn more about this new program or to just browse the items. Joining will be members from the OSU Extension Service Family & Community Health Program who supplied food preservation equipment to the collection. More info: <https://bit.ly/2NGRCpG>

Annual Beavercreek Fall Bazaar

October 12, 9:00am - 4:00pm

Beavercreek United Church of Christ (Ten O'Clock Church)

23345 S. Beavercreek Rd. in Beavercreek

Mark your calendars for the 21st Annual Beavercreek Fall Bazaar at The Ten O'Clock Church. This popular event has been happening every October since 1999 and consists of many very talented artisans offering a wide variety of quality creations and gifts that will simplify your holiday shopping. There will also be a raffle table with items donated from each of the vendors and from church members, a plant sale, and a delicious lunch served by the women's group consisting of homemade soup, sandwiches, and pieces of homemade pies. A slice of heaven! Tell your friends, neighbors, colleagues and relatives about the Beavercreek Fall Bazaar and join us for a great time. CALL FOR VENDORS: There is still room for more vendors (Quality Handmade items only please), so if you would like to reserve a space, call Bonnie at 503-201-9269.
